SEDITION CASE STRESSES REDS' IMMUNITY IN U.S.

Commit Same Acts, Get By with It.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13. — Whatever the outcome of the pending prosecution of 30 American citizens on charges of conspiring with German officials to establish a Nazi form of government in the United States, the proceedings already have served to expose the neglect of the department of justice to enforce the sedition act.

In the indictment of the 30 persons the department says the sedition law was enacted June 28, 1940, and that the defendants carried on their conspiracy to overthrow the American form of government "continuously thereafter up to and including the date of the filing of this indictment."

Reds Still Enjoy Immunity.

The department thus admits in effect that for 3½ years it did nothing to protect the nation from the Nazi plotters, altho the un-American activities of the German-American bund were notorious and the prosecution of its leaders and those of the Communist party for plotting to overthrow our form of government had been demanded repeatedly by loyal Americans. The Communists still are enjoying immunity from prosecution.

In the indictment last week Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, national leader, and August Klapprott, deputy national leader of the bund, were named for the first time as conspirators to overthrow our form of government. Kunze became leader of the bund in 1939 and carried on his activities for three years before he was interfered with by the department of justice. Then the department convicted him, not of plotting to overthrow our government, but of espionage, for which he was sentenced to 15 years, and for counseling draft evasion, for which he was sentenced to five years imprisonment. Klapprott also was sent to prison for five years for counseling draft evasion.

Needed to Bolster Case.

The department did not move against the Nazis it says were plotting to subvert our form of government until it became necessary to find some firmer ground for holding to trial 35 persons indicted for sedition in July, 1942, and January, 1943, the indictments of whom had been invalidated to a crucial degree by the courts.

The object of the new prosecution is to link the defendants to the bund leaders and German officials in a conspiracy to set up the Nazi form of government in this country. The department procured the indictment of the two bund leaders and six others not previously indicted, but was unable to connect 11 of the old defendants with the newly discovered plot and was compelled to omit them from the new indictment.

Linked to Smear Campaign.

The old indictments were the product of a collaboration between the department and Eugene Meyer's Washington Post to smear senators and representatives whose speeches before Pearl Harbor opposing American intervention in the European war were circulated by obscure antiwar propagandists and crackpot anti-Semites who were indicted on charges of sedition. One of Meyer's reporters was used by the department as an agent provocateur to entice anti-Semites into committing "overt acts" in the District of Columbia where they could be indicted

Jury Studies Railroading of Girl Accuser

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13 [Special].—A federal grand jury today launched an investigation to learn whether red haired Joan Berry, 23 year old movie aspirant, who sued to have Charlie Chaplin declared the father of her 3 month old daughter, was deprived of her civil rights when charged with vagrancy and "railroaded" out of town after she "bothered" the comedian.

Charles H. Carr.

The jury heard several witnesses and then adjourned until next Tuesday, at which time it is expected Miss Berry will be called to testify. U. S. Atty. Charles H. Carr said Chaplin had been subpenaed but added, "He is free to appear voluntarily if he so desires."

Aims for Indictment.

Carr was outspoken in declaring evidence placed before the jury is designed to bring an indictment charging violation of Miss Berry's constitutional rights. The charge carries a maximum penalty of two years in jail, a $10,000 fine, or both.

Today's witnesses included Ed Chaney, Chaplin's butler; Mrs. Lois C. Watt, the actor's secretary, and her husband, Max Watt, relief night watchman at Chaplin's Beverly Hills home; Chief of Police C. M. Anderson of Beverly Hills; City Clerk Burt Firminger of Beverly Hills; Hedda Hopper, newspaper columnist; Florabel Muir, Hollywood writer for a New York newspaper, and Thomas H. Ince Jr., manager of the apartment where Miss Barry lived for a time.

Miss Berry's Story.

Miss Berry, who came here from New York in 1940 seeking a movie career, previously has related that she spent many evenings at Chaplin's home, "studying diction, voice control, and other technical dramatic arts," that she was "madly in love with him, and thought he was in love with me, but his love began to cool finally and he began to give me what is known as the brush-off."

On New Year's eve a year ago she said she became desperate and went to the Chaplin home, where the watchman "beat me up," then she went to her hotel, where she was so upset she took an overdose of sleeping pills by accident.

Records produced by City Clerk Firminger showed she was arraigned on Jan. 2, 1943, before Police Judge Charles Griffin in Beverly Hills. She pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge and was given a 90 day suspended sentence on condition she leave Beverly Hills.

Chaplin Offer Alleged.

Judge Griffin has signed an immunity waiver and is reported to have declared that he wants to tell the grand jurors how angry he was when Capt. W. W. White of the Beverly Hills police approached him in his chambers with an offer from Chaplin to pay Joan's hotel bills and give her a ticket to New York if she were "floated out of town." But tho he said he told Capt.

Chicago Listed as 'Critical Labor Area'

WMC DECISION WOULD CHANGE STATUS FEB. 1

Spencer Battles to Avert Shift.

BY CHARLES CHEADLE.

The Washington offices of the war man power commission has reclassified Chicago into a No. 1 "critical labor shortage area," effective Feb. 1, but its regional director, fighting for a delay, may succeed in postponing the date to March 1, THE TRIBUNE learned last night.

At the same time, another war agency head disclosed an "almost unused pool of 50,000 to 60,000 skilled workers" in Chicago which, he said, could be drawn on to relieve the labor shortage. Only 25,000 jobs currently are going begging in war industry here, the WMC said.

[U. S. shuts $35,000,000 TNT plant in operation two years. Story on page 5.]

Bar to War Contracts.

William H. Spencer, regional WMC chief, was reported in Washington to have put up a strenuous battle against high officials who two days ago were said by local executives of the WMC to have decided to move Chicago from No. 2 to No. 1 rating, which would prevent the awarding of new contracts or the renewal of others that could be placed elsewhere.

The Washington decision was based on figures Spencer sent there before he went to the capital last Saturday. They were supplied by plants in the Chicago area and, according to admissions made Wednesday thru the Association of Commerce and other channels, showed a future labor demand considerably higher than is likely to develop.

That man power needs generally have been figured too high was admitted by WMC officials in Washington as they announced that the estimate of labor requirements for the next six months had been trimmed 40 per cent. The WMC officials said the labor needs were exaggerated by manufacturers who were too optimistic about their prospects of future contracts.

Need Cut to 900,000.

The WMC fixed at 900,000 the number of persons that will have to be added to the total labor force, including the army and navy, by next July 1. The number needed had been set at 1,500,000 on Nov. 20.

"We found that war contractors were basing their man power needs on the assumption of a sharply rising curve of war production in 1944," an official said. "Actually, the production rate in the next six months will be maintained at about December levels."

However, it was reported, Washington regards the die as cast in Chicago, and has listened to Spencer's plea for postponement with impatience. They were reported to have said Chicago is "the nation's biggest and most diverse pool of skilled labor and manufacturing facilities," and has been kept in the lower classification for 11 months, altho a group 2 classification connotes a probable critical shortage condition in six months.

Ringed by No. 1 Areas.

They asserted that it is surrounded by group 1 areas, from Racine, Wis., to the Calumet district, with other group 1 and 2 areas immediately outside the semi-circle so that there is "no chance of getting more workers thru that barrier."

The disclosure that there are thousands of skilled workers not employed in winning the war came from Victor Fabian, district director of the Smaller War Plants corporation, who said that most of the 10,000 smaller plants in Chicago are begging for war work, with 272, employing an estimated 8,000 persons, "close to the distress line."

"We have been trying to get contracts for these and hundreds of other firms for months," Fabian said. "The prime contractors really prefer to employ the little firms' workers themselves. But the workers, many of whom have an interest in the firm or who have worked there many years and are at or near retirement age, don't want to go to the big plants."

PROBLEM OF CONDUCT
Which One Does She Love?

WIFE SNATCHED SPECS, HIT HIM

That's Clubman's Reply to Support Suit.

New York, Jan. 13 [Special].—Reginald T. Townsend, advertising executive and clubman, asserted today that his socially prominent wife, aware he was helpless without his glasses, frequently snatched them from his nose and then pommeled him while he floundered around blindly. "I gradually acquired the habit of taking off my glasses whenever my wife became irritated," Townsend related.

Reginald T. Townsend.

That, and more, was Townsend's answer to charges made by his wife, Mrs. Madeleine Drexel Dahlgren Townsend, that he abandoned her nine years ago. Mrs. Townsend is asking $600 monthly temporary alimoney and $1,500 counsel fees. She is seeking a separation decree. Townsend said he intends to enter a counter-claim.

Climactic Assault.

The climactic assault, Townsend said, came in April, 1935.

"My wife rushed into our bedroom," he said, "and began a verbal tirade. She plucked my pince-nez glasses from my nose and clawed at my face, inflicting deep gouges in my cheek and nose which bled freely. She then crushed the glasses in her hands, breaking the lenses and lacerating her hands quite badly."

Three years earlier, he continued, he and Madeleine were driving in Newport, R. I., and arguing, as usual, when she grabbed his glasses and threw them out of the car. He got out to grope around for them, Townsend said, and she drove off.

"After finding my glasses I walked to the nearest town and about a mile further up the road I came upon the car, which my wife had stopped, apparently feeling I had been sufficiently punished."

Madeleine played another trick on him when they were visiting "some prominent friends" in Newport, Townsend said. They were dressing for dinner. He was clad only in his underwear when she asked him to get a garment for her from a bag outside the room.

What Embarrassment!

No sooner did he step outside the door, Townsend said, than his wife locked it on him for an hour. "After a short interval the hostess and her mother found me in the hallway in said state of disattire to my great embarrassment and mortification," he accounted.

"Any scratches or blows my husband received from me," countered Madeleine, "Were entirely in self-defense. I admit that upon a few occasions I did take off my husband's glasses, but it was only for the protection of my husband and myself."

Madeleine's own sisters, Mrs. Katherine Cromwell and Olga Dahlgren, and her brother, Joseph, in affidavits supporting Townsend, said she was hard to get along with and used to humiliate Reggie with "crude jokes at his expense."

OUTSKIRTS OF ROME BOMBED BY 90 ALLIED PLANES, BERLIN SAYS

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—British and American bombers, escorted by fighters, bombed the outskirts of Rome at noon today, the Rome radio announced tonight. A subsequent broadcast from Berlin said 90 raiders made the attack.

Three allied craft were reported shot down in an aerial battle that ensued. The targets were not identified, but the broadcast asserted that civilian dwellings were hit and that there were casualties.

There was no immediate confirmation from allied quarters of such a raid. Several allied formations flew over Vatican City, the broadcast said, but it did not intimate that the Vatican was attacked. The outskirts of Rome last were hit by allied planes on Dec. 28, when American two engine bombers tore up hangars and other installations and destroyed parked planes at three Nazi airdromes.

BRITISH RELEASE EX-CZARIST AID HELD SINCE 1940

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—Nicholas Wolkov, former rear admiral in the Russian navy under the czars and naval attache in London during the first World war, was released today after having been interned on the Isle of Man since August, 1940. His daughter, Anna, who was arrested at the same time, is serving a sentence for violating the official secrets act in a spy plot involving Tyler Kent, former code clerk in the United States embassy. Kent was given a seven year term. Miss Wolkov was convicted of sending a code letter to a traitor broadcasting from Germany, believed to have been Lord Haw-Haw, British born Nazi commentator.

Find Influenza Deaths Hit Peak and Now Receding

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The death wave that swept the country for five consecutive weeks as a result of the influenza epidemic hit a peak with the new year and began to recede last week, the census bureau reported today.

BILLY MAY PAY DEBT WITH LIFE

Blood Bank Deficit Bars Child from Plasma.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 13 (AP).—Brown eyed Billy Meers, 4 years old, still 60 pints of blood in debt to the Baylor hospital's blood bank, was showing the effects of the lack of blood plasma today.

Billy Meers.

Not since Sunday has Billy, whose life depends on plasma, had any of the fluid. At that time the Baylor hospital blood bank cut off the boy's supply with a statement that further transfusions would not be given until donors had paid off a 100 pint deficit.

Uninterested in Toys.

Tonight the child was uninterested in his toys and threw his picture books on the hospital floor. His mother, Mrs. Charles Meers of Seymour, Tex., said swelling had set in as a result of the lack of plasma.

Billy is a victim of chronic nephritis, a kidney ailment for which medical science has found no cure. His attending physician has stated that the boy can be kept alive indefinitely with blood plasma but that without it he is doomed.

Likened to Dice Shooter.

A Baylor hospital spokesman today commented:

"This case is like a man shooting dice—he can keep on making points for a while, but he knows that the wrong number will come up before long. In the light of what is known about chronic nephritis, giving Billy plasma is like pouring it down a drain.

"Some day public interest will die and Billy won't get plasma and he'll die.

"Here at Baylor we have one of the biggest blood banks in the nation. We have given this child the tremendous amount of 227 pints of blood since September. At some other institution he would have been allowed to die. There would have been no other solution."

Butler Sees Demi-Tasse Become Demi-Breakfast

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP).—Henry Butler was eating breakfast this morning when a buzz saw ripped thru the side of his house, sliced the breakfast table in two, and then whirled out the other side of the house. It had broken loose from a saw mill near Butler's home.

12 Killed, 40 Hurt in Texas Train Wreck

Novice, Tex., Jan. 13 (AP).—A passenger train slashed into the rear of another at the Santa Fe station today, killing at least 12 persons and injuring 40 to 45, several of them critically. Both trains were westbound.

Dick Cooke, reporter for the Abilene Reporter-News, said most of those killed were in a chair car on the first train. The victims have not been identified but Santa Fe officials at Temple, Tex., said two soldiers were among the dead.

Chicago Official Unhurt.

J. L. Bothwell of Chicago, freight traffic manager of the Santa Fe system, and Mrs. Bothwell occupied a special car at the rear of the first train, but were in the diner at the time of the crash. Their car was demolished.

Next to the private car were two sleepers, neither of which was badly damaged. Then came the diner, and it telescoped the chair car ahead.

Santa Fe officials disclosed that the second train was an extra which included four coaches destined for Camp Barkley at Abilene, Tex. The first train, 12 coaches California bound, was four and a half hours behind schedule.

Find Baby 50 Miles Away.

The wreck had its good as well as its tragic news. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lee Bean of Garvin, Okla., who were slightly injured in the wreck, frantically informed hospital attendants at Abilene that they had lost their two months old daughter.

They gave a minute description of how the baby was dressed, and she soon was located in a hospital in Coleman, 50 miles away. She was uninjured.

MICKEY (NO. 383) DIES, AND A COP SHUNS AU REVOIR

He was just No. 383 on the police department records but to Patrolman Fred Knapp, who had ridden him for the last nine years, he was Mickey, a fine horse that always had an eye open for a friend with a bit of sugar or an apple.

That's why Knapp didn't go to the police stables yesterday with the veterinary and Capt. David Flynn, head of traffic division. Mickey had been ill, the veterinarian said he couldn't recover, and Commissioner Allman had given Flynn permission to end the horse's suffering. So while Knapp moped at headquarters Flynn shot the horse.

"Mickey had been on the force 15 years and was 20 years old," Knapp said. "He was my horse for the last nine years and our beat was Dearborn from Madison to the Polk street station. He had a lot of friends and even with sugar rationed there were those who had a lump for him now and then. He was fine in traffic and never was frightened. But he would get restless when we worked overtime. He wanted to knock off always at 1 p. m. sharp."

Take $380 and 9 Cases of Whisky in 2 Holdups

Two armed bandits held up two liquor stores last night, obtaining $380 and nine cases of whisky. At Ben Paralonsky's liquor store at 5515 Belmont avenue, they obtained the whisky and $140 from Paralonsky, and $15 from three customers, including a woman. From Peter Epstein, proprietor of a liquor store at 3114 North Cicero avenue, they took $225.

REDS BEAT OFF HEAVY GERMAN COUNTER BLOW

LONDON, Jan. 14 [Friday] (AP).—Russian forces yesterday beat back "extremely fierce" German counter-attacks on the road to Rumania for the second straight day.

They also extended their salient into old Poland to an 80 mile front. Advancing 11 miles west of Sarny along the railroad to Warsaw, they were 46 miles inside the pre-war frontier.

Farther north, in White Russia, the soviet army drove along the northeastern edge of the Pripet marshes to outflank and virtually surround the district center of Mozyr and a railroad hub five miles north. Forty other towns also were taken in this drive.

More than 5,500 Germans were reported killed in the day's actions.

Battle Near Bug River.

The midnight supplement to the Moscow war bulletin said large forces of Germans east of Vinnitsa, on the Bug river, were fighting against Russian forces hammering toward the Odessa-Lwow railroad and the Rumanian border beyond. At last reports the Russians were only 21 miles north of the railroad, which is the last communications route for Germans in the Dnieper bend.

The fighting in this area as the Germans launched their first important counter-blows since the Russians broke thru their lines west of Kiev was described by Moscow as having taken on "an extremely serious character," with some villages changing hands several times.

Take 60 Towns.

Inside old Poland, the Russians captured the district center of Korets and a town 10 miles south to lengthen their front from a point 17 miles north of Sarny on the southern end of the Pripet marshes. One column also pushed southwest within 23 miles of Rovno in a 27 mile drive across the marshes to higher ground. More than 60 other towns and hamlets were captured in the Korets area. These gains gave the Russians more than 2,000 square miles in Polish territory.

In the Dnieper bend, advances west and northwest of Kirovograd also were reported by Moscow.

Heavy air battles were being fought, the Moscow war bulletin reporting that 102 Nazi planes were shot down in one day.

WM. COLLIER SR., 77, ACTOR, DIES ON WEST COAST

Beverly Hills, Cal., Jan. 13 (AP).—William Collier Sr., 77 years old, veteran of the stage and screen, died at his home today.

Collier ran away with a touring company of "Pinafore" when he was 11. He had the featured role of "Bluebeard Jr." with Eddie Foy and then joined Russell's comedians. Later he teamed with Weber and Fields and appeared with Lillian Russell, David Warfield, Sam Bernard, May Irwin, and others.

He came to Hollywood with the old Triangle film organization, working with Mack Sennett and the late Thomas Ince. Then he joined George M. Cohan for "Hello, Broadway," and wrote and played in "Cotton Time." He was active in film work from 1933 to 1941.

SPECIAL COURT PUTS AP RULING IN ORDER FORM

Judgment Stayed for 60 Days for Appeal.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Judgment was filed in federal court today restraining the Associated Press perpetually from observing by-laws under which members might consider the competitive ability of an applicant for membership, but stipulating the AP might restrict admission on other grounds.

The order was stayed for 60 days to permit either the news gathering coöperative or the government to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. In the event of an appeal the stay would remain in effect pending a decision.

Frank B. Noyes, honorary president of the AP, president of the Washington Star, and a director of AP for 50 years, said in a statement that he took it "for granted that the decision will be appealed."

"Victory," Says Prosecutor.

John Henry Lewin, special assistant to the attorney general and one of counsel in the case, said in Washington that the "decree constitutes a significant victory for the government."

The judgment, signed by Circuit Judges Learned Hand, Augustus N. Hand, and Thomas W. Swan, represented their formal order in the government's civil anti-trust suit against the AP.

The section declaring illegal by-laws under which the AP might "take into consideration the effect of admission upon the ability of an applicant to compete with AP members in the same territory or field" [morning, evening, or Sunday] included this proviso:

"Nothing herein shall prevent the adoption by the Associated Press of new or amended by-laws which will restrict admission, provided that members in the same city and in the same 'field' as an applicant publishing a newspaper in the United States of America or its territories, shall not have power to impose, or dispense with, any conditions upon his admission and that the by-laws shall affirmatively declare that the effect of admission upon the ability of such applicant to compete with members in the same city and 'field' shall not be taken into consideration in passing upon his application."

Three Other Restraints.

The judgment contained three other restraints which the court said could be modified or terminated in the event the AP amended its by-laws respecting admission. These provisions, which were stayed for 120 days, would:

Enjoin observance of by-laws under which [1] the AP withholds its news reports from newspapers owned by other than AP members and [2] AP members and their employes are restricted from furnishing local news of spontaneous origin gathered by them to persons other than the AP and its members. They also cancel the exclusive provisions of the new agreement between the Associated Press and the Canadian Press.

The court dismissed the government's complaint that the AP's acquisition of Wide World Photos, Inc., was illegal.

The Law Findings.

The first eight conclusions of law concerned matters dealt with specifically in the judgment. The last three follow:

"AP does not monopolize or dominate the furnishing of news reports, news pictures, or features to newspapers in the United States.

"AP does not monopolize or dominate access to the original sources of news.

"AP does not monopolize or dominate transmission facilities for the gathering or distribution of news projects, news pictures, or features."

SCHNACKENBERG PRAISED BY ALL AS HE RETIRES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago], 24 year veteran of the legislative scene, today was blanketed with praise when he stepped from the rostrum where he has wielded the gavel for three years. The end of the special session on soldier voting means his last appearance here unless another special session is called this year—or he is drafted to run again.

"At the end of his first session as speaker, something unprecedented occurred," said Rep. Joseph L. Rategan [D., Chicago]. "The minority side presented a resolution commending him for his 'fair and impartial treatment' of all members. He was above reproach. It is strange that Republican leaders have not selected him for a top spot on the state ticket."

Rep. David I. Swanson [R., Chicago] declared Schnackenberg's work and service have been "masterful."

Group Urges Congress to Act on Soldier Voting

Prompt congressional action on a soldier vote bill was urged yesterday by the Chicago executive board of the Union for Democratic Action, 166 Jackson boulevard, in a statement released by Municipal Judge John Gutknecht. The statement described the pending state legislation for this purpose a "makeshift bill" and urged enactment of legislation similar to that proposed by Sen. Scott W. Lucas.

Like Alice in Wonderland, Says Noyes of AP Decision

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Frank B. Noyes, honorary president of the Associated Press, president of the Washington Star, and for 50 years a director of AP, commented today on the federal court judgment in the government's anti-trust action against the Associated Press:

Frank B. Noyes.

"Speaking for myself alone, I may say that this decision comes to me as a bitter disappointment.

"For more than 50 years I have devoted a very large part of my life to furthering the interests of the Associated Press, believing that thus I was taking a part in what Victor F. Lawson described as an 'adventure in altruism.'

Founded for Coverage.

"The Associated Press was founded in its modern form by a comparatively small minority of American newspapers in order to assure its members that they would receive a comprehensive, accurate and unbiased nonpartisan report of the world's happenings, one that would be without political, religious or economic tinge and without sinister private control; a nonprofit making organization and one in which its members were free to select their associates.

"The Associated Press never accepted all comers as members.

"It, by the very nature of its organization, repudiated any desire for monopoly but on the other hand holds that competition is vital to the best interests of both members and nonmembers of the Associated Press. For, at least, in my opinion, a news service that is a monopoly will also be a static service.

Upheld for 40 Years.

"For more than 40 years the Associated Press was given a clear bill of health by the department of justice; two attorney generals studied its status and decided that it was without legal blemish.

"Now comes this decision and I confess that I feel like an octogenarian Alice in Wonderland.

"The special court in a majority opinion, but with a very vigorous dissenting opinion, has decided that altho it neither has nor seeks a monopoly and does not seek to impede competition it nevertheless is in violation of the anti-trust acts.

"The majority decision, however, holds that if legislation is lacking a federal court can by decree make the Associated Press a public utility in effect and that if this should result in the extinction of competing services that would not be an actionable wrong.

Coercion the Issue.

"To me it seems of little importance whether one descendant of Joseph Medill in Chicago succeeds in preventing the election of Marshall Field and another in Washington succeeds in obtaining membership.

"The vital question is whether the members of the association may use their own judgment in election or denial freely or whether they can be properly coerced to vote against what they regard as the best interest of the organization itself.

"The more I think of it the more I feel like Alice in Wonderland.

"I take it for granted that the decision will be appealed."

In New York counsel for the Associated Press had no statement to make on the decision. The board of directors of the AP meets there next week.

"Significant Victory."

John Henry Lewin, special assistant to the attorney general and one of counsel in the case, said:

"The final decree conforms in substance with the decree proposed by the government last November. In a few particulars the court failed to grant all the relief the government recommended, but on the main point of the case the decree constitutes a significant victory for the government and greatly strengthens future enforcement of the Sherman act.

"In conformity with the court's recent opinion, the decree was directly against the government on one point only: the recent acquisition by AP of the stock of a competing picture service—Wide World Photos, Inc., was held to be within the law.

"The time within which the Associated Press may appeal to the Supreme court for a review of this decree expires on March 13, 1944."

PLANE FACTORY ADMITS GETTING MEN FROM ARMY

500 Taken So Far; More Expected.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 13 [Special].—Representatives of Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft corporation confirmed today that men are being released from the army and navy to work in their plants after the company has made the necessary certifications for the transfers.

Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] yesterday reported to Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, the complaint of a California father that his son had been taken from the navy and sent back to his old job at Consolidated despite his desire to serve in the navy.

"These boys are brought into their commander's office and instructed to sign some papers," the father, Glen C. Bushby of San Diego, wrote Wheeler. "They naturally obey and presently find themselves back in civilian life with a foreman at Consair holding the ax over their heads in the shape of a threat to send them back to their draft boards if they don't toe the mark.

"What the hell kind of a country have we become when they can take a patriotic American boy, willing and anxious to serve his country in the navy, and make a serf out of him? Talk about peonage!"

Spokesmen for Consolidated said their plant, in common with other west coast airplane factories, is now benefiting by the release from military service of men specially qualified to work in the plants and formerly so employed.

The company had reëmployed about 500 in this manner up to last week, most of them coming from the army, and it was expected Consolidated would receive back as many as 1,800 men, the spokesmen disclosed.

They denied the company actually wrote letters seeking the return of their former employes but explained that it supplied the necessary questionnaires and compiled with the requested "screenings" of the army and navy. The men were certified by the service branches after Consolidated had made the necessary certifications, it was said.

DRYS DESCRIBE PROHIBITION AS WAR ESSENTIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Leaders of the nation's dry lobby descended on the capitol today, flanked by 200 followers and a battery of newsreel cameramen, to voice their demands for war time prohibition before a house judiciary subcommittee.

While witnesses from the WCTU, National Prohibition party, and other dry groups paraded before the committee to label liquor as a saboteur of war production, health, and morality, their associates handed out pocket sized posters to all comers.

Samples of the poster slogans were: "Use Your Bible to Battle the Bottle" and "Two Resolutions: I Will Keep Sweet and I Will Not Drink Alcohol."

Bill's Author Leads Parade.

Leading the dry parade was Rep. Bryson [D., S. C.], author of a pending bill to impose prohibition for the duration of the war by congressional statute.

As the cameras buzzed, Bryson asserted, "I am for prohibition externally, internally, and eternally."

Bryson was preceded before the committee by Rep. Forand [D., R. I.], an anti-prohibitionist, who beat the drys to the punch by getting to the witness chair first. He warned against repeating the "mistake" of World War I. by imposing prohibition when our fighting men are at the front and have no chance to protest.

Describing himself as a teetotaler personally, Forand said that fact "does not give me a license to tell my neighbors what they should eat or drink."

Others Assail Prohibition.

Other congressmen also issued statements during the day charging that prohibition would revive bootlegging, hijacking, and gangsterism, sabotage the war program, and lower the morale of fighting men abroad.

Typical of the dry testimony was that of Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, president of the national WCTU, Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. Smith asserted that Monday morning hangovers resulting from week-end drinking sprees are a major cause of absenteeism in war plants. She further said that liquor making diverts grains, sugar, and other products from food uses.

Similar testimony was given by Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, 1936 Presidential candidate of the Prohibition party, and half a dozen other witnesses.

Rep. Celler [D., N. Y.] declared that the nation's experience under prohibition showed that these evils could not be corrected by law, because people would go on making and drinking liquor anyway.

10 Million Fund Denied.

Rep. Celler has said that the existence of a 10 million dollar dry lobby fund has been reported to him. Referring to this statement, Mrs. Smith said, "I wish we had ten million cents."

Rep. Hobbs [D., Ala.], subcommittee chairman, said anti-prohibitionists will be given their say at the next hearing, which is not expected for some time.

CANADA GRANTS PUBLISHERS 4% PAPER INCREASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 13.—Canadian publishers have been granted a 4 per cent increase in newsprint as a result of a 4 per cent stretching of raw material supplies accomplished by the Canadian newsprint industry, it was announced tonight. Paul Kellog, acting president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, said the saving effected by the manufacturers was accomplished thru the use of fillers and the reduction in the percentage of sulphite rather than by the use of lightweight paper, and does not yet include any economies from the use of waste paper.

'BIG 4' CHARGED WITH WRECKING WINE INDUSTRY

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Four giant distillery companies were accused today of strangling the wine industry at a hearing of a senate judiciary subcommittee, which is trying to find out why a man can't buy a bottle of whisky. Sen. Murdock [D., Utah] expressed the suspicion outside the hearing room that distillery industries wish to put wineries out of business by converting American taste to hard liquor.

Sen. Murdock.

The four companies, dubbed the "big four" by the senators, also were accused of "unseen and undue influence" over the office of price administration and the war food administration, which regulate grape growing and wine manufacturing.

The senators were told that the "big four" recently bought a quarter of the California wineries. California produces 90 per cent of the nation's wine. Subcommittee members promptly asked if the distillers are responsible for the widespread, tho illegal, requirement that the thirsty buy a bottle of wine before they can get a bottle of whisky—when whisky can be had.

Questions go Unanswered.

That question went unanswered, as did another: Did the distillers buy wineries to get the wineries' stills and make fruit spirits to use for whisky blending in place of the neutral spirits now used exclusively for commercial alcohol for the war?

The "big four" are Hiram Walker, Seagram, Schenley, and National Distillers.

Protests against them were contained in letters received by the subcommittee from California grape growers and independent wineries, along with complaints by wine drinkers that the price of table wine has advanced as much as 200 per cent since the distillers came on the scene.

Plan Agency Probes.

Subcommittee members said they would ask government officials about complaints that WFA actions forced grapes intended for food into the wine market. Other senators said OPA practices made prices exorbitant for domestic consumers.

Frank M. Ludwick, chief of the WFA wine section, testified that two members of his section's advisory committee are officers of "big four" companies.

Wineries use stills in the manufacture of brandy and fruit spirits to raise the alcoholic content of sweet wines.

Willkie's Brother Named.

Ludwick testified that H. E. Willkie is a member of the WFA spirits advisory committee. Willkie, he said, is an official of one of the "big four" companies and a brother of Wendell L. Willkie.

Hearing chuckles:

LUDWICK—I'm from California but I like New York wines and the New York champagne is excellent. I hope I won't be quoted.

SEN. MURDOCK — The wine business is very much under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

FUEL OIL AMPLE FOR NEEDS HERE, SAYS AUTHORITY

Missing OPA Forms Add to Heating Confusion.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Fuel oil for home heating is plentiful, but thousands of Chicago area families are suffering for want of it because Joel Dean, oil rationing chief of the office of price administration, has broken promise after promise to make it available, Frank E. Spencer, national chairman of distribution for the Oil Heat Institute of America, charged yesterday.

"The oil is there," Spencer said, "but there's now no way for those needing it to get it. It's all a matter of a certain OPA form—called No. 1104. On this form, fuel oil users could have applied for additional rations in a simple procedure. But the forms aren't available, Dean won't do anything, and the suppliers, altho they have plenty of oil, can't.

June Promise Recalled.

"Last June Dean told us that this year's fuel oil rations would be issued on the basis of last winter's. We recalled to him then that many users had suffered and thousands had been compelled to get additional oil somehow.

"He said the rations would have to be on the basis of the original ones of last winter anyway, but promised that a profusion of the 1104 forms would be at all local boards. Thru this simple form—and it was simple—he explained everybody could apply for what additional oil was needed.

"We believed him. It looked all right. But only a few of the forms have trickled into Chicago. Most local boards often are out of them and many boards never had them.

Spencer, who has been president of the Burning Oil Distributors' association for 12 years, said he protested to Dean by telephone yesterday. Spencer had been "somewhat enraged," he admitted, by Dean's "coldly blunt" statement the day before that "no relief whatever" would be granted Chicago area oil heaters now.

Old Promises Recalled.

"Dean and Edward F. Stegen, regional fuel oil director, called me to request a meeting with the distributors Saturday," Spencer said. "We are to meet them at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Hamilton hotel.

"Last June OPA promised these 1104 blanks, on which all now hinges, would be available to everybody by Sept. 1. They weren't. They made excuse after excuse and promise after promise. On Nov. 19 we had a panel meeting in Washington. They told us then that things were 'not working out right,' that they'd had 'a hard time getting the form O. K.'d.' Nothing was done in December. Now, in midwinter, we're still looking for the forms, and it's scheduled to be taken up again on Jan. 19, our next panel meeting."

Dean's description of those who are running out of fuel oil as "improvident" was challenged by Spencer, who pointed out that Chicago's weather up to Jan. 10 had been 9.9 per cent colder than the average for the last 67 years.

Paul A. H. Shults, acting Chicago area OPA director, said he and his staff are concerned about the 5,000 to 10,000 families which already are out of fuel oil and the thousands more who will be before their next coupons become valid Feb. 8.

"The 1104 form," Shults said, "applies, as I understand it, only to auxiliary rations for those who have infants under 4 or aged, infirm or sick persons in their homes, and to hospitals and sanitariums. We have authorized boards that are short of these forms to take letters instead. However, this 1104 form only became effective Jan. 6 under the new amendment 92 of the fuel oil regulations."

Wins Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. SUZANNE KETTERING.

Mrs. Suzanne Kettering, 6619 Navajo avenue, won a divorce yesterday before Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court from her husband, Frank D. Kettering, a radio dance musician, because he was too busy playing on the radio and making pictures in Hollywood to return home to his family. She charged desertion.

On May 10, 1943, Mrs. Kettering obtained a decree of separate maintenance. It was her hope, her lawyer, Harry X. Cole, said, that Kettering would return, but he didn't, and now she wanted a divorce.

Mrs. Kettering had been receiving $85 a week under the separate maintenance decree, for support of herself and two children, Carol, 8, and Barbara, 3, but Kettering can't pay that any more, his attorneys, Norman and Joseph H. Becker said, because he is entering the army. An army allotment of $100 a month was agreed upon while Kettering is in service. Previously Mrs. Kettering had received $8,000 in cash, $3,000 in furniture, and some insurance.

Thaddeus Adesko, an assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, yesterday was named president of the Polish Lawyers Association of Chicago at a meeting of the group in the Central Y. M. C. A. He succeeds Atty. Theodore Szmergalski. Circuit Judge Walter J. La Buy administered the oath of office.

DEMOCRATS BAR SOLDIERS' VOTE FOR PRIMARIES

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—Democrats today struck the final blow to kill the primary soldier voting bill in the house of representatives, then leaped on the bandwagon to pass the measure in a form applying its provisions to the November election.

The senate later concurred in house amendments and adjourned the special session of the legislature sine die. Gov. Green signed the act tonight.

Only six of the 33 downstate Democrats in the house refused to follow orders by voting for the primary voting bill. These orders were made binding on the others in party caucus. Chicago Democrats in the senate provided the pattern for the house action, but in the senate all four downstate Democrats voted for the emergency bill.

Mayor Kelly's letter of Dec. 18 to Gov. Dwight H. Green was flaunted before the Democrats by the Republican floor leader, Rep. Reed F. Cutler of Lewistown. Kelly urged Green to call the special session and promised "wholehearted and unanimous support to a soldier voting bill."

Charges Washington Dictation.

The majority leader repeated charges that the Roosevelt "palace guard" dictated the surprise change in Democratic strategy.

"Ickes or Hopkins or somebody similar has told Mayor Kelly to tell his boys to do this thing," Cutler said. "The Democrats were told they had to put in amendments so that every one who rubbed noses with Eleanor in the South Sea Islands would have the right to vote, too.

"The record is plain. The public will know regardless of your [Democratic] alibis that the Democrats have decisively prevented soldiers from voting in the April 11 primary. And they will know that the Republican members alone have made it possible for soldiers to vote in the November election."

Against the requirement of 102 votes on the primary voting bill, there were 86 for the bill, including the six downstate Democrats. With the emergency clause removed, the Republicans had enough votes for the requisite 77, but the Democrats joined in to pass the measure by a whopping 140 to 0.

Downstate Backers of Bill.

Downstate Democrats who voted for the primary bill were W. O. Edwards of Danville, Charles D. Franz of Freeport, Edward G. Hayne of Ottawa, Jesse Higgins of Oblong, Paul Taylor of Effingham, and Herbert L. Upchurch of Benton.

"I'm not leaving my party," said Upchurch. "But if this legislation is not enacted the boys will have no chance to vote in the primary."

"Do what you can for the boys at the front," Edwards advised his colleagues, "and follow the dictates only of your conscience."

"Any one who comes here and votes as he is told is nothing but a monkey," Hayne said. "I'm not going on record as opposing the soldier vote."

G. O. P. Leaders Assailed.

The long debate involved personalities but changed no votes. Attacked without any great show of logic were Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois; the late Gov. Len Small and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE which Minority Leader William Vicars said "owns and operates every one of the Republican candidates."

Vicars complained that the soldier voting bill "merely provides 15 more days for soldiers to get their ballots." He said experience in the November election will show how few soldiers take advantage of its provisions. The Illinois bill will allow soldiers to vote on state and county officers as well as national.

"The boys in uniform are more interested in national offices—the President and congress," Vicars said.

His bill to delay the primary election from April 11 to May 9 was referred to the committee on elections, where it died upon sine die adjournment of the special session. Republicans who have their state ticket completed for the primary said the Democrats are embarrassed because they are far behind in making up their own ticket.

VURSELL VOTE BILL WINS BACKING OF HOUSE COMMITTEE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Rep. Worley [D., Tex.], chairman of the house elections committee, predicted today his group will report out tomorrow a bill providing machinery for service men and women to vote in this year's elections. The bill is expected to reach the floor next week.

Altho Worley was noncommittal on provisions of the measure, a survey of the 12 active members showed a seven to five sentiment in favor of a proposal leaving supervision of service balloting in the hands of the states, and directing the states to revise their absentee voting laws to give all military personnel a chance to vote.

The committee, members present reported, today perfected a bill along these lines, and thus closely followed the proposal of Rep. Vursell [R., Ill.], a committee member.

As drafted in committee, the measure directs the army, navy, and merchant marine to distribute post card applications for state ballots to their personnel well in advance of the 1944 elections and to give air mail priority to the applications and to transmission of ballots themselves.

PARENTS BEG ACTION

Illinois officials of veterans' organizations and Chicago parents of men in military service yesterday voiced their conviction that soldiers, sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen should have the right and the chance to vote in 1944 elections—primary and general.

None of those who expressed views believes that the rights of a citizen of the United States should be abrogated temporarily merely because he is wearing the uniform of his country and not able to get to his home precinct on election day.

How the service men themselves feel about it was summarized by Lester Benson, Illinois service officer of the American Legion, who said:

Hospital Patients' Plight.

"Anything done by politicians which creates the feeling among service men that their rights are being taken away hurts morale. The current controversy over permitting service men to vote in the primary election only serves to make the men conscious of what is being done at home.

"Obstacles placed in the way of voting only make the men want to vote the more. Perhaps 75 per cent of them never intended to vote in the first place. A veteran in a hospital is in the same predicament. If he is, for instance, in Hines hospital on election day, he cannot obtain an absentee ballot and at the same time he can't get to his home precinct to vote in the regular way."

Leonard W. Esper, Springfield, commander of the department of Illinois, American Legion, said service men should have the right to vote and the chance to vote if they want to do so.

"I favor permitting men in service to vote and believe they should have the right to do so," said William Kleuskins, commander of the Legion's Cook county council, speaking for himself and not the council. "Because a man is in the service," he added, "is no reason why he shouldn't vote, whether he is overseas or not."

Favors Vote at 18.

"It's rotten to deny votes to service men," said Meddie G. Buck, Champaign, commander of the department of Illinois, Veterans of Foreign Wars. "I even favor granting the right to vote to all service men over 18 years old. They are fighting or preparing to fight for their country and they should have a chance to vote for the men who are going to run it until they get back into civilian clothes and have an opportunity to take a hand in civic affairs.

"The proposal of Gov. Green and those legislators who desire to make it possible for service men to vote in the primary has my fullest support and should have the support of every one in the state. Service people have as much right as civilians to say who shall represent them on their party ticket."

The wife of a city hall employe, whose son is overseas and who would not permit use of her name, commented that perhaps Illinois Democrats are afraid of defeat in 1944 and added:

"If I were a Democrat—and I'm not saying whether I have been one —and the boys in service were not permitted to vote in the elections, I would change my politics."

Mrs. Gordon C. Fraser Jr., 6124 North Rockwell street, whose son, Pvt. Robert B. Fraser is a bugler with marine corps engineers in the South Pacific, said she is certain the boys are eager to vote, altho her son is only 19 years old. Mrs. Fraser served as a Republican precinct judge last year.

"I think all boys not in the thick of the fighting should be allowed to vote," said Mrs. Fraser. "Those in the thick of it probably won't think about much else except the war. Last year I noticed that sailors stationed on Navy pier would almost break their necks to get to the polls and back in the time allotted."

Other Parents' Views.

Mrs. Edward W. Hammer, 8112 Eberhart avenue, whose son, Sgt. Edward, fought in Guadalcanal, said:

"I think the boys ought to have the right to vote whether here or there. It seems hardly fair not to allow them to vote when they are away not of their own will. There is enough to take care of without fighting over petty politics."

Mrs. Patrick Doody, 5352 South Wells street, whose son, Tech. Sgt. Thomas is in New Guinea, observed:

"I should think they ought to have the right to vote—it is no more than fair."

Dr. H. H. Bassler, 6333 Glenwood avenue, whose son, Lt. Harry D., is a fighter pilot in England, asserted that "they should let the bill go thru. The boys should be enabled to vote."

Mayor Kelly, who is accused of having decreed defeat of the proposal in the Illinois legislature to permit service men to vote in the April primary, indicated that he was irked by the charge.

DEMANDS PROBE OF $700,000 CIO POLITICAL FUND

Violation of No-Strike Act Is Charged.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Rep Smith [D., Va.] today demanded a federal grand jury investigation into a $700,000 political fund raised by Congress of Industrial Organization's unions to further labor's aims in the 1944 elections.

In a letter to Atty. Gen. Biddle, Smith charged the raising of the fund is a "flagrant violation" of the Smith-Connally anti-strike law which makes it a criminal offense for any labor organization to make a contribution in connection with any federal election.

"I respectfully request," Smith wrote Biddle, "that you present the whole matter to a federal grand jury forthwith, with a view to the indictment and prosecution of those engaged in this conspiracy to control the national elections of 1944."

Cites Murray Article.

Smith cited an article, entitled "Labor's Political Aims," by Philip Murray, CIO president, in the February issue of the American magazine, in which Murray discussed the formation of the "CIO political action committee." Murray said the organization was formed to "protect the political rights of the working man" and others in this year's elections.

"The various CIO unions," Murray wrote, "have made an initial contribution of $700,000."

Smith's letter then quoted section 9 of the Smith-Connally act, of which he is co-author, making it unlawful for "any labor organization to make a contribution in connection with any election at which Presidential and Vice Presidential electors, or a senator or representative in, or a delegate or resident commissioner, to congress, are to be voted for."

Calls Article Defiance.

The law further provides that violations of the section are punishable by fines up to $5,000 for unions, and a maximum of $1,000 fine or one year in prison or both, for union officers.

"Mr. Murray is president of the CIO," Smith letter said, "the article is a defiant confession of the violation of the statute. A number of other officers of the union are named in the article as parties actually engaged in carrying on the unlawful enterprise."

At Biddle's office it was announced that the letter, written Jan. 10, has been referred to Assistant Atty. Gen. Tom Clark, in charge of the criminal division, and that Clark has been instructed to investigate immediately and "take whatever action the facts warrant."

CIO Rejects Stand.

There was no immediate official statement from CIO headquarters here, but a spokesman said the union's counsel took the position that local unions' contributions to the fund did not violate the anti-strike law. Sidney Hillman is chairman of the CIO action committee.

The CIO, it was said, takes the position that the law is directed at campaign contributions for specific candidates, whereas the $700,000 fund is directed at a general campaign for labor aims.

Smith told reporters, however, that the act is not limited to banning union payments to sponsor individuals, but specifically bars all union contributions "in connection with" any election.

MRS. MAXINE ALLAN.

Mrs. Maxine Allan, 45 years old, was scheduled to be released from the county jail today after the grand jury was reported yesterday to have refused to indict her for the fatal shooting 16 years ago of Harry [Blackie] Woods in a North Clark street restaurant. Mrs. Allan surrendered to police a week ago and confessed she killed Woods after he threatened her with a cleaver. She said she wanted to give herself up as the killing had haunted her.

HANNEGAN MUM ON REPORT HE'LL GET WALKER JOB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Robert E. Hannegan, commissioner of internal revenue, today declined to comment on reports that he is scheduled to succeed Postmaster General Walker as chairman of the Democratic national committee. Friends are confident he will be named to head the party organization when the committee meets here Jan. 24.

The St. Louis lawyer and political leader is said to be the personal choice of President Roosevelt since Walker made it clear he does not desire to serve during the coming Presidential campaign.

In political circles it was felt that the President's choice was inspired by Hannegan's fellow Missourian, Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], who is said to cherish Vice Presidential ambitions.

CAUCUS OF 10TH DISTRICT PICKS TWO DELEGATES

Two delegates and two alternates to the Republican national convention, all known to be anti-Willkie, were selected at a caucus of ward committeemen and county chairmen of the 10th congressional district in the Bismarck hotel last night. The delegates are James S. Kemper and Henry Pope. The alternates are Herbert Dilg, mayor of Morton Grove, and Allen E. Hoban, attorney. The caucus indorsed Ralph Church for reëlection to congress, and William Marks of Lake Villa, for reelection as state central committeeman from the district.

2 PARTIES PLAN TO SPLIT COSTS OF CONVENTIONS

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Rival Republican and Democratic managers met in conference yesterday to arrange for sharing the expenses of putting the Chicago Stadium into shape for the Republican and Democratic national conventions. They met on the assumption that the Democrats, following the lead of the G. O. P., will pick Chicago as their convention city, which Democratic chiefs deem more than probable.

Harrison E. Spangler, Republican national chairman, and Walter S. Hallanan, chairman of the G. O. P. arrangements committee, met with Frank C. Walker, Democratic national chairman, and Ambrose O'Connell, Democratic vice chairman, at the Blackstone hotel.

Consider Joint Use.

There was general agreement that costs should be split on installations that can be used jointly by the two parties. These items include such expenses as arranging the seating, providing the wiring for lights, telegraph, and radio, and the building of the speakers' platform, the press benches, and some of the decorations, which this year are to be far simpler than in peace time years.

Each party has a guarantee of $75,000 to meet convention expenses—which is about half the amount of other years—so both are out to economize where possible, and streamline the meetings.

Chicago's offer of $75,000 to the Democrats was submitted informally at a meeting of Chairman Walker and Vice Chairman O'Connell, with members of the citizens' nonpartisan committee—Mayor Kelly, Silas H. Strawn, James M. Cleary, and James D. Cunningham. Strawn informally advised Walker that the $75,000 is available, which has been public news for weeks. Mayor Kelly will make the bid formally at the meeting of the Democratic national committee in Washington Jan. 22 to fix the place and time of the convention.

Majority for Chicago.

Democratic leaders say a majority of the committeemen favor Chicago, especially on account of the request of Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, that both national conventions be held in Chicago.

The week starting July 17 appears to be in favor with some Democratic chieftains for their party convention. The Republicans open their convention June 26.

Hotel figures prepared by William J. Hennessy, secretary of the citizens committee, show that 4,540 rooms in downtown hotels will be available for the weeks of July 10 and July 17. The Stevens hotel is set down for 2,000 rooms frozen from June 25 to July 24.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur for President clubs in eight states will send their leaders here for a meeting Monday to unify their efforts, it was announced by Joseph P. Savage, head of the Illinois club. They are to meet at 11 South La Salle street. States to be represented are Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Ohio, Minnesota, and California.

NEW DEAL VOTE BUYING DAY IS ENDED: BROOKS

G. O. P. Will Keep on Winning, He Says.

New York, Jan. 13 [Special].—That day is gone when the New Deal could buy votes with public money and tell the people it didn't mean anything, for the people know now they are paying for their liberty with blood, suffering, and sacrifice, Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] declared here tonight.

The Illinois leader spoke on the radio program, America's Town Meeting, discussing with Gov. Dwight P. Griswold of Nebraska the subject, "How Can the Republicans Win in 1944?" Sen. Brooks advanced the nationalist point of view while Gov. Griswold, a supporter of Wendell Willkie, spoke for the internationalist bloc.

Finds Party Winning Now.

"How can the Republicans win? They are winning now," Sen. Brooks said. "At every election the people are going to the polls to elect Republicans and in 1944 they will elect a Republican national administration."

He declared there are threats other than war menacing our representative form of government, dangers that are far from imaginary.

"For years nations all over the world have been pulled, pushed, or driven into nazilism, fascism, and communism abroad and in America we went far afield following the soothing promises of New Dealers," he said.

Appalled at Regimentation.

"While our people applauded many of the reforms inaugurated, they were appalled to find behind these reforms the sinister hand of regimentation and the centralization of power over their lives and liberties. They have turned to the Republican party for relief and for leadership.

Brooks said the American people know what they want and that, in addition to victory and peace, a sound social welfare program, and a fair tax program based on a sound fiscal policy, they want:

"A cabinet composed of outstanding men of ability and integrity to replace the functions usurped today by the present 'palace guard.'"

Gov. Griswold declared the midwest is not "isolationist" but is interested in entering the United States in a post-war organization of nations.

"The people are deeply distrustful of the secrecy that cloaks the foreign policy of the present administration," he said. "They want to know what they are in for. They want a system of post-war collaboration, backed by force, to include the people of every nation who have given proof that they want to travel with free people."

On domestic issues, Griswold said, the Republicans must "make clear they aim to harness burocracy and unharness America."

Death of Maid in Fall at Tavern Held Accident

CHANGE IN NAME TO BACK F. D. R.—RED PARTY PLAN

Leader Tells of Move to Aid President.

BY GORDON SCHENDEL.

Earl Browder's recently announced plan to change the name of the Communist party in the United States, which he heads, is a strategic move designed to avoid election laws which, in nearly every state, otherwise would handicap the Communists in their admitted intention to throw the full weight of their support to Roosevelt in the approaching Presidential election.

This was disclosed in Chicago yesterday by Alfred Wagenknecht, chairman of the Communist party for Illinois and Indiana, in an interview in which Wagenknecht supplemented statements made by Browder in his New York City address Monday night.

Wagenknecht also asserted that when the Communist party holds its national convention in May another surprise will be sprung on the nation. Breaking precedent, he said, the party will refrain from nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United States.

"Decided by Leaders."

"All good Communists, and those many nonmembers of the party who are, nevertheless, sympathetic to the party's program, instead will be instructed to support President Roosevelt," Wagenknecht said. "This already has been decided by the party's leaders. The convention will ratify the decision."

This move, Wagenknecht said, was decided upon to best exploit for the benefit of the Roosevelt candidacy the considerable influence wielded by Communists and fellow travelers in the hundreds of large labor and Communist front organizations into which they have infiltrated, in many cases, and climbed to dominating positions.

Browder, when in his recent Madison Square speech he gave notice that he wanted the party's name changed, said he wanted a new name indicating its character "as a Communist association for political education, such as "American Communist Political association.'"

Points to Election Laws.

Browder hinted at the reason when he said, "New York is one of the very few states in which the election laws permit coalition of two or more parties on one list of candidates." In most other states, he explained, formal backing by one party of another party's candidates is banned by law.

"As an association for the political education of American citizens," Wagenknecht said, "Communists will not violate any state election laws when they back the candidacy of President Roosevelt for reelection."

F. D. R. INDUCES REP. GORE (D) NOT TO ENTER ARMY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Coaxed by President Roosevelt to remain in congress, Rep. Gore [D., Tenn.] today abandoned his plans to join the army, but refused to say whether the slim Democratic majority in the house had anything to do with it.

Rep. Gore.

The 36 year old legislator who is married and a father voluteered for induction Dec. 28.

It was understood that Gore was invited to the White House following the recent order by the President that members of congress could not retain their seats and serve at the same time in the military services.

"Who Am I to Say?"

Following his conference with the chief executive, Gore said:

"He told me to say: 'You are needed here and can best serve here. I hope you will stay.' And who am I to say or gainsay where I can best serve? I stay."

Asked whether the President said anything to him about "the slender Democratic majority" in the house, Gore grinned and retorted:

"You have my statement, gentlemen."

Democratic Margin Slim.

Altho the Democrats still have more members in the house than the Republicans, the margin is so slim that they are one short of a numerical majority of the membership. Furthermore, a number of vacancies are to be filled and there is a possibility that Republicans might gain more of the empty seats than Democrats.

As soon as the President issued his order Monday barring congressmen from service in uniform, Gore tried to hand in his resignation as a house member to Speaker Rayburn. He was told to withhold that action until he had seen the President. He was scheduled to report at Camp Shelby, Miss., on Jan. 19.

FIGHT ON F.D.R.'S PLAN TO DRAFT LABOR MOUNTS

Truman Joins Opponents; Passage Doubted.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. Truman.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Opposition to President Roosevelt's request for national labor conscription mounted in the capitol today, with Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], usually friendly to the administration, taking the lead in denouncing the plan.

At the same time, Rep. Smith [D., Va.], co-author of the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill, introduced a new labor regulation measure which was interpreted by many as a better answer to war time labor difficulties than the President's suggestion of drafting labor for war jobs. The Smith bill would virtually suspend unions whose members engaged in war time strikes.

Sen. Austin [R., Vt.], one of the sponsors of a labor draft bill drawn along the lines requested by President Roosevelt, has said his measure would prevent strikes by doing away with tight labor markets. Opponents of the plan contend that conscription of labor is the wrong way to attack labor troubles.

Truman Is Opposed.

Truman, head of a special committee which has investigated and studied nearly every phase of the war program, said in an interview he would oppose a civilian labor draft "unless something very convincing can be presented to show there is need for it."

"We are at the peak of the manpower problem now and we can expect it to ease before long," said Senator Truman.

Sen. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee which is considering the Austin bill, predicted the bill would die in committee. The Austin bill is under consideration, he said, but added "I'll be surprised if the committee approves it."

Hearings on the measure have been postponed until next week, and indications are they will be dragged out over several weeks, it was said.

Need Now Doubted.

Several members of the committee are on record as opposing "national service legislation," the term which the administration has tagged to its labor draft plan. Others have said their approval would depend on senate approval of four other points in President Roosevelt's program which he outlined in his state of the union message to congress Tuesday. These points are not believed likely to be accepted by congress.

Sen. Bridges [R., N. H.], a committee member, has said that if a labor draft was needed, it was at the beginning of the war, not now. Sen. Wilson [R., Ia.], another member of the military group, told reporters he believed the labor draft should be considered on its own merits, instead of being tied in with other matters.

Smith, contending that organized labor now has certain privileges, said his bill would also give organized labor responsibilities. The bill would apply not only to industrial plants, but also transportation systems, mines, and other facilities vital to the war.

In event of a strike, slowdown, or concerted stoppage of work, the bill provides the local union involved shall "forthwith cease" to be entitled to be recognized as a bargaining agent of the workers.

Mother Throws Baby to Death

2 Women Injured

Trapped on the third floor of a burning apartment at 4022 South Park way last night, Mrs. Cleo Wilson, 18 years old, a Negro, tossed her 10 day old baby out the window and leaped out herself.

The baby was killed. Mrs. Wilson and her mother, Mrs. Emma Dabney, who also leaped from the same window, are in County hospital, Mrs. Wilson with severe internal injuries and Mrs. Dabney with fractures of both arms.

A third woman who leaped from the burning building was caught by Nathaniel Thomas, 4020 South Park way. She was uninjured.

The fire, of undetermined origin, drove 100 residents from the building and caused damage estimated at $12,000. Firemen extinguished the blaze after it had spread to the roof of a building at 4024 South Park way.

3 G. O. P. CHIEFS WARN OF BOGUS FUND SOLICITORS

A warning that unauthorized persons are soliciting funds as pseudo representatives of Republican committees or public officials was issued last night by three party official. The signers, Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman; Ben L. Berve, Republican state chairman, and John T. Dempsey, Republican county chairman, said that only two authorized solicitations are being carried on at this time.

One is by the citizens nonpartisan committee headed by Silas H. Strawn and Mayor Kelly. The other is for the Lincoln day program of the Republican state committee dinner.

The statement said for protection of the public, if future solicitations for other purposes are authorized, the Better Business bureau, 7 South Dearborn street, would be notified of the groups having official authority to ask for funds. Interested persons, it said, can obtain information from the bureau.

U. S. SHUTS DOWN HUGE TNT PLANT OPENED IN 1941

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13 (AP).—The army's $35,000,000 Weldon Spring ordnance works, which has been producing TNT since September, 1941, has been ordered shut down at the close of operations Sunday, it was announced today by Lt. Col. P. C. O'Shee, commanding officer of the gigantic plant.

The order to discontinue production, involving the discharge of 2,500 employes, came to Col. O'Shee in a letter from Brig. Gen. L. H. Campbell Jr., chief of ordnance.

Cites Changed Conditions.

The letter explained "the requirements for TNT are fixed by the army supply program, which in turn is based on changing battle conditions, and said the decision to reduce production was "due to the great efficiency of our ordnance high explosives manufacturing plants."

The volume output of the plant is a military secret, but Gen. Campbell's letter asserted: "A record of achievement has been established at Weldon Spring which reflects great credit on all concerned."

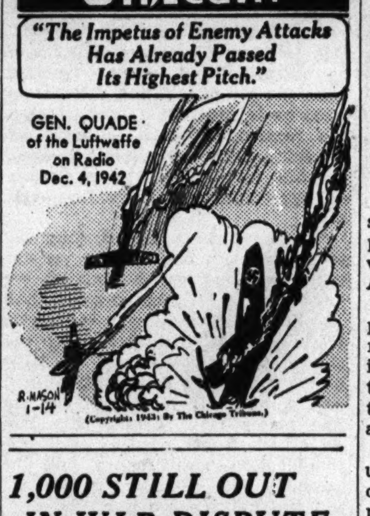
The plant, operated by the Atlas Powder company of Wilmington, Del., covers approximately 18,000 acres on the Missouri river, 30 miles northwest of St. Louis.

Second TNT Plant Shut.

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 13 (AP).—The army's 9,600 acre Pennsylvania ordnance works at nearby White Deer valley will cease production Sunday, Maj. H. S. Borman, commanding officer, announced tonight.

Officials at the Keystone ordnance works, Meadville, Pa., could not be reached for comment on a report that similar action has been ordered there.

The Pennsylvania ordnance plant, construction of which was started in May, 1942, has been operated by the U. S. Rubber works and has been producing TNT since February of last year.



1,000 STILL OUT IN WLB DISPUTE AT GOSS PLANT

More than 1,000 employes of the Goss Printing Press company, engaged in producing navy material, were still on strike yesterday while representatives of the war labor board were attempting to adjust a wage controversy.

The employes walked out of the plant at 1535 South Paulina street Wednesday at 1 p. m. when the WLB refused to approve a wage increase of 5 cents an hour offered by the company.

Julius Kuczma, conciliator for the WLB, held meetings with officials of the company and the International Association of Machinists, district 8, which represents the workers. The conferees will meet again this morning.

French Commandos Raid Nice, Switzerland Hears

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 13.—A commando raid on Nice on the French Riviera was reported today. Engaged in the raid were regular French troops from Corsica, the report added. A number of Germans were wounded by hand grenades, it was said.

AFL AND CIO LAY PLANS TO BLOCK DRAFT OF LABOR

Plans to oppose legislation to conscript men and women workers, as proposed by President Roosevelt, were made here yesterday by both AFL and CIO officials.

While labor has announced its opposition to the plan, the Communist organ, the Daily Worker, indorsed the proposal in an editorial in the issue to be released today. The editorial urges labor to accept the plan.

Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, declared that if the proposal were enacted into law, dire results would ensue for both capital and labor. He declared the plan would be a form of slavery, outlawed by the Thirteenth amendment to the Constitution.

Issue of Class Distinction.

In the federation's organ, Weekly News Letter, sent to all AFL unions in the state, Secretary Olander declared:

"If the President intends merely a labor draft, then a class issue arises sharply.

"It may be that the President's seemingly incidental reference to the mobilization of capital was designed to prepare the public for future recommendations to have capital put in the same draft category as he advises for labor. If so, the internal economy of the nation may undergo a revolutionary change from which recovery will be difficult."

Plan Branded "Vicious."

Atty. Francis Heisler, who represents three unions affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, announced that plans were made at a luncheon attended by union officials and professional men at the Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street, to protest to congress the enactment of a labor draft law as proposed by the President.

"The proposed law not only would compel workers, if ordered, to leave their homes and cities and work elsewhere, but would compel employers to fire as well as hire workers," said Heisler. "The whole scheme is a vicious one."

The committee will meet next Wednesday to complete its opposition plans. The unions Heisler represents are the Retail Clerks, the Rubber Workers, and the Mail Order and Warehouse Employes.

ALL MONTREAL CITY STRIKERS BACK ON JOBS

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 13 (AP).—Montreal's city hall was back to normal today as 2,300 striking municipal white collar workers returned to work in response to an appeal from their leaders, who decided last night to call off the 23 day strike and submit their wage demands to arbitration. City officials said "every one reported at the usual hours this morning."

F.D.R. SUBMITS SECOND BUDGET OF 100 BILLIONS

Renews His Request for Increase in Taxes.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—President Roosevelt today asked congress to appropriate for the second consecutive year the colossal sum of 100 billion dollars to cover anticipated war bills and the cost of operating various New Deal agencies during the next fiscal year. He also demanded increased taxes.

In his annual budget message, he described the proposed federal expenditures as "the financial requirements for victory." They almost equal the 117 billion dollars spent by all previous administrations combined, Washington thru Hoover.

344 Billions Thus Far.

The President told congress that the war cost the United States in money alone 344 billion dollars from June, 1940, thru December, 1943. By the end of the next fiscal year, June 30, 1945, he estimated war spending will have swelled to 397 billion dollars—more than a third of a trillion dollars.

To meet these immense expenditures, Mr. Roosevelt demanded immediate increases in federal taxes. Declaring that the pending 2 billion 275 million dollar tax boost now virtually assured of congressional approval was inadequate to support his economic stabilization program, the President said the administration's demands for a 10½ billion dollar tax increase should be the "minimum" increase that should be considered in a tax program.

He said without additional taxes, government expenditures will exceed revenues by approximately 59 billion dollars in the 1945 fiscal year. He estimated the nation, already more than 166 billion dollars in debt, would have a public debt of 258 billions by June 30, 1945.

Debt Limit Boost Seen.

Warning that future war bond drives may increase the debt beyond this estimate, he said that "in any case it will soon be necessary to request legislation authorizing a further increase in the debt limit from the present level of 210 billion dollars." Mr. Roosevelt said a 258 billion dollar debt will require interest payments of 5 billion dollars annually.

Mr. Roosevelt told the legislators that this interest load should not prove oppressive if the national income can be kept at 125 billion dollars or more a year. National income was estimated at about 135 billion dollars in 1943 and is expected to be near 150 billion dollars in 1944.

Altho he made no promise of early victory, he devoted much of his 10,000 word message—which he sent to congress with an 892 page budget, a volume weighing 3¾ pounds—to a discussion of post-war problems and preparations for peace.

Envisions the Peace.

"This is a period which I am certain will be crucial in the history of the United States and of mankind, a period which will see decisive action in this global war," he said. "While we move toward complete defeat of our enemies, we must lay the groundwork to return the nation to peaceful pursuits. This double task is the essence of the government's program and must be reflected in the budget."

Concerning the war program, the President said the battle for "superiority in war production" has been won.

"With pride in the overall achievements of American management and labor," he said, "I can say that we are now well equipped; with pride in the military leadership of the allied forces, I can say that we are now in a strategic position to make full use of our equipment for decisive blows by land, by sea, and by air."

Hails War Production.

He noted, however, that in our "gigantic effort" we "have converted and diverted approximately half of our resources to war purposes." But, he said, in the production of munitions "we now almost equal the rest of the world combined."

"It is now expected that war expenditures [including net outlays of government corporations for war activities] for the current fiscal year will amount to 92 billion dollars, 8 billion dollars below the 100 billion dollar estimate submitted in my budget estimate of a year ago," Mr. Roosevelt reported.

"For the fiscal year 1945—the year ending 18 months hence—war expenditures are estimated at 90 billion dollars. I emphasize, however, that this estimate is tentative; it is based on the assumption that the war will continue on all fronts thruout the fiscal year 1945.

"Shall Be Prepared."

"In our military planning, in our production planning, and in our financial planning we cannot rely with safety on hopes of earlier victory. If the war should continue on all fronts thruout the fiscal year 1945 or longer, we shall be prepared.

"If an unfavorable turn in military events should result in an increased demand for munitions, we shall, with available facilities, pour out even more munitions than scheduled and expenditures will be larger.

"If, on the other hand, victory should be achieved on one of the major fronts earlier than assumed, I assure the congress and the nation that war production will be promptly adjusted to the changed requirements and war expenditures in the fiscal year 1945 may be less than estimated at the present time."

The President said he "hoped" this total war program will never be obligated and spent. Turning from the job of winning the war to what he termed our "second task—the reconstruction of an economy in which every one willing to work can find for himself a place in productive employment," Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Demobilization begins long before hostilities end. While we are still expanding war production, we have already terminated more than 12 billion dollars of war contracts; while we are still increasing the size of the armed forces, we have already discharged a million men and women. If hostilities end on one major front before they end on other fronts, large scale demobilization adjustments will be possible and necessary while we are still fighting a major war.

Adjustments Necessary.

"Just as economic mobilization for total war required many interrelated measures, so adequate reconversion to civilian production will require many interrelated adjustments of fiscal policy, production policy, price policy, and labor policy.'

In his demobilization program, he urged congress to:

1. Develop a unified program to deal with the interrelated problems of contract termination, surplus property disposal, and industrial reconversion.

2. Be on guard against any weakening of the administrative agencies of job placement, counseling, and training.

3. Establish "adequate" machinery for the general planning and evaluation of public works in relation to broader economic activities.

4. Take early action to provide mustering out pay for every member of the military forces and to provide educational and training programs to prepare returning soldiers and sailors for their return to peace time employment.

5. Expand the social security program so that it will be "better equipped" for readjustment of the labor force and for demobilization of both military men and war workers.

Asks Fiscal Attention.

6. Give attention to administration discussions with other allied nations on post-war monetary policies, currency stabilization, and the removal of obstacles to international trade.

7. Approve the expenditure of federal subsidies to aid in the stabilization of food prices.

8. Make plans for the restoration of civilian life and productivity in the liberated areas.

Mr. Roosevelt in his message defended the millions of New Deal employes, who, he said, have been subjected to "much unfounded disparagement." He said they have been forced to "bear an unjustified stigma, somehow associated with the mistaken assumption that nearly all of them occupy armchair jobs."

Finds Morale Impaired.

"No one can estimate what this has cost in impaired morale, employe turnover, recruitment difficulties, and retardation of essential war work," the President said. "Thousands of Americans entered the government service or have remained in it with single hearted determination to contribute to victory."

He said thousands of the government workers work at desks but emphasized that modern armies cannot operate without quartermasters, paymasters, communication systems; ships and planes cannot be built without drafting, procurement, accounting, and no organized activity in our complex society can succeed without writing and record keeping.

"This war was inevitable," Mr. Roosevelt concluded, "because peaceful nations cannot live in the same world with nations that have become tools in the hands of irresponsible cliques bent on conquest. That obstacle to peace will be removed by destruction of the German and Japanese war machines and by establishing lasting coöperation among the nations united in the fight for freedom.

"In this budget I have outlined the financial requirements for victory. I have also outlined some of the measures required to aid in the reconversion of our war economy and to help discharged soldiers and dismissed war workers find their way back into civilian life and peace time employment.

Stresses Reconstruction.

"Military victory is not enough. We shall not have completed the defense of our way of life until we also solve the second task, the reconstruction of an economy in which every one willing to work can find for himself a place in productive employment.

"Victory will be not only a cause for joy over an accomplishment but at the same time a challenge to another great undertaking. You and I have the responsibility to prepare for victory and for peace. Let us make sure that the budget, the government's work plan, serves both ends."

G. O. P. IN HOUSE URGES SIMPLER INCOME TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—House Republicans at their monthly caucus today adopted a resolution demanding "drastic simplification of income tax returns to enable persons of ordinary intelligence to fill them in without expert legal help."

The resolution, offered by Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee, said the treasury should act at once to meet a "universal demand" for such a step. Knutson said the treasury, not congress, is responsible for the "mathematical labyrinth" taxpayers face this year.

APOLOGY LIFTS FINE IMPOSED ON WOMAN DRIVER

Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Women's court yesterday vacated a $10 fine imposed on Mrs. M. P. Davich, 1438 Summer street, Hammond, Ind., for disorderly conduct after Mrs. Davich apologized to Park Policeman Al Formiller, who had arrested her in a speeding case. Policeman Formiller complained that Mrs. Davich had called him a "lousy cop" and a "lousy 4-F." The policeman said he resented the term, as he served four years in the army in the World war.

U. S. TROOPS RAID INLAND LINES OF JAPS AT ARAWE

Artillery Blasts Path for Patrol Foray.

ADVANCED ALLIED HDQ., New Guinea, Jan. 14 [Friday]—(AP).—Japanese inland positions on Arawe peninsula, southwest New Britain, were successfully raided by American patrols Wednesday, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The Americans of the 6th army pushed into enemy territory after paths had been blasted by artillery fire. The main Japanese force there was not encountered in the action, a spokesman said.

The main American invasion force still is on the peninsula, the spokesman a·lded.

1,200 Tons Dropped.

Allied bombers continued hammering enemy bases, dropping 104 tons at Alexishafen on the northeast coast of New Guinea; 38 tons at Rabaul, northeastern New Britain, and 36 at Cape St. George, on the south tip of New Ireland.

The Alexishafen pounding brought to more than 1,200 tons the total of explosives laid on supply dumps, air fields, and gun positions here and at nearby Madang this month.

The Madang-Alexishafen sector is about 55 miles north of American invasion troops at Saidor. Australians who are pushing northward toward Saidor to form a juncture with the Americans are forcing the enemy from steep cliffs on the north bank of the Kapugara river, about 55 miles south of Saidor.

Allied airmen sank three barges filled with Jap troops attempting to evacuate this New Guinea front.

Blast Jap Destroyer.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—A large Japanese destroyer was damaged, a small auxiliary craft was sunk, and a freighter may have been damaged in an army bomber raid on Maloelap atoll, in the Marshall Islands, the navy announced today. It reported the attack was carried out Tuesday evening.

The navy's announcement also told of two attacks on Mili atoll in the Marshalls in which one army bomber was lost. The crew was saved. No report was made of damage inflicted in the raid.

Troops from West Africa Sent to Southeast Asia

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—The royal West Africa frontier force, recruited from Nigeria, Gambia, Gold Coast, and Sierra Leone, has arrived in India to serve in the allied southeast Asia command of Adm. Louis Mountbatten, it was announced today. It is the first time in the history of the four colonies that the West African force has been sent to an overseas theater of war.

BULLETIN GIVES NAZI REPORT ON WAR IN RUSSIA

The German Thursday war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press:

"Northeast of Kerch [Crimea] heavy attacks of the Bolshevists once more failed.

"After lively artillery preparation the enemy attacked on a narrow front at the bridgehead of Nikopol [Dnieper bend]. In fierce fighting which lasted thruout the day our troops scored full defensive success.

"Continuing their attacks southwest of Dnepropetrovsk [Dnieper bend] the Bolshevists again were solidly repelled.

"West of Kirovograd [Dnieper bend] soviet attacks carried out with strong infantry and tank forces began again yesterday.

"Southwest of Cherkasi [Dnieper bend] local enemy attacks were unsuccessful.

Battle West of Sarny.

"West of Berdichev [middle of Ukraine] several enemy attacks collapsed.

"In the area west of Novograd-Volynski [near Polish border] and west of Sarny [inside Poland] our troops engaged in a severe struggle with advancing enemy forces.

"Also yesterday the enemy continued his violent attacks west of Rechitsa [Gomel area].

"Around Vitebsk [east of Lithuania] enemy attempts to break thru, which had their center of gravity northwest of the town, again collapsed before the tenacious resistance of our troops. In this area the soviets lost 42 tanks.

"Northwest of Nevel [north of Vitebsk] strong attacks by enemy infantry and armored corps were repulsed. Some dents were sealed off and 14 enemy tanks shot up."

CALLS FOR FIGHT ON NEW DEALISM IN PUERTO RICO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Jan. 13.—For the first time in Puerto Rican history, a political party of this island is inviting support from mainland Americans.

Sen. Celestino Iriarte, president of the Union Republican party, which has planks similar to those of the Republican party in the United States, today appealed to all men and women from the mainland who are residents in Puerto Rico to register this week-end with a view to voting in the island election in November. Iriarte is a vigorous opponent of the policies of Rexford Guy Tugwell, New Deal governor of Puerto Rico.

In his appeal, published in the English language World Journal, Iriarte said:

"If you are against government control and regimentation of industry, agriculture, commerce, and life in general with little, if any room left for the pursuit of private enterprise; if you are against the piling up of bureaus, commissions, authorities and boards at the expense of the heavily laden taxpayer; if you desire that Puerto Rico remain under the American flag; if you wish Puerto Rico maintained as the main bastion protecting the Atlantic seaboard and the Panama canal, you are cordially invited to register as a qualified voter for the Union Republican party which in Puerto Rico stands for equal rights among all classes and for the American way of living."

The Union Republicans and the Socialist party form a coalition which is the principal opponent of the Popular Democratic party led by Sen. Luis Munoz Marin.

HOW PARTISANS TIE UP GERMANS IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Lack Modern Weapons; Fight 36 Divisions.

BY LT. COL. VLADIMIR DEDIER.

[Attached to the staff of Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz, Partisan leader of Jugo-Slavia.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 13 (AP).—In the greatest crisis of Hitler's armies, when every soldier is of vital importance to him, he is obliged to throw into battles in Jugo-Slavia—which he thought in 1941 he already had subjugated—more German divisions than are engaged in any country except Russia.

Altho we are fighting without heavy artillery, without anti-aircraft guns, and without tanks against modernly equipped enemy divisions, the day is not far distant when our Partisan army will chase from our soil the last German.

Oppose 36 Divisions.

At this moment 36 German and satellite divisions are trying on seven fronts to crush our armies. It is Hitler's third attempt in the last year.

At the end of January, 1943, the Germans threw against us 120,000 soldiers. Some of these divisions and much of this equipment were intended for Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's troops in Africa. In addition, during the Tunisian campaign we destroyed 217 German trains passing thru Jugo-Slavia.

In a second attempt last summer, Hitler launched against Tito's forces 12 divisions, of which seven were German. This prevented reënforcements from being sent to Sicily. We succeeded in breaking thru the German encirclement, inflicting more than 20,000 casualties.

Helped in Italy.

In the successful struggle against Fascist Italy, we made an important contribution. Mussolini was forced to keep in Jugo-Slavia from 18 to 20 Italian divisions. During two years' fighting 100,000 Italians perished in Jugo-Slavia.

Altho Hitler is attacking us now we are fighting back. The five railway lines to the Adriatic have been and remain cut. Almost all the German lines of communication, including the Belgrade-Zagreb railway, have been frequently attacked.

The biggest Krupps works in the Balkans, no longer produce guns for Hitler. Some German barges carrying Rumanian wheat and oil from Ploesti, Rumania, now are at the bottom of the Danube. The Kakanj coal fields, providing fuel for the German rail system in Croatia, were destroyed. The largest Jugo-Slav industry—timber—now is at a stand still.

Won Big Base.

We have carried the offensive even against the Germans' main bases. On Jan. 1, 1944, units of the 5th corps after six days of heavy fighting, broke thru and liquidated the defenses of Banja Luka—headquarters of the 2d German armored army corps assigned to protect the Adriatic coast against allied invasion—tho we could not hold the base.

At the present moment the Germans are trying to penetrate on only one front. In a five pronged attack thru the river valleys of western Bosnia they are trying to break into the ancient town of Jajce.

Meanwhile our liberated territory has grown from one-fifth to over one-half of Jugo-Slavia and our army has increased from 100,000 to almost 300,000.

Strike at Nazi Route.

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—Jugo-Slav Partisans under Marshal Josip [Tito] Broz are striking back vigorously at a principal supply route for the Nazi thrust into the heart of liberated territory, they announced today.

The broadcast by the Free Jugo-Slav radio said the guerrillas also were continuing offensive operations in Bosnia.

Jugo-Slav sources in London said the Nazis, bolstered by reënforcements, apparently were attempting to break thru guerrilla defenses in the Dinaric alps toward the Adriatic, thereby splitting the main forces of Tito's Partisans.

TYPHUS SPREADS IN NAPLES; FEAR GREATER PERIL

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 13 (AP).—The typhus epidemic raging in Naples is 50 times as extensive as it was in October and has become a potential menace to the allied war effort, altho the disease has not spread to the troops, Brig. Gen. Leon A. Fox of Birmingham, Ala., said today.

[A Naples dispatch on Dec. 26 said there were 250 cases of typhus, a tenfold increase since October. A dispatch on Jan. 5 said the number had increased to 350 in 10 days. Gen. Fox's statement would indicate an increase of 900 cases in the last week.]

Several hundred thousand units of vaccine have been flown to Naples and delousing of civilians is being carried on at the rate of 30,000 a day. Fox said it was hoped to increase the delousing to 50,000 daily. He added that the American vaccine production program is adequate to protect allied forces.

TRIPLE PRONGED DRIVES CLOSE ON ITALIAN BASTION

French, Yanks, British Push on Cassino.

ALLIED HDQ., Algiers, Jan. 13 (AP).—French troops under Gen. Alphonse Juin opened a flanking drive thru Italy's rugged Apennine mountains and seized peaks overlooking Acquafondala, seven miles northeast of Cassino, the allied command announced today. American infantry in a frontal assault from captured Cervaro pushed within three miles of Cassino, main German stronghold on the 5th army front.

American forces entered Cervaro at 1 p. m. yesterday. British units on their left fought forward along the railway leading into Cassino and menaced Nazi control of the last heights southeast of the city. Cassino, thus stripped of its main defenses to the east, southeast and south, was expected to fall soon.

Whole 5th Army on Move.

Virtually the entire 5th army was on the move, but the 8th still had not renewed its offensive on the north, or Adriatic, end of the line.

[Thursday's German war bulletin said the 5th army "extended its attacks to the sector north of Venafro." It asserted that "enemy attacks launched after intense artillery fire against our hill positions were repelled with heavy losses inflected on the attackers. Two local dents made by the enemy were sealed off. On the extreme western wing there were vanguard fights at the Garigliano river."]

28 Nazis Bagged at Sofia.

Thick weather grounded heavy bombers of the United States 15th air force yesterday, but American medium and fighter bombers pounded enemy positions and communications behind the line. Two Nazi planes were shot down and three allied craft were missing.

The air force announced that a recount of Monday's air fight over Sofia, Bulgaria, showed that Flying Fortresses and their Lightning [P-38] fighter escort shot down 28 out of 60 Nazi interceptors. The Americans lost only two planes.

ORGANIZES HUNT FOR MISSIONERS LOST IN JUNGLE

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Jan. 13 (AP).—The United States embassy said today Capt. Bruce Baumgarden was organizing a searching party in Santa Cruz to hunt for five missionaires reported missing for two months in the Bolivian jungles and that he would attempt to use jeeps.

[In Chicago the men, representing the New Tribes mission, were identified Tuesday by Roy J. Oestreicher, manager of the mission, as Cecil A. Dye, leader of the missing group; Robert Dye, his brother;

CRITICIZE REDS' CLAIMS TO BIG SLICE OF POLAND

Congressmen Say Soviet Offer Is 'Mockery.'

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Members of congress today complained that Russia's bold claim to half of Poland makes a jest of allied nations' coöperation and a mockery of the four freedoms.

"Poland wants only two freedoms—freedom from Hitler and freedom from Stalin," said Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.]. "It now appears that the Poles are to get freedom from Hitler, but only at the price of slavery to Stalin.

"Is the starved man in the street of Sarny [Polish town captured by the Russians] to hail the Red banner at the town's postoffice as an emblem of liberation? Can he forget that four and a half years ago the same flag was raised in the same place as an ally of Hitler?

Forgotten by U. S.

"The absence of the American flag or any allied flag beside the Red flag is significant to the man in the street at Sarny. It can only mean to him that his country has been forgotten by its best friend, the United States."

Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] asserted the Russian offer of East Prussia to Poland in recompense for the territory the soviets intend to keep constitutes either a careless sowing of dragon's teeth for another war or a cleverly calculated scheme to eventually bring Poland into the Red state.

"Britain and France declared war on Germany because Hitler attacked Poland over the Polish corridor, which separated East Prussia from the rest of the reich," the senator said. "To return the corridor and give Poland East Prussia would preclude any possibility of friendly relations between the two states.

Fear Campaign Issue.

"With a violent mortal enemy on her western border, it would seem Poland would be forced to be friendly with Russia. This appears to be the Russian aim, possibly with the ultimate goal of making Poland a state in the union of soviet republics.

"The Russians have made it clear they have no intention of dealing with the Polish government in exile in London with which they do not maintain diplomatic relations. Stalin appears ready to set up a Polish government of his own selection, which will undoubtedly be a puppet of the Kremlin."

In New Deal circles fears were expressed that the Russo-Polish question will be a major issue of the Presidential campaign.

Poles Study Proposed Frontier.

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—Progress toward settlement of the Russian-Polish boundary dispute was indicated tonight by developments in both London and Moscow.

After almost continuous meetings since Russia on Tuesday suggested the Curzon line as a settlement basis, the Polish government in London postponed a reply while the Polish premier and foreign minister conferred with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. It was understood, however, that the Polish answer had been drafted.

Soviet maps located the Curzon line as following a course from north of Grodno, past Yelovka, Memirov, Brest Litovsk, Dorogubsk, and Ustilug, east of Grubesjov, thru Krylov, westward to Rawa Ruska, then east of Przemysl to the Carpathian mountains. The Polish-Lithuanian border was listed as fixed north of Grodno.

NAVY IDENTIFIES DESTROYER SUNK BY JAP PLANES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The navy reported today that a destroyer sunk by Japanese planes at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, Dec. 27, was the 2,100 ton U. S. S. Brownson.

Comdr. J. B. Maher.

At the same time the navy announced that there were 30 survivors of the U. S. S. St. Augustine, a gunboat which was sunk off Cape May, N. J., Jan. 6.

The sinking of the Brownson by enemy bombers during the landings of United States troops at Cape Gloucester previously was announced in a bulletin issued by allied headquarters for the Southwest Pacific without the ship being named. The navy said that 208 members of her crew survived, among them Comdr. Joseph B. Maher of Woodmont, Conn.

Loss of the gunboat St. Augustine was announced by the 4th naval district at Philadelphia the day after she sank.

Mexico's Auto Owners to Get No Tires in '44

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 13.—It was officially announced today that no tires or inner tubes will be sold for private automobile use during 1944. It was explained that the United States had granted only 4,300 tons of synthetic rubber for the year, which will barely meet the needs of the Mexican military and public services.

Yank Flyers Tell of Aerial Hell in Great Battle Over Germany

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—It was a grim aerial game of musical chairs, with one bomber moving up, step by step, taking the place of others shot down. . . .

It was a shell fragment slicing an astonished gunner's ammunition belt and a boy jabbing himself with a morphine needle to numb an aching shoulder. . . .

It was a hell of planes plunging wildly. . . .

The whole story of one of the war's great battles in the American raid on central Germany Tuesday probably never will be told because it is a thousand things to thousands of men.

Loss Amazes Crewmen.

More than 700 bombers and 500 fighters spread over miles of sky and each one's experience was different. Some got thru unscathed and their crews couldn't believe 60 of their number went down. Others were amazed that they got home.

It started like other missions, but the main objectives were three of the Nazis' prime fighter plants a little more than 100 miles from Berlin.

"I kind of expected all hell to break loose," said one Fortress pilot.

The Nazis quickly ascertained that the raiders were heading for prize industrial targets hidden deep in Germany. They threw up everything they had—single engined and twin engined fighters, Stuka dive bombers, tow bombs, and rocket planes.

[A German broadcast said a new weapon, "trailing balloon bombs," was used for the first time Tuesday. It said the bombs are towed by fighters and released amid attacking squadrons. American airmen earlier had reported the Nazis used such "tag-along" bombs during the air battle.]

"The enemy fighters started their attack over Holland as the Zuider Zee—in spite of our escort they came at us in bunches," said Brig. Gen. Robert Travis of Savannah, Ga., formation leader.

"Our first attack was from four Focke-Wulfs, the next from 30, then from 12. Then they just kept on coming. They attacked straight thru our formation and from all angles without even rolling over."

Like a Fleet's Attack.

The attack gathered intensity as the bombers fanned out toward Brunswick, Halberstadt, and Oschersleben, and dropped thousands of bombs on the airplane factories.

"It was a perfect day for bombing and we could see plenty of damage," said Lt. John Raedeke of Waterville, Minn., a pilot.

The German fighters could not save their spawning places, but to the rivet gun hammering of thousands of American machine guns the Nazi rocket planes milled around like a naval flotilla and let fly with broadsides. Swifter enemy fighters zoomed in to follow up.

The sky was smudged thickly with black explosions. Jagged fragments of German steel zinged thru layers of American duralumin, clanked against American armorplate—and slashed into American flesh.

"I saw our right wing man go down in the smoke," said a gunner, "and when I looked out the other side our left wing man was gone too. It seemed as if planes were dropping like flies--ours as well as theirs."

"Scared," Says an Illinoisan.

"We were at the back of the formation when we started," another airman said. "But every time a Fort would go down we would move up. By the time we got hit we were in the lead squadron."

"Those fighters were coming in frantically mad—and I was frantically scared," Bombardier Lt. Walter Gibson of Lyndon, Ill., confessed.

The ninth German nailed by Raedeke's "Hit Parade" plunged out of control and hit a near-by Fortress, which burst into flame and crashed down across "Hit Parade's" tail, shearing off most of the stabilizers. However, "Hit Parade" survived and eluded pursuing enemy fighters.

On a hundred other ships shells smashed interphone lines over which men were frantically signaling. Fragments cut oxygen lines, sending men groping for emergency bottles. Forty below zero gales froze gunners' faces and hands.

Wounded Men Treated.

Bleeding men were lifted carefully into the protection of radio rooms. Their uniforms were cut away and sulfanilamide powder was poured into their wounds, the pain of which was dulled by morphine needles.

The Germans kept after the raiders most of the way back to the channel coast, two hours or more.

Many of the planes landed at the first base they saw to get gas or aid the wounded. Lt. Jack Watson of Indianapolis came back all by himself in a plane so battered and burning he had made the rest of the crew bail out as soon as they were over England.

Boost Nazi Losses

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—American airmen shot down at least 152 German fighters at a record cost of 60 bombers and five fighters in the war's greatest sky battle Tuesday, it was disclosed tonight.

The 8th air force hiked enemy fighter losses from 100 to 152 and added one American heavy bomber to the 59 announced yesterday as lost on the raid made by more than 1,200 fighters and bombers.

Reconnaissance pictures disclosed the great damage inflicted on German aircraft plants at Oschersleben, Brunswick, and Halberstadt.

Another official disclosure revealed that the newest and longest range single engine fighter plane, the American P-51B Mustang, accompanied the bombers into Germany. Pilots of these swift planes accounted for at least 14 Germans.

R. A. F. fighters shot down eight German planes on offensive patrols over northern France today.

INJURED WABASH RAIL EMPLOYE IS AWARDED $35,000

A jury in the federal District court of Judge Michael L. Igoe last night returned a verdict awarding $35,000 damages to Oliver Guest, 53 years old, of Reddick, Kankakee county, in his suit against the Wabash railroad. Evidence submitted by his attorney, Royal W. Irwin, showed that Guest, a railroad employe, was sitting outside a bunk car in the yards at 75th street and Western avenue on Sept. 8, 1941, when a door from a passing freight car fell upon him. His spine was fractured, inflicting permanent injuries. Guest entered court in a wheel chair. The trial was the third, the first having ended in disagreement and the second in a judgment of $23.500.

'OCTOPUS' HAGUE ABSORBS PARTY, EDISON ASSERTS

Governor Denounces Democrat Boss.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 13 [Special].—Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City has "almost absorbed the Democratic party like an octopus," Democratic Gov. Charles Edison of New Jersey said here today as he prepared for the windup of his three year term next Monday at midnight. His successor will be Walter E. Edge, a Republican and former governor.

Republicans have controled both houses of the legislature since 1937 and Edison expressed the opinion that the Democrats will be unable to regain control as long as Mayor Hague continues to be the party's "No. 1 power" in the state.

Called a Frankenstein.

"So long as the citizens of Democratic faith are saddled with this Frankenstein, they will continue to lose and lose elections," the governor asserted. "I distinguish between the Democratic party and Mr. Hague's business enterprise, which he has fastened on the Democratic party. His business enterprise is on the wane and I think the Democratic party in the state will blossom in ratio to the speed with which his enterprise does wane.

"There is a Democratic party, distinguished from those who go into politics for profit. Mr. Hague has gone in so far that he has almost absorbed the party like an octopus."

Point to Meaney Judgeship.

Altho Edison served as secretary of the navy in President Roosevelt's cabinet before becoming governor, he has expressed concern over the fact that while he has been trying to break Mayor Hague's political power, federal patronage has gone to Hague supporters.

The naming of Thomas J. Meaney as a federal judge over the governor's protest and the recent appointment of Dr. Edward J. Jennings as acting postmaster of Trenton were singled out as demonstrations of the mayor's influence in Washington.

SPANISH ARMY STILL FIGHTING FOR NAZIS, RED EMBASSY SAYS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The soviet embassy said today that altho Spain is formally nonbelligerent, "actually, she is an ally of Hitler Germany."

An article in the embassy's information bulletin said that, despite Spanish press announcements that the Spanish blue division has been withdrawn from the Russian front, a Spanish legion is still fighting "on one of the sectors of the Volkhov front."

A Spanish air squadron, "which systematically receives replenishments," also is stationed on the eastern battle line, the bulletin asserted.

CHICAGO MARINE IN PACIFIC AREA WOUNDED AGAIN

Mrs. Helen Wygal, 340 Bloom street, Highland Park, has been notified by the navy department that her son, Pvt. William T. Wygal, 20 years old, of the marines, was wounded in action Jan. 2 in the Pacific area. It was his second battle wound. He lost the tip of a finger in the fighting on Tarawa. The nature of his second wound was not indicated. Wygal was a postoffice employe in Highland Park before entering the marines. Mrs. Wygal has another son, Lt. Lawrence Wygal, an army pilot.

8,000 RECRUITED HERE SERVE ON MERCHANT SHIPS

More than 8,000 of the 125,000 officers and men aboard ships of the United States merchant marine have been recruited in the Chicago area, Lt. [j. g.] F. L. Edwards of the 6th regional war shipping administration office said yesterday. In the 25 months since war was declared the recruitment and manning organization also has returned more than 20,000 former seamen to ship duty.

At present 28,000 of the 52,400 men recruited by the United States maritime service and the merchant marine cadet corps are completing training in maritime training stations or aboard ships preparatory to manning new merchant vessels as they are completed.

Casualties among merchant seamen were higher in early months of the war than those among the military services and still are relatively high. More than 4,800 merchant seamen are listed as dead or missing and 538 are prisoners of war. Forty-seven men have received the merchant marine distinguished service medal and 15,500 others have received combat bars, known unofficially as "torpedo pins."

Lake County Marine Pilot Killed in Florida Crash

Lt. George Lodesky, a marine fighter pilot, was killed Wednesday in a crash of his plane near Jacksonville, Fla., according to official notice received yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Alice Lodesky of Wadsworth, Lake county. Lt. Lodesky was 21 years old and was stationed at Green Cove Springs, Fla. He enlisted in the navy Nov. 11, 1942, but was transferred to marine air service in September, 1943. He is survived by two sisters, Rita, a nurse in training at St. Francis' hospital, Evanston, and Lois.

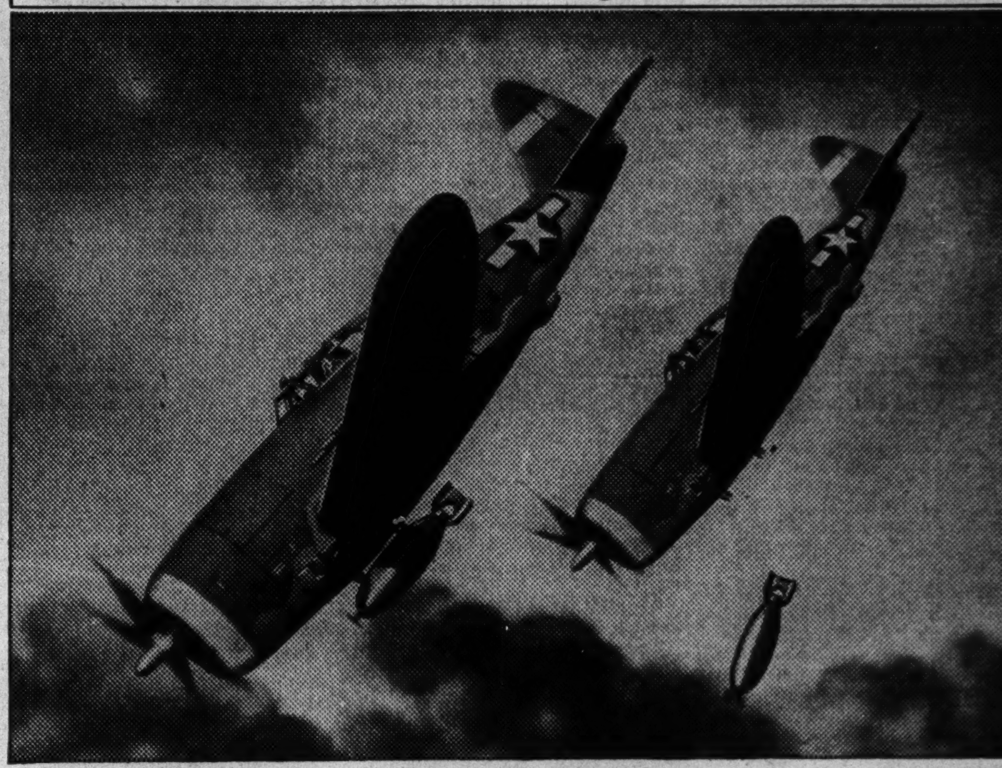
Double Woe for Nazis as P-47 Fighters Become Bombers



"...The U. S. 8th Air Force has converted the P-47 Thunderbolt fighter plane into the fastest dive-bomber in the world. Hurtling almost straight toward the enemy at 500 miles an hour, the Thunderbolts in their dive-bomber debut caught the German defenses flat-footed. The Thunderbolt comes in at extremely high altitude, dives nearly three miles, and releases its bombs from an altitude still higher than that from which medium bombers usually attack..." U. S. JURY PROBES ARREST OF GIRL IN CHAPLIN CASE

Actor's Employes Are Questioned.

White he wouldn't do any favors for Chaplin he did impose the suspended sentence. Miss Berry told later that when she left court "a policeman handed me a tourist ticket to New York and $100."

However, she went only as far as Omaha, then she returned to Beverly Hills to see Chaplin. Another alleged altercation ensued and she was arrested as a probation violator. She was sent to the county jail but her friends obtained her release. Last July 11 she appeared again before Judge Griffin, withdrew her plea of guilty to the vagrancy charge and the record was expunged.

It is the government's contention that the charge and her "railroading" were a violation of her civil rights because she was wearing a $1,500 fox coat, still believed herself under contract to Chaplin, and made her home with her mother here at the time.

Last June she sued Chaplin as the father of her then unborn child and, tho he denied being the father, he agreed to pay her $15,800 for hospital and other costs pending blood tests to be made next month to determine paternity of the child.

Two weeks after the civil action was started, Chaplin eloped with Oona O'Neil, 18 year old daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neil, his fourth youthful wife.

Atty. Jerry Giesler, who successfully defended Errol Flynn against rape charges a year ago, appeared for Chaplin today and declared "this whole thing is absurd." He said Chaplin has nothing to conceal "but does not see why he should appear for any private questioning."

FATHER CHARGED WITH MURDER OF SUBNORMAL SON

Pittsfield, Mass., Jan. 13 (AP).—John Franklin Noxon Jr., 47 year old corporation lawyer, was indicted on charges of murder in the first degree today by the Berkshire county grand jury in the electrocution, Sept. 22, of his 6 month old subnormal son, Lawrence.

Defense counsel said it would file a motion to have the indictment quashed and also would request the names of witnesses who testified before the jury. Noxon, who is being held in Berkshire county jail, will be arraigned next week. Former Gov. Joseph B. Ely will be associated with counsel defending Noxon.

A Boston specialist had described the baby as of the Mongoloid type and had indicated little hope for his mental and physical improvement.

ARMY MERGES EAST, CENTRAL U. S. COMMANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Secretary of War Stimson announced the consolidation of the eastern and central defense commands today "to effect an economy in personnel, as well as to simplify the procedures of operation of the commands." The consolidation, to take effect Saturday, will release many units for overseas duty, Stimson said.

Lt. Gen. George Grunert, present eastern defense commander, will head the consolidated command, with headquarters in New York. Lt. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, chief of the central defense command, will continue as commander of the 2d army, with headquarters in Memphis, Tenn.

The central defense command includes Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia, Ohio, Minnesota, Missouri, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming, and Colorado. The eastern defense command includes eastern seaboard states.

Glass Breaking Fan, 17, Seized in 20 Burglaries

George Miller, 17 years old, 6406 Dorchester avenue, released eight months ago from the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles, who said he was "crazy about breaking glass," will be arraigned in the Boys' court today on charges of burglary in a score of cleaning and dyeing shops, laundries, and restaurants in the Woodlawn district. Police said he admitted obtaining $1 to $50 in most of the places after smashing a window. He was seized early yesterday.

Jupiter Looks Like Star Clinging to Edge of Moon

That little star that many Chicagoans saw hanging on the edge of the moon at 7:59.1 a. m. yesterday wasn't a star at all, Miss Maude Bennot, director of Adler planetarium, explained. It was the planet Jupiter, which was just coming out of a state of being eclipsed by the moon. The eclipse started at 6:55.9 a. m., Miss Bennot added. There will be no eclipse this morning, she said, by the moon or by Jupiter.

SEDITION CASE STRESSES REDS' IMMUNITY IN U.S.

Same Crimes Committed but No Action Taken.

and tried instead of in their home communities.

The story unfolded in the new indictment is that the Nazis came into power in Germany in 1933 with a program to "destroy democracy thruout the world" and to establish Nazi or Fascist forms of government in the United States and other countries. To attain this object the Nazis disseminated propaganda "to impair and undermine the loyalty and morale" of the American army and navy.

American bundists coöperated with the Nazis and circulated the German anti-Semitic and other propaganda. Because other American propagandists circulated anti-Semitic propaganda the department charges that they engaged in the Nazi conspiracy.

Connection Is Denied.

The majority of the defendants deny any connection with the conspiracy and assert they are innocent of any "intent to interfere with, impair, and influence the loyalty, morale, and discipline of the military and naval forces of the United States," as charged in the indictment.

That political considerations dominated the action of the department in this, as in numerous other prosecutions under the Roosevelt administration, is indicated not only by the belated action to scotch the Nazi conspiracy to undermine our form of government but by the inaction against the Communists whose plot against the American government was well known to the department.

Said Atty. Gen. Biddle in ordering the deportation of Harry Bridges in 1941:

"The Communist party of the U. S. A., from the time of its inception in 1919 to the present time, is an organization that believes in, advises, advocates, and teaches the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States." Moreover, said the attorney general, the Communist party now and ever since 1919 has printed, circulated, displayed, and published propaganda to have the United States government overthrown by force and violence.

Berlin Link Sought.

In the case of the Nazi conspiracy the department will endeavor to establish the close relationship between the bund and the German government, tho the indictment does not charge that the bund was subsidized by Berlin. The Communist subverters were subsidized by the soviet Russian government, according to the testimony of Benjamin Gitlow before the Dies committee in 1939.

Gitlow testified that between 1922 and 1929, when he was secretary of the Communist party, Moscow contributed from $100,000 to $150,000 annually for American Communist party activities. When the Daily Worker, Communist party organ, was started in Chicago in 1924, Moscow subsidized it initially with $35,000. Moscow furnished William Z. Foster $25,000 to start the trade union educational league in 1922 and an additional $50,000 in 1927 and 1928.

Gitlow said $100,000 was received from Moscow in 1924 for a campaign to wrest control of the United Mine Workers from John L. Lewis. In 1928 Gitlow said he was furnished with $23,450 of Russian funds for a campaign among American miners.

Relief Funds Kept by Party.

Gitlow also testified that friends of soviet Russia collected 1 million dollars in America in 1922 for famine victims in Russia, but the money never reached the soviet union. A large part of it, he said, was kept by the American party. He could not say what subsidies the party has received from Russia since Earl Browder became its secretary but thought they must be large, for party expenditures, he estimated, were 1¼ millions in 1939 and the party never has been self-supporting.

On April 1, 1940, the Daily Worker registered with the state department under the act requiring the registration of foreign agents but at the same time denied it was a foreign agent. Late in 1940 the Communist party dissolved connection with the Communist international at Moscow in order to avoid the necessity of registering as a foreign agent. The party at the same time denounced the registration act as "harmful and destructive of the democratic rights of the people, as designed to coerce the people into submission to the entry of the United States into the imperialist war, and as a part of the sweep of fascization over the capitalistic world."

Utterances Recalled.

In the Nazi conspiracy indictment the department of justice quotes utterances of the defendants to prove that they sought to undermine the loyalty and morale of the army and navy. One of such utterances follows:

"The participation of the United States in the war has been deliberately planned by our leaders with the ultimate air of promoting our enslavement by British imperialism and international communism."

With this may be compared the following statement made with impunity in 1940 by Earl Browder, head of the Communist party:

"Not a cent, not a gun, not a man for war preparations. No aid to the imperialist war makers in London. Oppose all war loans and credits to the warring imperialist powers. Stop the sale and shipment of munitions and armaments. Resist the militarization and armaments program of the administration and congress. Combat the imperialist policies and acts of the President."

F. D. R. Called Plotter.

At a Communist rally in New York in May, 1940, Browder denounced the President, Wall street, and "economic royalists" as plotters to get the country into war.

Branded as subversive in the indictment of those charged with the Nazi conspiracy is the utterance that "President Roosevelt is reprehensible, a war monger, liar, unscrupulous, and a pawn of the Jews, Communists, and plutocrats." The department perceived no peril to the loyalty and morale of the army and navy in the Communist Daily Worker's characterization of the President as a "war monger attempting to plunge American youth into the maelstrom of another European conflict merely to save the British empire."

Paralleling virtually all of the utterances of the propagandists indicted for the Nazi conspiracy are utterances of the Communists during the period they picketed the White House, incited strikes in war industries, and otherwise opposed American intervention in the war. When Hitler attacked Russia June 21, 1941, the Communists changed their tune, accepting the party line dictated by Moscow. Browder, whom President Roosevelt had liberated from prison where he was serving a sentence for passport fraud, suddenly found the imperialist war a holy war. The President no longer was a war monger in Communist eyes.

There is now much speculation on whether Browder's latest move to disband the Communist party was directed by Stalin. It apparently stems from the Teheran conference and the agreements reached there by Stalin, President Roosevelt, and Prime Minister Churchill.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Helen G. Horrigan, 542 Rush street.]

THE QUESTION.

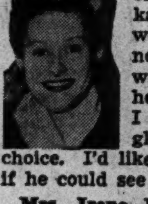
What was the most important decision you ever had to make?

WHERE ASKED.

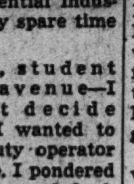
London Guarantee building, 360 North Michigan avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

Margot Wade, dancer, 1427 North Dearborn street—My father wanted me to be a school teacher and I wanted to be a dancer. I studied and became a dancer, and am glad I did. I wouldn't trade my present career for anything I can imagine. My father was proud of me too, after he'd seen me perform.

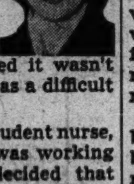


Mrs. Mary Blencoe, switchboard operator, 4322 Kenmore avenue—My mother received an offer of a job in Alaska and asked me to go with her. The man, now my husband, wanted me to stay here and marry him. I stayed home. I'm glad I made that choice. I'd like to see Alaska only if he could see it with me.

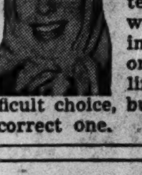


Mrs. Irene Kautz, secretary, 54 East Elm street—My husband is at Camp Wolters, Tex., and it was up to me to decide whether I would stay in Chicago or make the army camp circuit with him. I decided I would be bringing him home sooner by staying here and working in an essential industry and contributing my spare time to Red Cross work.

Miss Marie Peterson, student nurse, 427 Dickens avenue—I couldn't decide whether I wanted to be a beauty operator or a nurse. I pondered for months, and finally decided I would be helping end the war quicker and also equipping myself for a more secure future by learning nursing.



Miss Suzanne Adams, student, Allerton hotel—A short time ago many of my girl friends were contemplating marriage. The air was full of white veils and orange blossoms. A boy with whom I had gone thru school asked me to marry him. I was fond of him, but decided it wasn't the right thing. That was a difficult decision.



Miss Lois Winquist, student nurse, 427 Dickens avenue—I was working when I decided that nursing might be a pleasant career. It was a question of determining whether I was more interested in immediate money or a more satisfying life. That was a difficult choice, but I feel I made the correct one.

DFFY JAN. 13TH JINX TO CLEAVE $200,000 STONE

155 Carat Liberator of Venezuela Cut.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Adrian Grasselly's fingers trembled slightly today as he fitted a chisel in a groove cut on something that looked like sea worn glass. He squinted at the object thru a jeweler's glass and then, with a decisive smack, rapped the chisel with a steel bar.

With a pistol shot sound, a piece flew from the vise onto the table. One of the men grouped around Grasselly snatched it up. After an inspection, he nodded his head.

$200,000 Safe.

The Liberator, largest diamond ever found in Venezuela, had been cleaved successfully. A $200,000 investment was safe.

Harry Winston, owner of the diamond, was the first to speak. His words were addressed to a man presiding over bottles, glasses, and ice.

"Mr. Grasselly," he said, "will take his straight."

Weighs 155 Carats.

The rough stone, weighing 155 carats, was found in November, 1942, by three prospectors. It weighed far less than the 3,000 carat Cullinan or the South African Jonker, which Winston purchased for $900,000 and cut into several gems, one alone weighing 126 carats and valued at a million dollars. But the Liberator was of excellent color and purity.

Winston bought the stone last November and since then his diamond cutters have been studying its grain and flaws and plotting the sizes and shapes of the jewels to be cut from it.

"We decided to divide it in three parts," Winston said, "but even so we'll lose about 50 per cent of the original weight in cutting."

In spite of this, Winston believes the gems will sell for a total of between $250,000 and $275,000. The cleaving by Grasselly was the first step in the long cutting process.

"If our plotting was wrong or the chisel was struck from the wrong angle or too hard, the stone might have shattered into bits," Winston said.

"This has been a very nerve racking day. My wife gave birth to our second child early this morning; you can't tell how the cleaving is going to come out—and it's the 13th of the month."

ARMY PROBING NAZI PRISONER'S FATAL BEATING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The war department reported today that the army is conducting an investigation to identify the German war prisoners responsible for the fatal beating of one of their own number at Camp Hearne, Tex., last month.

"A German prisoner of war was beaten by fellow prisoners in the barracks at Camp Hearne, Tex., the night of Dec. 17, 1943," the department announced.

"He was rescued by the American guards and taken to McCloskey General hospital, where he died from his injuries on Dec. 23, 1943.

"Investigation is being conducted by the American authorities in an effort to identify the prisoners responsible for the beating."

BANK PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO ENEMY TRADING

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—The Chase National bank pleaded innocent today to two federal grand jury indictments charging conspiracy and violation of the trading with the enemy act. Judge Henry W. Goddard set Feb. 1 for hearings of motions.

Indictments filed yesterday charged that the bank and Leonard J. A. Smit, an international dealer in industrial diamonds, violated the act by conspiring and engaging in illegal sale and export of industrial diamonds. Smit pleaded innocent at an arraigment yesterday.

TWENTY-ONE VOTES FOR WILLKIE.

The Willkie bandwagon looks more and more like a hearse every day. The people who are trying to give Mr. Roosevelt the fourth term by default came to Chicago claiming as many as 60 votes in the Republican national committee for their proposal to take the national convention to New York, the only city where they had any hope of repeating the Philadelphia trickery of four years ago. But when the Associated Press took a secret poll of the committeemen and committeewomen Willkie had exactly 21 supporters in a committee numbering 106.

Mr. Willkie has been waging a comprehensive and expensive campaign for the nomination for months. Mr. Roosevelt during the last three years did everything within his power to build up his stooge; still Mr. Willkie's strength is diminishing daily. The poll does not mean that Mr. Willkie will go into the convention with a fifth of the delegates' votes, or anywhere near that number. While the voters' names were not published, the sources of Willkie's strength were pretty well known until the Chicago meeting, when some of his supposed supporters began to jump off the hearse. His present most active supporters are in New England and the Pacific northwest. The New England states, with the exception of Massachusetts, swing little weight in the convention, and even less in the electoral college, and Washington and Oregon have a similarly small vote. There are also some southern Willkie supporters, attracted by the idea of a Wall street bankroll, but they will have little voice in the convention, and none, of course, in the election.

Mr. Willkie is now as flat politically as he is rotund physically. It will not be surprising before long to find Mr. Roosevelt turning to his banker friends to dig up another barefoot boy. If they cannot fool the country with Willkie they will try some other fraud. It is too late for that. The country is sick of "campaign oratory" and of men who confess, without shame, that they said what they did not believe, and promised what they had no intention of performing, merely to catch votes.

The way is open for the Republican party to nominate an honest American for the Presidency. That nomination will spell the political doom of Mr. Roosevelt.

PANTY WAISTS, ETC.

There are critical shortages of children's clothing, according to a survey made by the American Home Economics association. There are not enough panty waists, at least not enough of the right kind. And there are shortages of overalls, warm coats, and stockings. According to a Chicago merchant the lack of an item not included in the home economics list is of a more serious character. The supply of babies is greater than the supply of diapers. There are not enough diapers to go around.

The shortages are not owing to any lack of raw material. We have plenty of cotton and plenty of wool. What has happened is that many of the textile mills which used to supply the home trade are no longer making things for little Tommie, Dickie, and Harriet. They are working on government orders. They are doing that either because they have been told they have to or because the OPA ceilings on civilian goods are so low that the government merchandise is the only profitable product.

But at last the war production board has taken some account of the needs of American children. It has set aside a great quantity of material for the exclusive use of the home trade and it has scheduled 60 million garments or pairs of stockings for production in the next three months. Some of the items are 6 million pairs of girls' panties, ages 2 to 16; 4,356,000 undershirts, ages 6 to 16; 3,396,000 shorts to go with the 4,356,000 undershirts, thus apparently leaving a million boys to go around with tops only; 18,000,000 pairs of infants' anklets, and 1,942,000 pairs of overalls for ages up to 6. [What about the working people over 6?]

All restrictions on the use of synthetic rubber for babies' pants and crib sheets are off. Another order authorizes a 100 per cent increase in the production of safety pins. The diaper situation, however, has not yet been met and if you need one and haven't one handy it is still desirable to write your congressman.

The increases authorized in the manufacture of children's garments and supplies may give some relief. But hasn't the time come for the government to stop saying how many underdrawers are authorized and what the country's production of safety pins shall be? The supply of a growing list of raw materials has outrun any military need for them. There are mountains of military goods accumulated and awaiting disposition. Why not release some manufacturers from the war business entirely and tell them to produce what they can in what quantities they think the market requires? That's the way our needs were always met before. That's a sure way to combat inflation.

NEGLECTED VETERANS.

Senators and representatives in Washington, bombarded with letters from angry soldiers who have been waiting months for the disability payments they were supposed to receive for war incurred injuries, have been investigating the veterans' administration.

They have found that the veterans' administration is about four months behind in its work. The fault does not lie in any obvious inefficiencies within that government bureau, but rather in a shortage of clerks. The veterans' administration has 85,177 claims not acted upon and has been given no extra employes to help clear these applications for payment. Congressional lawyers say that Mr. Roosevelt could remedy this situation with the stroke of a pen by issuing an executive order. There are plenty of government clerks and typists in other bureaus who could be assigned to the job.

The returned veterans who may have heard Mr. Roosevelt promise the soldiers mustering out pay, jobs, compensation for injuries, and half the world on a silver platter are bumping up against Roosevelt realities now. As long as the New Deal is running the show the veterans will be lucky if they live long enough to receive the disability compensation congress provided for them when the war started.

THE FIRING SQUAD AT VERONA.

Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law and one time foreign minister, having lived the life, has died the death. There is no reason to doubt the accuracy of the two Berlin radio reports, one that Ciano, Gen. De Bono, and 16 other members of the former Fascist grand council had been tried in Verona for treason and condemned to death; the other that Ciano, De Bono, and the three other former Fascists in the hands of their enemies at the time of the trial had been expeditiously shot the next morning.

Ciano, who was 40 years old, had gathered many clusters of grapes in the Fascist vineyard after the manner of the totalitarians in both Italy and Germany. The spoils go to the victors. He had married Mussolini's slightly Borgian daughter, Edda, picked up a great fortune, and enjoyed a pleasurable social, as well as an exciting diplomatic life, displaying himself as a genial fellow as well as an astute and powerful one. When Mussolini was deposed the son-in-law had the misfortune to escape from custody and was taken by the Germans before he could get into Switzerland. Edda is a widow. She may be a merry one.

Hitler's Italian theme is that Mussolini was too big for the Italian people. That wasn't understood to be his story when the two had their meeting just before Il Duce was pushed over in Rome, but, having whisked the fallen Caesar out of his captors' hands, he has reason for sticking to the old axis theory of greatness. Benito in his better days was a much better chin thrower and chest expander than Adolf. Adolf's soldiers made Benito's look silly at goose stepping, but Der Fuehrer never had the personal pomp and circumstance of his Italian friend. Physically Adolf looked up to Benito.

It would be strange if any wave of indignation swept over Italy at Ciano's death unless it were that his enemy, Ferinacci, the castor oil Fascist, could make any victim an object of sympathy. Nevertheless the Nazis and the Fascists have taken their chances with a precedent. The immediate effect is intended to teach waverers in Germany and Italy what happens to men, however important, in the two regimes when they become suspected of irregularity. That goes also for the Balkans. The other effect, deferred for the time even in Italy, is to sanction summary extinction of partisan opponents.

Every remaining Fascist of any record has placed a warrant for his own death sentence in the hands of people who have suffered from him. There are many Italians of note in a no man's land between acceptance and rejection of fascism. Past associations and their present attitudes are at variance. Among them is the constitutional head of the government, the king, whose conduct has been more constitutional than courageous, more pliant than principled. Liberals, such as Croce and Sforza, probably are not men for stern retribution. The Italian notables who were not prisoners when they were sentenced to death at Verona, including Dino Grandi, may be willing to call in the executioners if they ever get a free hand.

There is no evidence that the animosities of this war will die down when the firing stops. The governments allied against nazism have given their word that there will be no amnesty for any person charged with and convicted of crimes in the occupied countries or in Germany itself. That pronouncement puts nearly every one of military or civil importance in the prisoner's dock and includes thousands of agents who have had a subordinate part. The character of the final stages of the war and of the first stages of the peace are thus outlined.

Editorial of the Day

PEACE INSURANCE OF THE FUTURE.
[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

Revelation by James Forrestal, undersecretary of the navy, that in 1943 American shipyards turned out 65 aircraft carriers of all types is very bad news for Hitler and Tojo, particularly the latter.

However, no less important than Undersecretary Forrestal's disclosure of this production achievement, and his statement that America now has the greatest sea and air striking power in history, is his question, "What shall we do with this power when the war is over? Shall we destroy it as we did a quarter of our combatant tonnage in 1922 and go back to bed for another 20 years?"

The answer of all thoughtful Americans should be "Positively no!" For a good many years after the war strong arms will be peace insurance for America. We must keep that insurance in working order.

Of all the sexes, the strangest is one that braves the winter blast without even a layer of leg paint, and weeps because it is misunderstood.—New Haven Register.

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 16.

1. A davit is associated with the work of which one of these men?
   Farmer Sailor Butcher Tailor.
2. If a man gave his awl for his country, his job would be that of Miner Salesman Physician Cobbler.
3. The heavy timbers to which the floor boards are nailed are called Studs Rafters Joists Sills.
4. Which one of these well known Americans is often called a mentor? Jack Benny Cordell Hull Jack Dempsey Lynn Waldorf.
5. A visa is an official indorsement of which one of these?
   Passport Railway ticket Check Diploma.
6. Carefully consider the terms listed in the left hand column below. Then number them in their proper order or sequence. You are entitled to one point for each correct judgment.

[a] Diagnosis	[v] First
[b] Laboratory tests	[w] Second
[c] Symptoms	[x] Third
[d] Prognosis	[y] Fourth
[e] Examination	[z] Fifth

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

A COUPLE OF BUGS.

This column's discovery that there are two Bug rivers on the Russian front, announced day before yesterday and promptly authenticated by the Associated Press, caused a ripple of surprise among amateur geographers. Most of them would have sworn that the one and only Bug flowed toward the north to merge itself with the Vistula, because it is an old friend from the dispatches of World War I. The sudden appearance of another Bug in World War II., flowing south into the Black sea, seemed to be contrary to nature.

* * *

We crave for information, other than geographic, about these rival Bugs. Do they have boat songs? Has any Russian novelist or poet immortalized the scenery along their banks? What does the name mean? Here is a subject that many Americans who believe that Russia is a fascinating country have completely neglected. The correct pronunciation is a matter of doubt; maybe it's Boog.

* * *

The southern Bug should outrank the northern because it reaches salt water without losing its identity. But the northern must be granted the military championship because it has seen more fighting. The northern is purely Polish, but much of it is on the Russian side of the Curzon Line, and its future nationality depends on the peace treaty and the pleasure of Joseph Stalin.

* * *

Well, what about it, the Russians are probably saying. The United States has two Red rivers of good size, flowing north and south, one in Minnesota and one in Louisiana. It also has two Colorado rivers, one in Texas and the other in the Grand canyon.

A FIRST VISITOR.

This snowy morn the spruces wear
Their ermine with a regal air.
A friendly rabbit made his spoor
Last night, up to my kitchen door,
Sniffed at its crevice, stopped to say,
"I wish you well," then went his way.
Somehow I resent the sun
Erasing tracks of such an one,
For lying there they seem to speak
Of kinship with the very meek.
A welcome neighbor I must be
When rabbits come to visit me.
I wish that I had been awake,
A few amenities to make;
To bid him welcome to my lane,
And hope that he will come again;
To serve some milk for friendship's sake
Together with some cheese and cake.
For, of all those who ever come
To visit me in my new home,
None will have more kind intent
And none will be more innocent;
Of all who come and go away,
None will have kinder things to say.
I would that I had heard him tell,
"Welcome, neighbor, I wish you well."

Earle W. Carter.

Portrait of a Keen Observer.

Arriving home, Ajax Beambottom was conducted by Mrs. Beambottom to the living room and commanded to sit down.

"Now," she said proudly, "do you see anything different?"

Ajax looked around, blinking, and exclaimed: "O, yes! That picture! Say, it's swell."

"That picture has been there since Christmas, 1942."

"O, sure. How stupid of me. But now I've got it! That clock——"

"I gave you that for your birthday in 1941."

"O, so you did. O, now I see it. Those curtains——"

"They have been up three months as of day before yesterday."

"O, yes, of course. Now don't tell me. Let's see, could it be that chair?"

"Silly! That was our wedding present from Aunt Lou 15 years ago. And please don't guess the bookcase that has been handed down for three generations."

Ajax got up, stumbled over a piece of furniture and exclaimed: "Darn that thing anyway! I've fallen over it every day for the last 15 years."

"O, yeah! Well, that little table is just what I've been trying to get you to see. It was delivered only an hour ago." W. L. Hudson.

WHEN THE WIND WAS WEST.

How oft and oft, when the wind was west,
And one small star shone white,
I saw you come, in your ribbons drest,
Over the hills by night—

Over the hills to tryst with me
In the moon and wind—to sigh
And pledge with an hour's stark ecstasy
A love that could not die.

The hills still wait; the wind blows west;
A star hangs small and high;
But only a dream, in its ribbons drest,
Goes by in the night, goes by!

Lister Alwood.

A THROAT INFECTION MAY CONTAMINATE FOOD.

THE one who is ill should have nothing to do with the preparation of meals. A sore throat or respiratory infection may be passed along in this fashion, even tho thoro cooking is practiced.

There is considerable evidence that the influenza epidemic of 1918 was spread thru edibles and eating utensils.

Ordinarily we think of the staphylococcus as one of our chief sources of food pollution. On one occasion, a baker's helper with a pronounced nasal discharge assisted in concocting a filling for cream pies. All of those who consumed the finished confections encountered fever, intestinal cramps, diarrhea, and prostration. Germs of the "staph" group abounded in profusion.

But the streptococcus can prove equally disturbing. A year or so ago, 200 persons attended a church reunion. Refreshments consisted of chopped ham sandwiches, coffee, with cream and sugar, and homemade cakes. One hundred and two were attacked: 24 developed scarlet fever; 56, severe sore throat; 7, diarrhea; while a few complained of nausea, vomiting, and miscellaneous symptoms.

The trouble was traced to the meat, which was prepared by a woman who was in the early stages of scarlet fever. The material in question had previously been cooked for four hours. On the following day, it was ground and the sandwiches were made by the ladies of the church. They were left standing overnight and served at 2:00 p. m. By this time, the prospective scarlet fever victim presented full blown symptoms of the disease. Cultures taken from her throat were exactly the same as those found in the ham that she contributed to the gathering.

It appears that the heat of baking was sufficient to destroy any and all microbes. Contamination, therefore, must have occurred in the handling or grinding of the product. The source was clear. Here was a patient who was ready to blossom with a frank infection, with her throat and nasal passages teeming with organisms.

Considerable emphasis may well be placed upon excusing from the kitchen any one who has a respiratory ailment of any type. As we know, if cooking is sufficiently prolonged, it will destroy most forms of germ life. But what happens to the rations while they are being served and before they are eaten? How many times have we observed an individual sneeze or cough where the spray could not fail to fall on the dishes! Custards and cream filled pastries offer an extremely favorable situation for the growth of bacteria and the production of toxins.

It is perhaps unfortunate that such poisons rarely produce a characteristic taste or odor. The repast may be as flavorsome and delectable as under normal conditions. We must depend, therefore, upon strict sanitation within every household. Perhaps colds are transmitted from one member of the family to another in this way, altho we cannot underestimate the importance of personal contact. This is especially true during the colder season, when ventilation may be limited.

Congress Won't Encourage.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Any way you look at it, the senate's action yesterday on Sen. Langer's amendment to the tax bill was disappointing. Every father and mother in the land will shake their heads in sorrow. Within their grasp, for a brief 10 minutes, was an opportunity to put the collector of internal revenue in the debt of American parents for years untold. The senate jeered.

Sen. Langer, a Republican from North Dakota, looks like Hollywood's version of a senator, well groomed, stockily slung together, shining white hair, and kindly without being pompous. In common with the average senator, he has an aversion to listing his age in the congressional directory, but he looks to be somewhere in the middle 60s. He also is the father of four children, but the amendment at which his conferees guffawed was not motivated by self-interest, for his four children are over 18 and therefore not deductible items on his or any one's income tax return.

All Sen. Langer wanted in his very brief amendment was to replace a period after a sentence in H. R. 3687 [the tax bill] with a colon and after the colon insert about 12 clauses. The clauses provided that taxpayers with children [step, adopted, or genuine] be subsidized. A father with one child could deduct $350 dependency credit from his income tax; two children, $850; three children, $1,550; four children, $2,500; five children, $3,750; six children, $5,350; seven children, $7,350; eight children, $9,800. For each additional child the father could knock off $2,500.

This naturally would leave the average father of seven children very much in the government's debit. The government would owe him a considerable sum, which he should never expect to collect.

The senate sat quietly while Mr. Langer's amendment was read by one of the three clerks who has not dropped dead this year reading amendments and addresses. The first audible comment was that of Sen. George [D., Ga.], father of two, who arose and said in utter astonishment: "This seems to be an amendment to encourage childbirth."

At this the 68 fathers in the senate and the one mother, Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway [D., Ark.], emitted what the congressional record described, parenthetically, as [laughter]. It was more than [laughter]. It was guffawing.

Mr. Langer hopped back to his feet and said Mr. George was darn right. The birth rate was temporarily up, but it was due for a material reduction soon. What was more, he added, he believed in putting a double tax on bachelors. Make them pay for not having children.

At this a bachelor senator shuddered visibly. Then he, too, guffawed.

That did it. The senators roared the amendment down.

All in all, it was an astonishing performance. Two senators even have babies in arms, Senators Nye and Reynolds, Sen. Reynolds' being his fourth child but by his fifth wife.

One senator, Clyde Reed of Kansas, has seven children; two, Sen. Wheeler of Montana, and Sen. Murdock of Utah, have six. At least four have five children, Downey of California, Davis of Pensylvania, Stewart of Tennessee, and McCarran of Nevada, and many have four, among them Taft, Byrd, Cotton Ed Smith, Wiley, Nye, and Tobey. In general, a prolific assemblage.

"Well," drawled one senator later, "Do you suppose Langer has forgotten how Mussolini did it? He gave cash, not credit, and a furnished house, too. And look where he got."

FORGETTING THE WAR.

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Dec. 24.—In your paper of Sept. 4 we noticed the complaint voiced by Bill Wagner against the practice of combining appeals to buy war bonds, pictures of the American flag, and the playing of the national anthem with his entertainment at his favorite theater. Bill, a professed war worker, stated that he believes that he should be allowed to forget the war for at least one day a week.

It is indeed a sad case. We wish that we could help this war weary fellow. Would that we could arrange a short sojourn for him here in New Guinea where men have been forgetting the war for 20 months and upward. It is easy for a man to forget here. In fact, in the heat it is hard to remember most things. The malaria mosquito and the typhus tick that lurk on every hand, scorpions, flying foxes, wild boars, poisonous snakes, 20 foot pythons, crocodiles, shark infested waters, myriad insects, seas of mud, miles of choking dust, torrential rains—here are all the glorious pleasures of the tropics waiting to help him forget.

At the end of the day which should obliterate all thoughts of war he may then attend a theater without fear that an appeal to buy war bonds will remind him that a war is on. He can climb happily upon a G. I. truck and careen a few miles down the road to a perfectly air conditioned theater, out under the moon and the stars and very often the rains. There, amid the creeping, crawling things in his well worn and soiled clothes, he can bask in a complete oblivion to all wars.

But there is one fatal flaw in all this that worries us; a bomb might some time land too close at hand, thus reminding Bill again of war. And again he might perchance stumble upon some mute wooden crosses that would speak to him of war—reminding him of other war weary boys who were never allowed to forget for one single hour that their country was at war until they passed forever into the land of complete forgetting.

ROOSEVELT LABOR POLICY.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Politically, F. D. R.'s most vulnerable spot is his consistent policy of coddling labor unions and giving way to their pressures. It was obvious when he signed the Wagner labor act, condoned and sanctioned and, behind the scenes, promoted the sitdown strikes of 1937 that these acts were bound, sooner or later, to react unfavorably against our American economy.

Now that we are in the midst of our greatest crisis, the spoiled brat, in the form of union labor, has grown up and come home to plague its parents. In my opinion, the Roosevelt labor policy is going to cause the loss of thousands of American boys' lives. And here's why I say it: The German and Japanese propaganda agencies know that because of Roosevelt's labor policies, because of strikes, walkouts, slowdowns, and absenteeism, the government has had to take over the railroads.

I am sure that most other people, like myself, feel that labor unions, properly and justly regulated, are an asset to America, but under power-mad dictators are proving a real asset to Hitler. If you doubt this, just ask the opinion of a boy recently back from the front.

Personally I have made it my solemn pledge never to buy a package or an ounce of any product they indorse, and those of my friends with whom I've discussed it agreed with me. It has meant changing several products which I have found very fine over a period of years.

What are the American people coming to that they can swallow that guff and still have any respect for the sponsor? I always knew that German people were stupid and thick headed, but now I'm beginning to wonder about us.

In these days of labor shortage this looks like real waste to me as it must require the services of more people to handle the matter so, when a postage due stamp would answer the purpose.

BALK AT MILLION TO FEED COUNTY JUVENILE WARDS

Budget Makers Wrangle Over Plea for Boost.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Cook county's taxpayers are rearing a family of 4,133 children, wards of the Juvenile court, who are ineligible for relief from state and federal agencies. This was disclosed yesterday at a budget meeting of the county board.

Several of the commissioners present apparently were surprised at the size of the parental job and hostile to a request of Judge Frank H. Bicek, in charge of the court, for $1,100,000 for child expense in 1944, compared to about $758,000 in 1943. After the judge had explained that the court orders for such expense would have to be paid by the county even if an insufficient appropriation were made, Commissioner Daniel Ryan said:

"I am not going to vote for any budget with an item of that size for boarding children and I am willing to be held in contempt for what I do."

Ineligible for Relief.

Commissioner George A. Miller wanted to know why the relief agencies couldn't support all the children with state funds, and was answered by George J. Klupar, head of the Chicago welfare administration. Klupar said that 2,000 cases referred to him principally by the Juvenile court are on the relief rolls, but that the others—the 4,133—could not qualify for relief because they did not fill residence requirements, were delinquent, or had parents who should be paying.

Judge Bicek said efforts were made to compel parents with income to contribute, and that $110,000 was collected from them last year. He said delinquency was rising and costs per child were going up.

Asserts Other Agencies Pay More.

"It is ridiculous that the county pays only $20 a month to board a child in a foster home and $10 for a boy or $15 a month for a girl in an industrial home," he said. "The amounts should be raised. The CRA pays $29 a month and some private agencies $60 a month for board."

[Of the county wards, 2,374 are in industrial homes, 1,669 in foster homes, and 90 under temporary care.]

Commissioner Harry Perry asserted that he would vote against any juvenile increase unless the money was on hand.

Commissioner Elizabeth A. Conkey said she was opposed to letting mothers work and turn the care of their youngsters over to the county.

To make a balanced budget, the county board must pare last year's appropriations enough to meet $19,700,000 of anticipated revenue.

B. A. writes: "I am entering the army in a few weeks. My wife is in the WAC. I would like to know if she can receive my allowance every month."

ANSWER: Since there is no question of dependency involved in the granting of an allowance to a class "A" dependent, a wife, even tho she is in the women's army corps, may receive a family allowance. A WAC may not obtain an allowance for her husband, however, unless she can prove that he is dependent upon her.

Mrs. B. S. writes: "I have been sending air mail letters to my husband, who is overseas. However, I have been told that such letters go by air mail only to New York, and that they are not sent overseas by air."

ANSWER: It is true that on letters going overseas air mail stamps guarantee that service only to the American port to which it is directed [c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y., or San Francisco, Cal., etc.]. When possible, it is forwarded overseas by air mail, but other official mail and V-mail have priority over personal mail as far as plane space is concerned.

W. C. writes: "I am to be inducted within the next few days, and my wife is expecting a child next spring. Will she receive an allotment for maternity care?"

ANSWER: Your wife will not receive a monetary allotment for maternity care, but she can receive free assistance from the government, which pays certain stipulated fees for physicians and hospital care for wives of men in the four lowest pay grades. I am forwarding the bulletin which explains the procedure for obtaining such care.

Mrs. X. writes: "My husband was inducted a week ago. We had expected that he would go into the army and would have three weeks to settle up his affairs. However, he was taken into the navy and has already left home. He expected to collect some money which was due him but was unable to do so, and we have very little reserve. I understand that we cannot expect the family allowance for at least a month and wonder what I am to do in the meantime.

ANSWER: The American Red Cross is equipped to assist in cases such as yours, and it has now opened several district offices for the convenience of dependents living in various sections of the city.

The north side office, which handles cases of families living north of Chicago avenue, is located at 622 West Diversey boulevard. Women living between Chicago avenue and 39th street may apply for aid at 1606 West Adams street. For persons living south of 39th street, the district office at 6208 South Drexel boulevard is available.

LIBRARIAN ASKS NEW DIRECTORY OF CITY IN 1944

The publication of a new directory in 1944, the first since 1928, was urged yesterday by Frederick Rex, librarian of the municipal reference library, in his annual report to Mayor Kelly. He also disclosed that the addition of 6,548 booklets and pamphlets to the library collection during the last year raises the total of items of information on library shelves to 224,995. The library is operated on the 10th floor of the city hall as a clearing house for information on government and municipal problems.

PICKLE PACKIN' PROBLEMS PUT UP TO PATRIOTS

The pickle packing industry may be compelled to ask the public to put up patriotically with a limited supply of pickles this year because of the lack of pickle pickers, packers said yesterday at the 51st annual convention of the National Pickle Packers' association in Stevens hotel.

"A shortage of help on the cucumber farms, and the tardiness of government agencies in understanding the problems of the growers, cut deeply into the pack this season," said Edward T. Miller of Oak Park, secretary of the association.

"In 1942 we harvested a crop of 8 million bushels of 'cukes.' In 1943, chiefly because of government curbs, the crop was only 6 million bushels. But at last the agencies have got around to recognizing the essentiality of pickles as food. They are allotting the fertilizers needed are considering cucumbers in the deferment of farm labor."

The 1944 crop, Miller estimated, will climb back to 8 million bushels.

Most of the nation's pickle cucumbers are grown in Michigan, Wisconsin, eastern Minnesota, and northern Indiana. Commercial pickles range from 1½ inches, running 20,000 to a 45 gallon cask, to 5¼ inches, running 800 to a 45 gallon cask.

Two bundles of leather and a bundle of cloth, valued at $350, dropped off his truck yesterday between 800 North Michigan avenue and 300 North La Salle street, Samuel Lanzaratta, 2119 Lakewood avenue, reported to police.

CATCH SUSPECT IN ATTIC; LINK HIM TO SLAYING

A suspect, arrested as he hid in the attic of his home at 5230 Race avenue, was identified yesterday as one of the three robbers who shot and fatally wounded James Heidenreich, 77 years old, in a holdup of a butcher shop at 1321 Roosevelt road on Dec. 23. Heidenreich died Jan. 6 in Mother Cabrini hospital.

The suspect, William H. Pierce, 21, was seized by Detectives Charles Schmidt and William Hensen of the Maxwell street station and a squad from the Austin station headed by Sgt. James Bresnahan. They had traced him thru a police photograph picked out by Heidenreich's son, George, owner of the butcher shop.

At a special showup, Pierce was identified by George Heidenreich and O. C. House, Negro, of 1126 South Wolcott avenue, who was in the shop at the time of the holdup. Pierce denied the charge, and said he was at the home of a young woman when the robbery occurred.

Mentally Unfit Draftees to Be Taken from Rosters

Beginning Feb. 1, mentally unfit draft registrants will be eliminated from Cook county induction rosters by a staff of social and medical case workers who will be lent to the boards on a volunteer basis by social agencies. Five workers will be assigned to each of the 180 boards in the county. The pre-induction survey in Illinois is headed by Dr. David Slight, president of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene and professor of psychiatry at the University of Chicago. He has been appointed special adviser to Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois draft director.

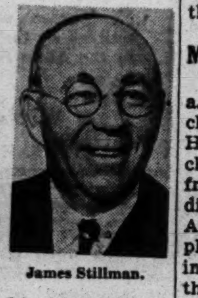
JAMES STILLMAN OF 'FIFI' DIVORCE FAME, DIES AT 70

Financier Directed N. Y. Bank for 40 Years.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—James A. Stillman, 70 years old, a director of the National City bank of New York and central figure in a sensational divorce case in the 1920s, died today at New York hospital. He had been ill a week.



James Stillman.

Stillman only yesterday observed his 40th anniversary as a member of the directors' board and had intended to leave within a few days for his winter home in Havana.

He was elected president of the bank in 1919, but resigned two years later when he and his wife, Anne Urquhart "Fifi" Potter, entered 10 years of divorce litigation. She later married Fowler McCormick of Chicago, a grandson of John D. Rockefeller and 18 years her junior.

Charged Infidelity.

Stillman had been married 20 years to "Fifi" when he charged her with infidelity.

She denied his charges and countered with an accusation that he had had improper relations with Florence Leeds, a former chorus girl, and that he was the father of the dancer's son.

A referee held Stillman guilty of adultery and cleared Mrs. Stillman of all her husband's charges.

$7,500 a Month Alimony.

An appellate court in 1923 awarded her $7,500 a month alimony and $15,000 counsel fees. She began suit for divorce in 1925, but six weeks later the case was withdrawn. The Stillmans took a trip to Europe, then bought a new home on Park avenue.

Five years after the reunion, however, she obtained a secret decree on statutory grounds at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The decree became final on June 4, 1931, and Mrs. Stillman the next day married McCormick at the Pocantico estate of the Rockefellers. She was 51 at that time and McCormick 33.

He is survived by three sons, Navy Lt. Alexander Stillman, James Alexander Stillman of the army medical corps, and Navy Lt. Guy Stillman, and a daughter, Mrs. Anne Stillman Davison of Glen Cove, N. Y.

YANK'S WIFE, 27, STRUCK BY AUTO, DIES OF INJURIES

Mrs. Jane Iverson, 27 years old, 1643 Foster avenue, whose husband is in service overseas with the army, was injured fatally yesterday morning when she was struck by an automobile as she was pushing her stalled car at La Salle and Locust streets. The driver of the car was Thomas Morgan of 4131 Sheridan road. Mrs. Iverson was employed as a stenographer.

Alvin Tempest, 55 years old, 1039 Clinton avenue, Oak Park, a landscaper, was killed when he was struck by an automobile at 18th street and Harlem avenue in Berwyn. The driver was Lester Millard of 634 Clarence avenue, Oak Park.

Walter F. Roth, 59 years old, 6848 Cornell avenue, a clerk, died in St. Luke's hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday when he was struck by a truck at Harrison and Wells streets. The truck driver was Joseph Kubiak, 2931 Belmont avenue.

OIL MAN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH NEAR AIRPORT

J. Merriweather Purdy, an oil man of Cambridge, O., was injured fatally yesterday when his small cabin plane crashed in a field at 72d street and Central avenue as he was preparing to land at the Chicago airport nine blocks to the north. Purdy, who was 47 years old, was a member of the civil air patrol and was en route from Cambridge to Appleton, Wis. The cause of the crash was not determined but several witnesses told police that the engine was "missing." There was no fire altho the fuel tank burst and sprayed the wreckage with gasoline. Willow Springs county highway police took Purdy to the Little Company of Mary hospital, where he died. And inquest is scheduled for today.

HONOR BENJAMIN FRANKLIN JAN. 15 AT MEDINAH CLUB

The Old-Time Printers' Association of Chicago will hold its 59th annual banquet and dinner-dance Saturday evening in the Tally-Ho room of the Medinah club, 505 North Michigan avenue. This annual affair will commemorate the 238th anniversary of Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday is Jan. 17.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon on Monday, Jan. 17, the president of the association, Charles J. Flynn, and other officers, accompanied by past presidents and many members, will lay a wreath on the statue of Franklin in Lincoln park, Fullerton parkway and the East drive. This statue was given to the park by Joseph Medill and put in charge of the Old-Time Printers' Association of Chicago by Mr. Medill.

The Old-Time Printers' association was organized in the year 1886 by some twenty men who met in the old Sherman house. The purpose of the meeting was to promote sociability and good fellowship among the men engaged in the various branches of the graphic arts in Chicago for 25 years or more, and to hold an annual reunion on the anniversary of Franklin's birthday—Jan. 17. The first reunion and banquet was held in the old Madison house in 1887.

The present officers are Charles J. Flynn, president; Larry E. Goddard, vice-president; John H. Quadland, treasurer, and George J. Chiles, publicity director.

MSGR. MURRAY, 55, DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Ambrose Murray, pastor since 1922 of St. Francis de Paula church, 78th street and Dobson avenue, died yesterday in the Little Company of Mary hospital after a brief illness. He was 55 years old.

Msgr. Murray was graduated from St. Ignatius college in 1908 and received the degree of doctor of divinity from the North American college in Rome. He was ordained in 1914, and thereafter served for two years as assistant pastor of St. Gertrude's church and for six years as assistant at Holy Rosary church. He was named a monsignor in 1939.

The funeral will be at 11 a. m. Monday in St. Francis church. Officiating clergymen will be the Most Rev. James A. Griffin, bishop of Springfield, Ill., and the Rev. J. A. Parker, pastor of St. Philip Neri church.

CHURCH BOARD MUM ON PASTOR IN RATION CASE

Secrecy yesterday guarded the action, if any, taken by the board of the Ottawa Street Methodist church in Joliet over the C book suspension of its pastor, the Rev. Walter B. Morgan, by the Will county rationing board earlier in the week.

Dr. Morgan was penalized because he made a motor trip to see his son in an army camp in Texas and used black market gasoline much of the way. He said he used his car mainly because he took along his father, who is more than 80 years old and unable to stand a crowded train trip.

The rationing board temporarily took away his C coupons and notified his church trustees and the regional OPA office in Peoria for further action.

STATION HELD UP AS PASSENGER IS KILLED BY TRAIN

It took Hyde Park police a quarter of an hour yesterday to straighten out the confusion at the 59th street station of the Illinois Central, where one Negro was killed by a train while another was holding up Miss Jeanette Paulson, 18 years old, of 1320 East Marquette road, the ticket seller.

The first report to police was that a man had been killed in a holdup.

The dead man was Silas Gant, 60 years old, 5714 Blackstone avenue, who, witnesses said, apparently stumbled and fell from the platform in front of an approaching train.

Miss Paulson said he was not the Negro who held her up and obtained between $5 and $6.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR FUGITIVES IN JAIL BREAK

Police continued their search yesterday for Michael Cerese and William Pisano who sawed their way out of the county jail early Wednesday morning as Sheriff Michael F. Mulcahy and Warden Frank Sain pressed their investigation into the escape. An assistant jail superintendent and two guards have been suspended.

Richard B. Austin, assistant state's attorney, said that Pisano and a third prisoner, Stanley Smoluch, who was caught in the jail yard, face life imprisonment for aiding in the escape of Cerese who was under a life sentence as an habitual criminal.

'TAVERN SHORT CARDS' FIGURE IN HEALY TRIAL

No One Certain Just What Words Mean.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

What was meant by "short cards in a tavern" was a problem yesterday in the civil service commission's hearing of charges against Capt. Walter F. Healy, formerly of the Hyde Park station. He is one of the nine captains suspended during the gambling investigation and is accused of omitting more than 200 items from the station complaint book, including two about short cards.

"I want the commission to notice that the last two reports concern card games at night," Atty. Michael F. Ryan, representing Capt. Healy, said to the three civil service commissioners sitting in judgment on Healy's right to hold his job. He referred to two reports mentioned in the testimony of Capt. Michael P. Naughton of Police Commissioner Allman's office.

Called a General Term.

"We understand gambling to be a general term," said Walter L. Gregory, chairman of the commission.

"What is the meaning of short cards?" Commissioner Allman was asked a minute later during a recess.

"I don't know," Allman replied.

"It means pinochle and the like," guessed Assistant Corporation Counsel Earle Downes, who is presenting the evidence against Capt. Healy.

"It's a friendly game in a tavern, sometimes for drinks and sometimes for small side bets," said Capt. Naughton. "It refers to card games where no one is classed as a keeper of a gambling game."

"I suppose it means any card game except poker," Capt. Healy ventured.

Connelly Defends Himself.

Meanwhile Capt. Thomas Connelly, formerly of the Summerdale station and one of the nine commanding officers suspended, sent word that he wasn't bound by any statements made Wednesday in behalf of five detectives under suspension. The detectives, charged with making false reports, said they only did what the captain's secretary, Policeman Harry Stollary asked them to do.

Connelly said that Stollary was not acting under his orders or at his request at the time. Connelly said the reports, afterwards called fakes but which the policeman said were copies, were made without his knowledge or consent. His trial is scheduled for Feb. 2.

A separate trial for E. W. Bareuther, agent of the building at 186 North Clark street, was asked yesterday in one of the indictments resulting from the gambling investigation. Atty. Harold Levy, representing Bareuther, told Judge Rudolph Desort the indictment against the building agent was discriminatory.

Bareuther was indicted along with 10 others, including Tony Accardo, a Capone hoodlum, on a gambling conspiracy charge growing out of several raids on a gambling resort in the building under Bareuther's management. Levy said no other building agent had ever been indicted on a similar charge. Judge Desort said he would act on the request Feb. 23.

W. R. JOHNSON'S BOND REVOKED IN COURT RULING

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals late yesterday revoked the bonds of William R. Johnson, former county gambling boss, and four co-defendants, and ordered them to surrender by noon Monday to the United States marshal's office.

The court acted on the petition of the government asking the court to forward to the district court the Supreme court mandate requiring execution of the five year prison sentence for Johnson and lesser terms for his co-defendants on their conviction of income tax evasion.

Atty. Harold Schradzke said he would appear before the appeals court this morning and ask for rehearing on the government petition or the setting of new bonds. Johnson and his co-defendants are appealing an order of Federal Judge John P. Barnes denying them a motion for a new trial.

Owner of Club Fined $25 on Indecent Dance Charge

Pete Christiano was fined $25 yesterday by Justice of the Peace Henry J. Pendl in Willow Springs county highway court on a charge of permitting indecent dancing in his Gaytime club in Calumet City. Delores Rose, who was arrested while doing a strip tease dance in the place, and her agent, Frank Linnelli, each got suspended $5 fines. All were charged with disorderly conduct. Miss Rose denied that her dance was indecent.

MACHINIST DIES AT WORK.

FORMER TRIBUNE EMPLOYES HURT IN SOUTH PACIFIC

Two former employes of THE TRIBUNE have been wounded in service in the South Pacific, one at the marine invasion of Tarawa and the other in aerial action over New Guinea, according to word received by their relatives yesterday.

Pvt. A. J. Giannini.

Lt. Eugene Filip.

The men are Pvt. Aldo J. Giannini, 20 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gherardo Giannini of 3621 Ravenswood avenue, and 2d Lt. Eugene Filip, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Filip of 1503 Nelson street. Giannini was employed in the national advertising department of THE TRIBUNE before he joined the marines.

Lt. Filip, a former copy boy and later a member of the W-G-N news staff, is a bombadier. He was shot Jan. 4, the war department said, but no details were given. He also was wounded last September but the injury was slight and he returned to duty. Last fall he was cited for scoring direct hits on a Japanese freighter and previously had won mention for being the first to bail out of a disabled plane, thus setting an example for his mates, who like himself, were making their first parachute jump under such conditions.

MANLEY PUPILS TOLD THEY CAN'T MOVE TO HERZL

The hope of pupils of the Manley High school that they might transfer to the Herzl Junior High school in a body instead of being divided among three high schools when the navy takes possession of their building Jan. 22, was dashed last night when they were informed that the Herzl school is not available.

The pupils and many of their parents met in the clubrooms of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic at 1532 South Hamlin avenue and Ald. Fred Fischman [24th] told them Herzl apparently is closed to them.

"I talked to James B. McCahey [president of the school board] and he told me that Herzl is not available for reasons that he could not divulge," Fischman said. "If this means that the army or the navy wants Herzl, why that is all right, but in the meantime I think you boys and girls should go ahead with your campaign to stick together. Maybe something can be worked out."

The pupils adopted a resolution, directed to the school board and Mayor Kelly, asking that they be kept together when the transfer is made so that friendships and associations made in the grade and high school classes will not be broken.

$250 JEWELRY STOLEN.

Costume jewelry valued at $250 was stolen from her home yesterday, Mrs. Belle Shapiro, 2756 Pine Grove avenue, told police.

On Tribune Staff

Miss Freida Zylstra, the Inquiring Camera Girl of THE TRIBUNE, and Louis Wolf, a veteran Tribune photographer, were married last night in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Kenneth N. Hildebrand.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Alvina Zylstra, and Mr. Wolf by his brother, Peter. Charles J. Zylstra of Des Moines, Ia., father of the bride, gave her away. Only m mbers of the two families and intimate friends attended the ceremony.

After Feb. 1 Mr. and Mrs. Wolf will be at home in the Midway Apartment hotel, 1535 East 60th street.

CHICAGO TO HAVE FIRST VET POST FROM THIS WAR

Approval will be granted next Thursday night to the first application for an American Legion charter to a post composed wholly of men discharged from service in the present war, according to Elmer F. Pflug, Melrose Park, commander of the 5th district, Cook county council, which will meet in the Riverside Legion hall.

The former soldiers, who have chosen Clark-O'Reilly as their post name, live in the vicinity of Pulaski road and Harrison street. The post name was chosen in memory of two soldiers killed in action last year.

The 5th district, which extends from Ashland avenue west to the county line, between Roosevelt road and Chicago avenue, has more than 400 members who served in the present war. A mass induction of 1,000 is planned for March 16 in the 132d infantry armory, with Walter H. Atherton, national commander of the Legion, conducting the ceremony.

DIES IN UNION STATION.

Richard Hotchkin, 61 years old, of Maryville, Mo., owner of a school supply store, died of a heart attack yesterday shortly after leaving a train in Union station.

4 YEAR OLD BOY GIVEN PAPERS OF CITIZENSHIP

Louis Earl Joy II, 4 years old, became the youngest person to receive citizenship papers in this district yesterday when Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan administered the oath to the youngster and 150 other persons. The child was born in Johannesburg, South Africa, and had been placed in an ophanage there after his mother died and his father was killed while serving with the South African air force. Perry E Joy, 1055 Pratt boulevard, and his wife, Iva, who were visiting in Johannesburg, saw the boy and adopted him. He was readopted here when the couple returned home. Citizenship was administered the boy under the new nationality act of 1941.

Fear Two Women Burned to Death in Campus Fire

Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Firemen expressed the fear today that Mrs. H. L. McCrorey, wife of the president of Johnson C. Smith university, a Negro institution, and a nurse, Eva Matthews, were burned to death this morning when a fire destroyed the president's house on the campus. The two women were known to have been in the house when a passerby gave the alarm at 3 a. m., but had not been seen since the fire.

Elman Playing of Mendelssohn Quite Routine

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Désiré Defauw conducting; Mischa Elman, violinist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Jan. 13, 1944, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:
Overture to "News of the Day" .... Hindemith
"Winter of the Blue Snow," from the "Paul Bunyan" Suite....Kreutz
[First performance in Chicago]
Symphonic Poem, "Psyche"....Franck
Concerto for Violin, E minor .... Mendelssohn-Bartholdy

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

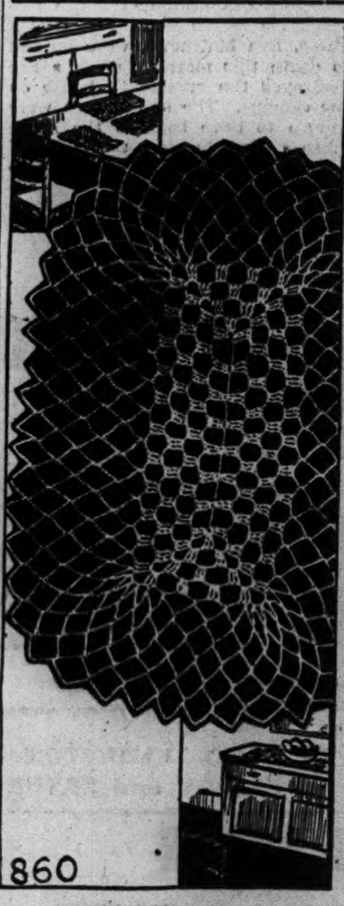
Mischa Elman returned to Orchestra hall last night to play the Mendelssohn Concerto with the Chicago Symphony orchestra under the direction of Désiré Defauw, as the climax of a program otherwise devoted to Hindemith's acridly agile overture, "News of the Day," the first local hearing of a work by the Wisconsin composer, Arthur Kreutz, and what was at least the first performance at the subscription concerts of Cesar Franck's symphonic poem, "Psyché," an ornate adventure in 19th century fustian which gives out considerably more sweetness than light.

Mr. Elman's performance refused to fit neatly into any single category, tho there were times when matter of fact seemed its most apt description. A public figure for 40 years or more, the violinist is not invariably in the mood to exalt his reputation beyond its taken for granted stature. He took the concerto at face value, playing it nimbly, with flashes of technical brilliance that spun some shining webs of tone, and in the slow movement he carried a silken thread of melody that drew taut to sparkle over the dancing woodwinds of the finale. But he did not trouble to attempt any revelation of the work as a whole, and the performance lacked the gleam of sunshine and youth that can make it fresh as the air after rain.

Mr. Defauw and the orchestra furnished a reliable accompaniment with more crispness and clarity than has been the average at Orchestra hall of late. The 1929 Hindemith was adequately played, too, with sufficient precision to exploit the wit that went into its creation. Mr. Kreutz's "Winter of the Blue Snow," a Paul Bunyan tale of loggers who swore blue streaks and housewives who used blue icicles for blueing is chiefly background music from a dance poem. Unlike that other legendary hero, "Hary Janos," the tale of the redoubtable Paul does not begin with a sneeze. It does fill a slow moving pastoral with what sound amusingly like the gargantuan steps of a seven league liar.

"Psyché" is right down the middle of Mr. Defauw's street in style and mood, and the performance was one of his best in Chicago.

Luncheon Doily



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A delightful crocheted luncheon doily and runner may be created from a couple of cones of carpet warp and a dash of spare time. The lacy, openwork mesh and the simple central pattern are as attractive as they are easy to crochet. Snowy white or pastels are the ideal for this luncheon set.

Performance of 'Iolanthe' Is Sparkling

"IOLANTHE."

Comic opera with book by W. S. Gilbert and music by Arthur Sullivan; staged by R. H. Burnside, with Louis Kroll as musical director, and presented by the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera company at the Studebaker Thursday evening, Jan. 13, 1944.

THE CAST.

The Lord Chancellor	Florenz Ames
Earl of Mountararat	Robert Pitkin
Lord Tolloller	Allen Stewart
Pvt. Willis	Robert Eckles
Strephon	Lewis Pierce
Queen of the Fairies	Catherine Judah
Iolanthe	Kathryn Reece
Celia	Mary Lundon
Fleta	Marie Valdez
Phyllis	Kathleen Roche

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

Every Savoyard to his taste, but no one will deny that "Iolanthe" is one of the most perfectly polished pearls of the whole Gilbert and Sullivan string. The Burnside troupe now current at the Studebaker appeared to savor every smooth and sparkling surface as it came to view in performance last night, and the result was in most respects a highly delectable gambol. If only the orchestra could have rehearsed all afternoon as did the singers, it would have been a model "Iolanthe."

Some germ of inspiration seemed to ferment in the company last night and what earlier in the week had been not much more than respectable routine suddenly shone forth as polished skill. Maybe it was the seemingly bright costumes, maybe it was the undying Mozartean freshness of Sullivan's charming score, or maybe it was the relatively unfamiliar sight and sound on today's stage of two lovers actually young and handsome.

Just why Lewis Pierce has been concealed in the back row of the chorus until this late date is a casting matter not easy to understand. Here is a stalwart, good looking young man, with an agreeable and unforced tenor voice, who would seem to be the end of any troupe's major worry. Current slang put him at a snickering disadvantage as Gilbert's "fairy down to the waist, but whose legs are mortal," but it wasn't long before he outdistanced the leers.

Adding to the credibility of the delightfully incredible fable was the mortal and attractive Phyllis of Kathleen Roche, with a silvery voice which joined with Mr. Pierce's manly tenor to make "None Shall Part Us" one of the truest and loveliest of all love songs.

Florenz Ames was such a highly susceptible chancellor that just to look at him was to laugh with him. And so perfectly overstuffed were all the peers as led by Robert Pitkin and Allen Stewart that there need have been no anxiety over Strephon's proposed bill to throw the peerage open to competitive examination. In fact, there wasn't much important at all wrong with this performance, and among other things to the good were the chorus of fairies, who sang not only sweetly but with artistry, Robert Eckles' sentry with political opinions, and Catherine Judah's handsome queen of the fairies.

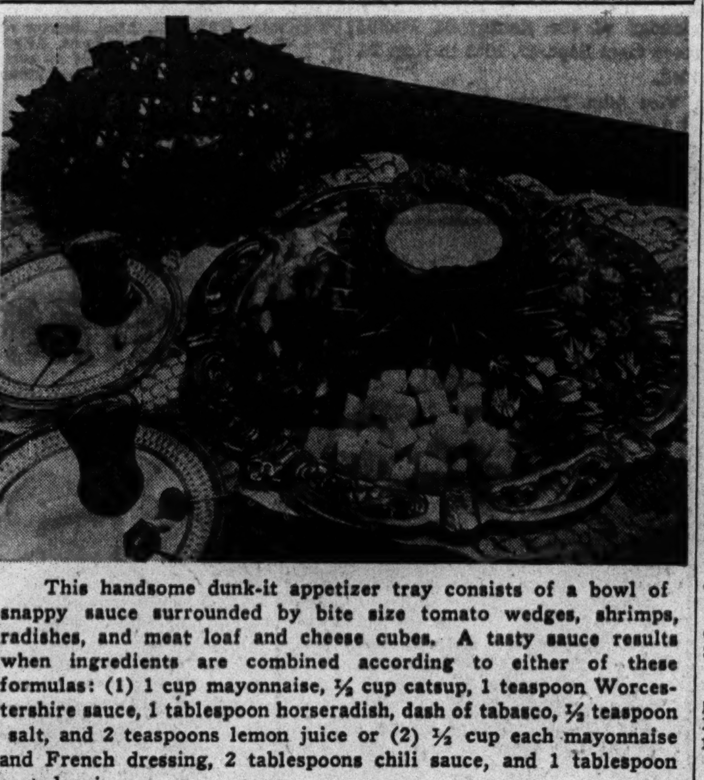
Alluring Appetizer Tray



This handsome dunk-it appetizer tray consists of a bowl of snappy sauce surrounded by bite size tomato wedges, shrimps, radishes, and meat loaf and cheese cubes. A tasty sauce results when ingredients are combined according to either of these formulas: (1) 1 cup mayonnaise, ⅓ cup catsup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon horseradish, dash of tabasco, ½ teaspoon salt, and 2 teaspoons lemon juice or (2) ½ cup each mayonnaise and French dressing, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, and 1 tablespoon grated onion.

Food Experts Seek to Reduce Canning Waste

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

Armed with reports of the successes and failures of last season's canning projects, food experts from 38 states opened discussions here yesterday on unified canning instructions for 1944 as a major issue before the national home food preservation conference at the Stevens hotel.

The meeting is sponsored by the extension service of the department of agriculture. Its purpose is "to insure that food conservation keeps pace with food needs of 1944 and 1945," according to M. L. Wilson, director of extension work and chief of the nutrition programs branch of the war food administration.

Housewives who have been confused by varied canning information may be relieved to know that experts were equally confused in a comparative study of 62 bulletins in which 12 different methods of using the pressure cooker for an identical process were found. Out of this study came a plea yesterday for uniformity of information in an address by W. B. Esselen of the Massachusetts State Agricultural college and WFA.

C. T. Townsend of the University of California recommended that all time and temperature instructions be uniform. He also advised strongly against oven cooking because of the danger of explosions and the difficulties of temperature control. He cited as an argument for discarding open kettle canning the fact that nearly all California food spoilage resulted from that method.

Recommendations from Oscar B. Williams of the University of Texas included keeping contamination low by general sanitation of all physical equipment, use of a high sealing temperature, and assurance that pressure cookers are free of air, which reduces actual heat in the food processing, and that gauges on the cookers are accurate. It also is important to store processed food at a moderate temperature, he said.

An intensified effort to disseminate proper information simply to save spoilage would be a gain in food conservation according to the report of Mrs. Ruth S. Hicks of the Iowa extension service. In a survey of 150 million quarts of fruit canned in her state in 1943, she found a spoilage of 1.39 per cent, not a high figure so stated. In actual content, however, the amount proved to be 2,200,000 quarts, or enough to provide each of 17,500 individuals with 125 quarts.

Much home preserved food loss can be overcome, the experts said, by attention to sanitation [women tend to confuse scalding equipment with sterilizing it by boiling 15 to 20 minutes] and by attention to authentic information instead of learning from the neighbors. Spoilage hazards in home canning range from the deadly botulism to mold and flat sour deterioration.

Nutritionists advocated early preserving after harvest to save vitamins. Today's sessions, which begin at 9 a. m., will be devoted to plans for increased community canning. Mrs. Portia Deacon, state supervisor of home economics in Iowa, will preside.

Until recently vegetables weren't considered properly seasoned unless a generous amount of butter went into their preparation, but ways and means have been devised to save that precious dairy product. Vitaminized margarine, imitation vegetable flavoring, bacon drippings, and other clarified fats have been used ingeniously as substitutes for butter, but have you tried a tempting sauce to enhance your vegetables?

These sauces aren't new to most food lovers, but perhaps they will offer ideas for saving butter and adding interest to everyday vegetables, including green beans, cauliflower, cabbage, broccoli, and the like.

Vinaigrette Sauce.
[⅔ cup sauce.]
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ tablespoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
⅓ cup olive oil or salad oil
1 tablespoon minced pickles
1 tablespoon chopped stuffed olives
1 teaspoon chopped onion

Mix all ingredients together and beat well. Heat to boiling point and serve with vegetables such as spinach, broccoli, artichokes, and asparagus.

Cheese Sauce.
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper
1 cup grated cheese
Dash of cayenne
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Melt fat, add flour, and blend. Add milk gradually, cooking over low heat until thickened and smooth. Add salt and pepper to taste. Stir in grated cheese, cayenne, Worcestershire sauce, and mustard, and place over simmering water. Cook, stirring frequently, until cheese is melted and mixture is smoothly blended.

Savory White Sauce.
2 tablespoons fat
1 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
¼ cup minced mushrooms
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper
1 canned pimiento, minced
2 tablespoons minced ripe or green olives

Measure fat into top of double boiler. Melt over direct heat. Add onion, green pepper, and mushrooms. Cover and cook gently for 5 minutes. Place over boiling water, add flour, and mix thoroly. Add milk gradually and cook until thick and smooth. Add seasonings, pimiento, and olives, and serve hot.

Tomato Sauce.
½ cup sliced onion
2 tablespoons margarine or drippings
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup tomato juice
½ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery seed
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cook onion in fat until golden brown and tender. Remove onion. Add flour. Brown slightly. Add tomato juice, water, and seasonings. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Serve hot.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce.
3 tablespoons margarine or other fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup boiling water
Yolks of 2 eggs
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika

Melt fat and blend in flour. Add boiling water. Cook and stir for five minutes and remove from heat. Beat in egg yolks and other ingredients. Serve hot. If necessary, keep hot in the top of a double boiler in which water is hot but not boiling.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES.

Tailored Frock

Soft, dressmaker lines distinguish this day time frock with casual rever collar line, buttoned bodice, and slim, plaited skirt. It's handsome in either plain colors or prints. Style No. 2764 is designed for sizes 10 to 20. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Quick Cake.
[A shortening saver.]
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
Dash of salt
½ cup milk, scalded
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat eggs in large bowl, add sugar and continue beating until thick and light. Sift flour and baking powder together and add with dash of salt. Meanwhile, add butter to hot milk and stir until dissolved. Add vanilla and then stir into first mixture. Stir only enough to blend in each case. Batter will be thin. Turn into small, greased, paperlined loaf pan and bake in a moderately hot [375] degrees] oven for about 30 to 40 minutes.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Food

Real Meat Flavor—with VITALOX!

Here's the smart new way to give ration-restricted dishes the zest and goodness of real meat flavor. Get a bottle of VITALOX, Armour's Meat Flavor Discovery. It costs no ration points. It puts new life in dozens of dishes. Here's a delicious sample: Vitalox Vegetable Soup.

1 cup diced raw potatoes
1 cup diced carrots
1 cup shredded cabbage
½ cup diced celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
¼ cup chopped parsley
2 tablespoons of Vitalox

Cover vegetables with 1½ quarts boiling water and let simmer until tender (about 30 minutes). Add seasonings, parsley and Vitalox. Makes 4 servings.

Vitalox is a blend of beef juice, tomato, vegetable flavoring and spices. It pours easily—mixes in a jiffy. Remember, no ration points! ★ ARMOUR AND COMPANY

63d Christian Youth Week Starts Jan. 30

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Fifty thousand Christian youth groups of 42 North American Protestant denominations are set for the 63d annual observance of Youth week beginning Jan. 30. The sponsor of the week is the International Council of Religious Education, 203 North Wabash avenue. Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the council, said activities will reach at least 2 million youths.

In addition to the youth groups of major denominations, the United Christian Youth movement, led by the council, embraces numerous nondenominational agencies, such as many state and Canadian provincial councils of Christian education, the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations, Boy Scouts, and the International Christian Endeavor society, which originated the movement.

"In a time when fellowship among youth has been broken in so many parts of the world, there is hope for the future in the observance of a national Christian youth week," Dr. Ross said. "Thru it a united Christian youth can make an effective attack on the crucial problems facing young people in American communities today."

Dr. Ross explained that in addition to services of worship in thousands of churches being dedicated to youth during the week, special young people's activities "expressing Christian faith in friendly service" will be fostered.

These activities, Dr. Ross said, will consist of projects for the benefit of less fortunate groups, with the war time service program of the United Christian Youth movement serving as a guide for such projects. International and interracial coöperative projects are among those suggested in the guide, under the week's theme of "One Faith, One Fellowship."

Riverside is an example of a community-wide observance of the week. In that suburb, Miss Marcena Idle, director of Christian education of Riverside Presbyterian church, is developing a program to reach the community's entire youth population. The Rev. Isaac K. Beckes, executive secretary of the United Christian Youth movement, will be a principal speaker on the community's program.

Wellesley Regional Council to Be Held All Day Tomorrow

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Joan Van Buren, who made her debut during the Christmas holidays, will return to Wellesley college Monday to resume her studies. Students who have been at home for the holidays will be included with alumnae of the college in the regional council to be held all day tomorrow in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. Among the speakers will be Capt. Mildred H. McAfee, president of Wellesley and head of the WAVES.

Tea at College Club.

The Chicago College club will have a tea this afternoon following the regular symphony concert at Orchestra hall.

Garden Club's Spring Flower Show Planned

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF winter comes, can spring be far behind? Not as far as the Garden Club of Illinois is concerned. With the first snow that busy group of garden enthusiasts and experts starts planning for the arrival of the crocus with its annual spring flower show. This year the show will be presented again at Marshall Field & Co. from March 27 thru April 8, with accompanying lectures.

There will be more space devoted to the Garden club exhibits this year, and, in addition to the usual flower arrangement classes and table setting contests, there will be a few small gardens. Mrs. O. W. Dynes will be the general chairman, assisted by a large committee. Serving on it are Mrs. L. T. Warren, Miss Elizabeth Howland, Mrs. Kenath T. Sponsel, Mrs. J. Wilson McAllister, Mrs. Henry W. Shedd, Mrs. Robert B. Ayres, Mrs. Wilbur T. Fribley, Mrs. Montague Ferry, Mrs. Edward C. Haase, and Mrs. Raymond Knotts, who is president of the club.

Today's Events.

Mrs. George Spaulding will be hostess at the English Speaking union's after the symphony tea this afternoon in the headquarters at 360 North Michigan avenue. The Chicago chapter's newly formed play reading group held its first meeting Monday night at the Chicago College club, with R. H. Butler as the chairman for the evening and Barrie's "Shall We Join the Ladies?" as the selection read. Miss Aubrey Hines, chairman for next month, will select an American play to be read at the next meeting. Some of those who will be meeting with the group are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woods Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Benninghoven, Frank A. Hecht, Mrs. Irene Sidley, British Consul H. H. Thomas, and British Vice Consul and Mrs. Hubert Norman Pullar.

Carol Brenner, soprano, will sing a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. John Olinder, at the Cordon club's weekly tea at 4:15 p. m. today.

Also on the Calendar.

For the Mary Crane league's final book review today to benefit the nursery school at Hull House, Florence Bourke Ellis will discuss Fannie Hurst's last novel, "Hallelujah." The talk will be given in the National College of Education in Evanston, with tea served beforehand at 3:30 p. m. Missing from the gathering will be one of the league's young members, Miss Yvonne Decker, who was at home for the holidays with her parents, the David A. Deckers. Early this week Miss Decker returned to Macon, Ga., where she just has been appointed associate professor in the school of fine arts at Wesleyan college, oldest women's college in the country.

The Cradle society will elect officers at its annual meeting tonight at the Casino, following dinner at 6:30.

New officers will be elected at the annual meeting today of The Orientals when they assemble at 4:15 p. m. in one of the galleries of the

Thru the Looking Glass

One of the very nicest fripperies which the war and the alcohol shortage all but killed off was a friction pour le bain that we thought—and still think—was tops. It had everything—beauty of fragrance, and one that lasted, and that most welcome trick of being luxurious and exhilarating at the same time. We never found anything to quite equal it for the pickup of spirits and the sense of glamor after a hard day, particularly if it were a hot one. This had a lemony scent that gave that cool lift. Just last week we were wishing we could find some, somewhere.

And just this week a minor miracle occurred. Our lovely, uplifting fragrance is around again—in bath crystals! Brand, spanking new and quite exciting. Exactly that same fragrance, stimulating and intriguing and marvelously refreshing, in a medium that scents the water, the skin, and even the room.

The crystals are biggish ones, neutral tinted, that dissolve almost instantly and don't interfere in the least with the lather you like to work up with your soap. A small handful does the whole job.

And, just to make things even better, there is also bath powder in this same cool, sweet, and lemonish scent. You'll love it. It's snowy white, fluffy as a cloud, and heavily laden with this fragrance. It comes with a nice fat puff, too.

French Cuisine Is Topic of Talk at Alliance Tea

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

If every one who heard Mrs. Arthur Byfield speak on "La Cuisine Francaise" before the Alliance Francaise yesterday afternoon is able to get the variety into her menus, so earnestly advocated by the speaker, that the Alliance gets in its Thursday programs, she should be a succes fou with her gourmet friends. The Alliance programs that follow a day of sewing in its club rooms in the Fine Arts building are as varied and spiced with interest as the most discriminating cuisiniere could desire in a new chef d'oeuvre, filled with herbs and of fragrance irresistible.

Next Friday, for instance, members of the Alliance and of its various boards of directors will be guests at tea of Mrs. John Collier, president of the woman's board, and Mr. Collier, at the Arts club. It will be a gay party, with impromptu divertissements provided by several of the guests. Olivier Rodin, formerly of the Folies Bergere of Brussels and favorite Paris entertainer, will sing a song or two. Georges Cauuet, head of the International theater; Henri David, and Arthur Meeker Jr. will add their bit to the merriment.

"A woman will gnash her teeth to see a friend in an identical frock, but she will serve the same meal that she had the week before in that friend's house without batting an eye," said Mrs. Byfield yesterday in her entertaining little talk—in French, of course. A meal that she suggested to send guests away with poetic sighs would consist of soup, fish—or a bisque or chowder soup instead of the two courses—a ragout of mutton or haricots secs, to replace the inevitable steak; a salad with dressing of salt, pepper, olive oil, and vinegar; cheese served alone and not accompanied by pie; fresh or cooked fruits, and coffee, served clear, hot, and strong.

Instead of cocktails, Mrs. Byfield advocated a light aperitif of sherry, vermouth sec, or dubonnet. There would be wine with the dinner, but no smoking, and fragrant cognac with the coffee.

Mrs. Moise Dreyfus was hostess at tea following the talk. Some of the guests who acquired new ideas for menus and a sudden curiosity about herbs were Mrs. Chauncey Borland, Mrs. Alfred Wolf, Mrs. Allan M. Clement, Mrs. Eugene Raymondeaud, Mrs. Eugene Matter, Mrs. Ralph Cornelison, and Mrs. Walter Bracken.

Woman's Aid Will Hear History Professor Today

Prof. J. Martin Klotsche will address the current events breakfast of the Chicago Woman's Aid at noon today in the clubrooms, 185 North Wabash avenue. His topic will be "What Are We Going to Do with Germany?" Dr. Klotsche is professor of history at Milwaukee State Teachers' college.

Religious News Notes

Dr. John W. Harms, executive secretary of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, has announced that more than 500 churches of the city will observe Federation Sunday this Sunday. Sermons on coöperative church work in the city, which will emphasize the need for support of federation activities, are to be given by pastors. . . . The day will open the fund campaign for the federation with a goal of approximately $88,000 to carry on the coöperative work of the 22 denominations included in the federation. Increased war time functions of the federation and expansion of activity accounts for an increased budget, Dr. Harms explained. . . . Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, director of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Cincinnati, O., has announced the organization of a Chicago federation of reformed synagogues on Jan. 18, under U. A. H. C. auspices. . . . Formal installation of Dr. Frederick K. Stamm as minister of First Congregational church, 1613 Washington boulevard, will be held Tuesday. The examination of the candidate for installation will take place at 4 p. m. Following dinner the installation will be conducted by the Reverends Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, Albert W. Palmer, Niel E. Hansen, Oliver Powell, and Albert Buckner Coe.

Dr. Palmer, who is president of Chicago Theological seminary, announces the 13th annual ministers week at the seminary, beginning Jan. 31, with Dr. Douglas Horton of Boston, Mass., minister of the General Council of the Congregational-Christian Churches delivering the 1944 Alden Tuthill lectures. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donnelson, missionaries repatriated on the Gripsholm after nearly two years in a Japanese prison camp, will speak at Belden Avenue Baptist church, Belden avenue and Halsted street, at morning and night services Sunday. . . . Capt. Mildred McAfee, director of WAVES, will speak Sunday morning at Rockefeller Memorial chapel, University of Chicago, and at the 7 o'clock service of the Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall. Bishop Henry Wise Hobson of Cincinnati will be the club's 8 o'clock preacher. . . . Bishop Wallace E. Conkling has announced the election of the Rev. Edward L. Lacher as rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Geneva, beginning Feb. 1. He succeeds the Rev. James G. Parker, now rector of St. Paul's church, Kankakee. . . . The annual methods conference of the Young People's Fundamental Fellowship of Chicago will convene tomorrow afternoon and night at Moody Memorial church, 1609 North La Salle street. Dr. M. R. De Haan of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be a principal speaker. . . . Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, minister of Fourth Presbyterian church, has announced that Chaplain Allan A. Zaun, his associate minister on leave for the duration, has been appointed senior chaplain of the U. S. S. Hornet. He was chaplain of the United States Naval academy, Annapolis, Md., before this appointment.

The problem of impending no-quorum vestry meetings, because of members entering military service, was solved at the Episcopal Church of Our Savior by electing such members vestrymen emeriti and reducing quorum requirements, but holding them as members. Lt. Col. Edwin M. Miller, Lt. Clarence C. Myers, and Apprentice Seaman Howard H. Iden were announced as so elected by the Rev. Donald B. Cline, pastor, with William H. Wisner, Tribune color map artist, reelected senior warden. . . . The Rev. Dr. Gerhard W. Grauer will install newly elected lay officials of St. Paul's Evangelical church, Fullerton parkway and Orchard street, Sunday morning.

The Chicago Dietetics association will hear Miss Mary Kennedy speak on "Business and Professional Women" at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Republic building.

Three Week Drive to Launch Catholic Girl Scout Troops

Opening a concerted drive for the formation of Catholic Girl Scout troops in the city and near-by suburbs, a series of 21 district meetings will be sponsored in the next three weeks by the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women at parish halls thruout the Chicago area.

The first of these will be a gathering of delegates of the north and northwest district at 8 o'clock tonight in the Evanston Catholic Women's clubhouse. Mrs. John Newton is president of this district and the Rev. M. D. McNamara, pastor of the St. Francis church at Wilmette, is adviser.

Mrs. John B. Bremner supervises the Girl Scout activities of the council, which employs a professional Girl Scout worker in the offices at 506 South Wabash avenue to assist in the training and organization of troops.

Seek $500,000 in Polio Drive Opening Today

A campaign to raise $500,000 for the fight against poliomyelitis will be opened today by the Cook county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Hundreds of booths, manned by volunteers, will be opened in strategic locations thruout the loop and outlying districts, replacing "Mile of Dimes" stands used in former campaigns. One hundred thousand OCD workers have enrolled in the army of volunteers who will conduct a house to house canvass to carry information of the drive to all Chicagoans. Contributors will be furnished with explanatory literature and coin folders, addressed to James R. Leavell, president of the Continental Illinois National bank and treasurer of the drive.

At the chapter headquarters, 166 West Jackson boulevard, it was announced that contributions have been coming in for several weeks.

Britton I. Budd and Col. A. A. Sprague, co-chairman of the drive, said it is fitting that the message of the foundation and its work be carried to every home in Chicago.

"Nearly every section of the city and county was affected by the infantile paralysis epidemic last year," Mr. Budd reported. A majority of the individuals afflicted were not able to bear the great expense of hospitalization and surgery extending over months."

He said the goal this year is twice that set for the 1943 drive because added funds are needed to meet a deficit from last year and to prepare for a possible recurrence of the epidemic in 1944. More than $300,000 was spent in combating the epidemic last fall, he announced, while the foundation spent $40,000 in special research connected with the epidemic here. Mr. Budd reported that grants of $116,392 were made to institutions in Cook county last year.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 13.—Joe Cotten's going to wish he was twins. He's announced for still another picture—this time "Portrait of Jennie" opposite Jennifer Jones. . . . So many people took bows on Jennifer's being selected for "Bernadette," let's give the credit where it belongs—to Bill Perlberg and Henry King. . . . I saw a picture called "War Department Report." It's really the war department's report to the nation and shows the preparedness of Germany and Japan and what we have to do to catch up—the long haul our soldiers and equipment have to make to reach any front. It's the darndest thing I've ever seen on the screen. Yet I'm told it won't be released in theaters. It wasn't made for the public, only for war workers in defense plants. Well, let me ask you this: Are they the only ones fighting this war? If they are, we're not going to win. This picture must be released in every theater thruout America. Sure, it puts the fear of God in you. It tells the truth. And since when are Americans so chicken-livered they can't accept the truth? But who's going to give it to them? I'm told it was made by unknowns. I hope they make more like it, but it must be seen in the theaters of our country.

Bringing in the Sheaves.

Anita Colby's friends are wondering who gave her that diamond and ruby ring with earrings to match. They came from a Washington biggie. Anita's off to 22 cities, advertising "Cover Girl," in which she appeared. Mighty smart of Harry Cohn, 'cause Anita's one beauty who can also talk intelligently. . . . Jean Arthur's fed up playing those screwball comedies, and to get away from that type of casting has taken up ballet dancing. . . . Gypsy Rose Lee writes from Fort Bragg hospital she's well enough to travel again. She expects to give her next performance in a wheel chair while wearing a G. I. night shirt, hospital socks, and shoes. That should be the neatest strip tease of the week. . . . Paulette Goddard was photographed with two bouquets of war stamps in her hair. She and the bond department hope the fad catches on.

Scored Again.

In "Lifeboat" Alfred Hitchcock reached his peak. I remember all the snide remarks made about it. "How can you do a picture with one set and that a lifeboat? Can't be done." It couldn't, except by Hitchcock. He had the sea and nine people to work with. Those nine represented every stratum of the human race—some good, some bad, some scum, especially a member of the "master race." No star in Hollywood could have given a finer performance than Tallulah Bankhead. Yet for years 'twas said she couldn't be photographed. Well, Glenn McWilliams did, and in many scenes Tallulah looked beautiful, and what a performer! Her authority matched the waves. John Hodiak has an unsheathed animalism about him that will have the girls standing in line. Bill Bendix and Hume Cronyn were excellent, and Henry Hull couldn't have been beaten. Heather Angel's brief part was too brief, the Negro race never fared so well on any screen, and the perfect representative of that race was Canada Lee. This is a picture!

Kind Heart.

Gary Cooper met a Greek in Australia who asked if he'd bring a present back to Charles Skouras. Gary said "Sure" and a package was handed him. Now let's go back a few years. Charlie Skouras loaned a Greek friend of his $6,000. The friend went to Australia and opened a group of theaters. Half the loan had been returned to him. Then war came and he couldn't send the rest of the money he'd borrowed. So what Cooper brought in was a package of $100 bills. Paying back the rest of the loan—and Cooper doesn't know it even yet. . . . Phil Reagan, who's 37 and 1-A in the draft, became a grandfather two months ago. Phil was married at the age of 17. His son, Joseph, is an air cadet and was married Dec. 12, 1942, to a Pasadena beauty, Jo Anne Bowler. Baby son, Michael, was born Nov. 12. Phil looks like a juvenile.

Only Needed Chance.

Before William Menzies finished directing "Address Unknown," Charlie Koerner grabbed him to direct Ginger Rogers in "The Gibson Girl." . . . Eve Whitney announced her engagement to Eddie Cherkose. Tells me it's another Hollywood Canteen romance. They met there when he was in the army. . . . Van Johnson threw his first studio party when "Three Men in White" wound up. Lionel Barrymore made one of his famous speeches.

Who Decides to Go Steady—Boy or Girl?

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

On the Solid Side

"It's almost always girls who want to go steady. They don't always come right out and say so, but after they've gone out with a boy a few times and think they like him, they sort of coax him into making it a steady thing by pouting and pretending to be mad if he goes out with some one else. Of course the fellow always likes the girl, too, but most of them wouldn't go steady unless their gal friends convinced them that they'd better—or else.

"I'm 18 and I've gone steady three times, the first time when I was 15. Each time I'd break up I'd date other fellows for a while, but I'd always feel lost and lonesome until I found some one to go steady with again. I don't know just why, but girls are so possessive and selfish that they aren't happy till they know they have a boy right under their thumb. If he just calls three or four times a week and takes her out on Saturdays and Sundays—that's not enough. She wants to know that he thinks about her and that she has him worried in between times. I don't know if boys realize it, but girls are always trying to corner them into something."

There's a candid letter from a shrewd bit of wolf bait who seems to know what little girls are made of. Sugar and spice and everything nice—maybe—with a little cold, calculating scheming on the side. According to her theory, the average queen, on the ball and neatly stacked, can snow a boy into anything. Just shine him with the old one-two con and melt him with a touch of feminine sweetness—and there he is, all set to go steady, but promptly!

But is that the way it really works? Are most boys coaxed into going steady without realizing what's happening or do they do some free and careful thinking before they allow themselves to be lured into a permanent dating duet? Maybe the potent pigeon [three times steady in three years] who wrote the letter has the score all wrong and she isn't fooling the fellows at all, but just vice versa. Going steady is a serious business and most chaps treat it that way. You can fool some of the people some of the time, but most smart fellows—well, not very often. And girls should remember that.

White Collar Girl

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Two of Me.

When I'm driving to my work
Along a city street
They constantly astonish me—
Pedestrians I meet;
They dash across, without a glance,
As tho they mean to say:
"We have no fear of screaming brakes—
We have the right of way."

But when I'm walking to my work
Along a city street,
They constantly astonish me—
The motorists I meet,
They race around the corner
And very plainly say:
"Now you can leap from curb to curb—
We have the right of way."

And there you have the two of me,
Each with a point of view;
I wish I were considerate
Of each of me—don't you?

Only one reader, A. R. W. [a housewife] submitted the name "solidus" for the oblique typewriter character which is usually nameless. Millie K. calls it an "oblique" and asks if she wins the $10. S. & E., Builders building, calls it a "virgule" and Mr. Webster's big, handsome dictionary gives both "solidus" and "virgule" for / typewriter sign.

From a Red Cross Secretary.

Thought you might like to hear how our "soldiers in pajamas" spent Christmas at a station hospital somewhere in New Guinea. The question of Christmas trees was solved by going into the jungle and cutting down cabbage palms. Extra leaves were cut to make wreaths and tied with red flannel binders. Some of the wards made Christmas trees by drilling holes into bamboo and sticking palm leaves into the holes. I designed and had the boys cut over 500 Christmas ornaments made of show card paper which I painted on both sides—and was it a job! Bamboo poles were cut and painted red to look like candles and we stuck a wad of cotton on top. On the trees we also used curlycues of aluminum and cotton; we put a star on top. The boys decorated the wards with paper—everything and anything we had on hand—and the color combinations were something to remember: Orange, blue, red, green, yellow, brown. It looked like a mardi gras, but it was such fun! The best decorated ward was given a prize.

The next step was to find a Santa Claus. One of our officers donned pajamas and we fixed him up with rouge, lipstick, and cotton. Then Santa Claus and I rode from ward to ward tooting a horn and delivering gifts to each boy.

We had a program Christmas eve and served sandwiches, coffee, and fruit juice, which was enjoyed no end. We folded up at 10:30 that night exhausted after 15 hours of work, but it was worth it because it made the boys happy. Yes—Mr. Jones—this is the Army—your Army and believe you me it hasn't taken me 10 months in New Guinea to discover that our boys have everythings it takes to win! As ever,

Child Usually Outgrows His Behaviorisms

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A child does this or that which troubles his mother. An older girl or boy does something else that worries both father and mother. Eagerly they try to bring about a change. Sometimes they can, but sometimes they can't. Nature is at work, and she can't be rushed. Then we must be like the good physician who says, "I don't cure; Nature cures. I just help her."

We must be like that: do our best and not expect instant results. A mother who has had experience and gained perspective knows that children work out of so many things. I feel as tho, as a duty, I should repeat that for you again and again. It's such a comforting thought.

But it's one that isn't likely to occur to the young or inexperienced mother, to the one who is agonizing over her first baby, enjoying with a sort of fearful delight her adorable small child, or watching with loving misgivings the development of her long-legged, slim, vigorous son or daughter. It's only the experienced mother who can see, or say to you, that children outgrow or work thru many worrying difficulties.

There are two sorts of behavior that worry parents. There is one kind for which we can find the remedy if we use a moderate amount of such ingredients as intelligence, understanding and common sense.

But there is other behavior which we may handle with real skill and which baffles us: stubbornness, irresponsibility, quick or violent temper, fears. These we must work on, of course, but sometimes it takes years before a child's good sense and a certain maturity will bring him thru them.

As our children develop, we are likely to find behavior or phases of personality that resist our efforts to clear them up. At such times we must have faith, and realize that children work out of many, many things.

When a player manages to go down two tricks on a hand that is absolutely cold for an over-trick, it is high time for him to brush up a little on his technique. Observe South's inept, but [alas] all too typical, handling of the following case.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades [final bid]

West opened his fourth highest club. Declarer won with the nine and, after the most cursory inspection of the dummy, led a diamond to the ace and returned the diamond ten. His "reason" for this sequence of plays was transparent: he had four miserable diamonds in his own hand, three of them losers, and would have to ruff a couple in dummy. Unfortunately for his side, matters did not proceed exactly as planned. West won the second diamond lead and continued clubs. East ruffed and returned a diamond. West ruffed with the ten and led another club. East ruffed and led another diamond. Declarer helplessly followed suit while West ruffed with the jack. Result: down 200.

This was quite a contrast with what should have been the outcome. It was downright criminal for South to permit an adverse crossruff. What conceivable point could there be in ruffing diamonds immediately? Or, to put it more directly, what could possibly be wrong with drawing two rounds of trumps? Even if trumps were to break 4-1, declarer had in clear sight four club tricks, three high trumps, the two red aces—and nothing could stop him from ruffing at least one diamond in dummy. Thus, the ten tricks needed for contract were safe against any vicissitudes of chance, but they were not safe against the declarer's own fumbling.

'The Clock Strikes Twelve'

By Patricia Wentworth

(Copyright: 1944: By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull.)

SYNOPSIS: James Paradine telephones to Elliot Wray to come to River House at once. Blueprints are missing. He says it is a family matter. He knows who took them. The family assembles for New Year's eve dinner—Grace Paradine, sister of James, who has kept house for him for 20 years since his wife died; her adopted daughter, Phyllide Wray; Mark and Dicky Paradine, cousins, and nephews of James Paradine; Frank Ambrose [Paradine's step-son]; his wife, Irene, and his sister, Brenda, and Lydia Pennington, Irene's sister. When James Paradine joins the family group with cousin-secretary, Albert Pearson, he announces there will be another guest for dinner, Elliot Wray, who is with him. Phyllida is startled to see her husband whom she hasn't seen for a year. Elliott is angered when he discovers Phyllida has discarded her wedding ring.

INSTALMENT V.
AN ACCUSATION.

Grace Paradine faced her brother down the length of the table. She had had her moment of blinding anger, but for all that any one could see it had passed. She was the charming, gracious hostess, friend and confidante of all the family.

For twenty years it had been, "Ask Aunt Grace—Aunt Grace will know," whenever there was anything to be done. Only Elliot Wray had stood aloof, made her no confidences—had asked her for nothing at all and had taken Phyllida. She thought of him always as a thief. He had stolen but he hadn't been able to keep what he had taken. Phyllida had come back. That James should have brought Elliot here, and tonight of all nights in the year; that Elliot should be so lost to all sense of decency as to come—these were things which were hardly to be believed. The anger which had shaken her had been the sharpest that she could remember. She had controled it. She talked perhaps a little less than usual, but how charmingly she listened to Dicky as he spoke of Lydia, to Frank Ambrose as he pursued a long complaint about Irene, about Brenda.

"It's an extraordinary thing that women can't get on together. Those two girls are always sparring. Brenda is 10 years older than Irene. You'd think she'd be glad to have her advice about the children, about the house. After all, Brenda and I did keep house together for nine years. You'd think Irene would be glad of her experience, but no, it's hands off at every turn. She's utterly unreasonable."

Grace Paradine smiled.

"Young wives often are. You must be patient, Frank."

Lane and the parlor maid were removing the cloth. The epergne was lifted to the sideboard, to be replaced upon the bare mahogany together with a ritual display of hothouse grapes, stem ginger, and apples on silver dishes. Heavy cut-glass decanters with port, sherry, and madeira were placed in front of James Paradine.

Across the empty board Elliot saw Phyllida. She was lovely. She had been his. She was a lovely stranger with Phyllida's hair and Phyllida's eyes, and the lips which he had kissed.

James Paradine addressed the assembled family.

"Before we drink our usual toasts I have something to say. It has been my custom to celebrate New Year's eve with a family gathering. It has not been my custom to interpose a speech at this particular juncture, but tonight I ask your indulgence. I can promise you two things—I shall be brief, and you will not be bored." He paused here, saw that they were all looking at him—carelessly, intently, with surprise—and continued. "The matter is personal, but unfortunately not pleasant. This is a family party. Everyone here is a member of the family, everyone here is connected with it either by blood or by marriage." His eyes traveled round the table. "Brenda—Elliot—Lydia—Richard—Grace—Frank—Albert—Phyllida—Mark—Irene—here you all are, as you were last year. And what I have to say to you is just this—one of you has been disloyal. A family holds together because of its common interests. If these interests are betrayed, there can be no security. I am stating as an incontrovertible fact that one of you has betrayed these interests. I am not saying this in order to surprise the guilty person into some sign of guilt. I need no such sign, for I know who this guilty person is."

He paused again, and again looked round the table. Nobody's expression had changed, but there was in every case an intensification, a hardening, as if stiffening muscles had caught and held it. He continued his speech.

"I don't want there to be any mistake about that, so I will repeat it—I know who the guilty person is. I take this means of communicating the fact for several reasons. Punishment is one of them. That person is not in a very enviable position. That person is wondering at this moment whether I am going to name him—or her. Well, I am not going to do that—not at this time, not just now—perhaps not at all. That will depend upon the person himself—or herself. I am inclined to clemency, whether from family feeling, from the desire to wash dirty linen in decent privacy, or for some other reason. I therefore state that after we rise from this festive board I shall be in my study until midnight. The person whom I have refrained from naming will find me there, and find me prepared to make terms. We will now proceed to drink our usual toasts. I give you the Paradine-Moffat Works coupled with the names of John Cadogan and Elliot Wray, to whose outstanding designs the whole country owes so much. May output continue on an ever ascending curve and invention lead the way." He lifted his glass.

There was no answering stir about the table. Irene took a choking breath. It was very nearly a sob. Frank Ambrose said, "Sir!" on a protesting note. Grace Paradine alone leaned forward and took up her glass.

James said incisively:

"No one except the guilty person can have any objection to drinking this toast. I am afraid I shall regard abstinence in the light of a public confession. I give you the Paradine-Moffat Works."

This time every glass was lifted. Phyllida's just touched her lips and was set down again.

James Paradine lifted his glass again.

"To absent friends."

The tension, which had almost reached breaking point, slackened a little. There was to be no immediate, irremediable disaster.

The third toast followed.

"Sweethearts and wives."

James Paradine gave it out with a subtle change of voice and manner. There was the suggestion of a challenge. He looked from Irene to Frank, from Phyllida to Elliot Wray. He looked at Lydia and Dicky. He went on smoothly. "With this toast I couple the memory of my wife." This time he drained his glass and sat down.

A breath of relief went around. The worst was over. Grace Paradine looked at Irene and pushed back her hair.

Gayety, Wit Mark Rentner Spring Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—The surrounded by government restrictions and limitations, and by scarcities, none of the American designers' collections being displayed at the New York show for fashion editors reflect the slightest hint of frustration in women's fashions for the coming season.

Maurice Rentner, for example, combines colors and materials with gayety and wit to make his simplest dresses a joy to wear. His "mix and patch" theme is achieved with finesse. Patches achieve a distinctive air and look like detailed motifs worked by skilled fingers.

Representative of his work are slim young navy blue suits with appliqued oak leaves on the sides of the jacket—a vivid red one high on the left side, a giddy green leaf near the belt line. The jackets are lined half and half with red and gold or red and green, and the colors are deftly repeated in narrow bands on collar and cuffs.

The stop and go traffic light costumes have a half circle of stop-red to accent the hip pocket of the skirt and a half circle of go-green high on the chest of the opposite side of the jacket. Such suits have a blithe spring freshness welcome to every jaded winter wardrobe, for they can easily slide under fur jackets or coats now and be ready for wear later for spring with full scarves.

The theme with which Rentner is welcoming spring is an ingenious variation of the weskit dress. The dress includes a jumper effect, so that much is accomplished in a single model. Long sleeves in colors as brilliant as tomato red give a navy blue jumper dress something different. The top of the jumper carrier out the fake weskit idea, even to a pointed outline in the lower edge showing just beneath the narrow belt. This model is all in one piece and the designing is a clever combination of ideas. The younger crowd of junior executives and college girls will make them headline fashions in a week.

Other dresses with this engaging weskit styling are featured in white with a navy blue weskit top front section. These are regulation one piece dresses of simple design with short sleeves. Rentner suits for spring are smoothies, some in gray flannel, some in checks, and some in very fine hair line stripes.

Brass buttons flash from the center panels of navy blue suits, while stunning large plastic buttons decorate the front line of the suits intended more for dress parade. Short jackets, inches shorter than in any other season, come in eye dazzling shades of scarlet, gold, and green, teamed, of course, with tooth-pick slim dark skirts. Shirtwaist blouses, with long sleeves ending in a prim foldover masculine cuff, are a spring "must" for every tailored or bolero suit.

Patricia Travers, 15 year old violinist, will be the soloist tonight in the third concert of the civic concert series given by circle 27 of the Oak Park and River Forest Infant Welfare. The program will be given at 8:30 in the auditorium of the Oak Park and River Forest Township High school.

John Cowles, publisher and director of the Harvard Alumni association, will speak at the winter luncheon meeting of the Chicago Harvard club at 12:30 p. m. today at the University club. The club's new president, Nathan S. Davis III., will preside.

Here and There.

Maj. and Mrs. Boerge Rohde [Ruth Bryan Owen] will be in Chicago until next Thursday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrik Chramer. Maj. Rohde is serving with the United States army, and he and his wife came from New York.

Another young woman who has returned to Chicago to live with her parents while her husband serves overseas is Mrs. Frank F. Fowle Jr. She and her little daughter are in Winnetka with the Ernest S. Ballards. Lt. Fowle is serving in the Pacific with the navy. His brother-in-law, Lt. [j. g.] Ellis Ames Ballard II., also is serving in the Pacific, while another of the Ballards' sons, Corp. Joseph Ballard, is in England. Ernest Ballard Jr., who will be graduated from Andover academy in February, will enter a navy V-12 training program.

Messages of congratulation are being sent to Flight Lt. and Mrs. James H. Gillfillan [Patricia Emrich] in Saskatoon, Canada, on the birth of a daughter Jan. 3. The baby, who has been named Diane, is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solon J. Gillfillan of Glencoe and of the C. Lyman Emrichs of Evanston. Flight Lt. Gillfillan is senior pilot instructor at his royal Canadian air force post.

FASHIONS By Angela

Sheer wool dressmaker suits which may be worn now under heavy coats or on balmy spring days are so designed as to be worn with or without blouses. All focus attention on outstanding dressmaker details which mark this season's suit successes.

Color combination and line are the dominant features of the navy sheer wool [left]. Insets of lime wool on the sleeve and in the jacket furnish a new slant in suit fashions and create an unusual yoke effect. The high notch lapel and smooth flat collar are flattering compliments to tall women. The front closing, marked with large plastic buttons, is flanked on each side by piping of the same material, and two slit pockets at the hipline. The skirt is gored and straight. This same model is available in combinations of black and red and navy and red.

Trapunto quilting attributes its share of high styling to the dressmaker suit of gray sheer wool [center]. Collarless and in the button up category, the simple quilted design outlines the pockets, neckline, and across the jacket. Darts above the pockets produce a slim line. The six gored skirt is a perfection of fit.

Smartly simple and unadorned is the immediate impression of the lime green sheer wool suit [right]. The short jacket is slim and smooth below the waistline with a slight but becoming fullness above, an effect which is achieved by a series of darts running vertically around the suit at the waistine. Large sequin covered buttons add an interesting dash of brilliance. This same model is available in a variety of shades.

500 More Boys Offer to Help Gather Paper

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Chicago's motto, "I Will," had a youthful ring to it yesterday when more than 500 high school boys answered the call for helpers to load and unload trucks in the city-wide, curb-side, wastepaper collection tomorrow. The boys were recruited by principals and teachers at mass meetings in the schools called at the request of James B. McCahey, president of the board of education. The recruiting will continue thruout today.

The high school boys will swell the lists of Chicago youths, who have already volunteered to assist in the pick-up, to more than 3,000. An appeal to the Chicago Council of the Boy Scouts of America brought a list of 2,000 older Scouts who are ready to help, and the Chicago Boys' club recruited more than 300 members from its ranks.

The schools receiving immediate and enthusiastic responses to their appeals yesterday included Crane, Tilden, Forman, Fenger, Harper, Lake View, Morgan Park, Englewood, Roosevelt, Gage Park, Kelvyn Park, Hirsch, Von Steuben, and Tuley High schools. More are expected to be heard from today.

The task of collecting paper from more than 16,000 blocks thruout the city and of loading and unloading a fleet of 600 salvage trucks thruout the entire day will be a strenuous one and campaign leaders hope that many more Chicagoans, both men and boys, will volunteer to assist. With additional workers, Lloyd M. Johnson, city commissioner of streets and electricity, will work out a plan whereby volunteers will not be required to work with the trucks all day.

Volunteers not already signed up and wishing to take part in this patriotic job are requested to telephone their respective ward superintendents before noon today.

The trucks will start from 82 centers at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow and will reach many blocks before 8 a. m. Because an early start is necessary to cover the entire city, housewives are asked to place their bundles of wastepaper out on the curbs as early in the morning as possible. The problem also will be facilitated if the bundles are carried to a central location in the block so that fewer pickups will be required.

Six hundred members of the Municipal County Employees' and Foremen's union, local 1001, will help to man the salvage trucks tomorrow, Frank Esposito, president, reported last evening.

Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

Patients in the station hospital at Fort Sheridan will long remember the special shopping service which the Red Cross Gray Lady hospital and recreation unit, numbering 22 north shore women, is performing for convalescent service men.

Mrs. Elsa B. Chapin of Winnetka, senior Gray Lady at the hospital, and the women working with her take patients' shopping orders as part of their routine hospital assistance, which includes writing letters for the men and reading to them.

The Gray Ladies, in groups of four, assist the men from 1 to 4 p. m. each week day. When a shopping order is given, the Gray Lady takes the money and gives the soldier a receipt. The lists are checked by ward nurses to be certain that a man with a stomach disorder doesn't order forbidden foods, or a sufferer from respiratory infection, big, black cigars!

Miss Margaret Ruth Stakes, assistant Red Cross field director at the station hospital, who has charge of activities, said orders for engagement rings are not uncommon. The Gray Ladies also are occasionally commissioned to shop for imported perfume, a hard to find item.

The South Shore Country club will have the first of a series of monthly parties for men and women in uniform tomorrow night. Entitled "canteen cabaret," the entertainment will be presented in the informal manner of overseas canteen shows.

Members of the club have been asked to attend the party with at least one service man or woman as guest. There will be a special dinner and a dance orchestra.

Arthur Harre is chairman of the club's entertainment committee.

The Daughters of Indiana will sponsor a party from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday at the U. S. O. club, 131 South Wabash avenue. Several members of the cast of the musical, "Sons o' Fun," will give a program for service men visiting the club that day.

The entertainment arrangements are in the hands of Mrs. Charles W. Stigman and her committee, Mrs. A. Paul Vignola and Miss Pearl Power. Mrs. Vignola has charge of games and prizes, which will include long distance telephone calls, and Miss Power of general arrangements.

A buffet supper will be served at 5 p. m. Mrs. Fale A. Hurd heads the foods committee. Mrs. Arthur L. Eller will be chaperone for the junior hostesses who will dance with the service men after supper.

Crowded hospital conditions and the shortage of nurses brought about by the war have caused the Visiting Nurse association to enlarge its scope of service on the home front.

To relieve the pressure on clinic and nursing staffs, and to insure proper care of patients at home who, these war time days, are leaving the hospitals earlier than they used to in order to vacate rooms and beds for new patients, the visiting nurses contact clinic personnel of Michael Reese, Presbyterian, and St. Luke's hospitals and follow up on cases.

Miss Mary E. Westphal is superintendent of the Visiting Nurse association.

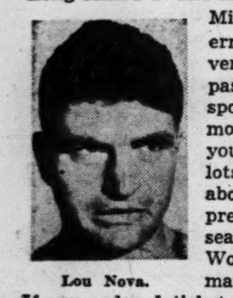
HAWKS END LOSING STREAK; TOP RANGERS, 5-2

In the WAKE of the NEWS

[While Arch Ward is on vacation the Wake will be prepared by members of the sports staff.]

LOU NOVA has announced that, in addition to dropping Manager Ray Carlen, he has given up yoga. . . . Now, if he only can find somebody he can whip. . . . Every Yankee victory in the last world series was the work of a pitcher who learned how in college. . . . Spud Chandler of Georgia won two games and Marius Russo of Long Island U. and Hank Borowy of Fordham the other two. . . . Since Michigan came back into the Western conference in 1917, the Wolverines have not let a calendar year pass without winning at least one sports championship. . . . The Baltimore Orioles have signed seven young players off Louisville's sandlots. . . . Frank Graham's new book about John McGraw will be off the presses at about the time the 1944 season opens. . . . Sudden thought: Wouldn't Muggsy's life make fine material for a motion picture? . . .



Lou Nova.

John McGraw.

If you ordered tickets for the sixth game of the world series, which never was played, and have not received a refund, the St. Louis Cardinals would like to hear from you. . . . They still are holding $15,000 in unclaimed cash. . . . Clint Adams, acting graduate manager of athletics and baseball coach at the University of California, has turned down the Pacific coast baseball league's $10,000 a year offer to become its president. . . . The Senators, who finished 13½ games back of the Yankees, will open the campaign without three of the men who helped them come that close. . . . The trio comprises Bob Johnson, who has been sold; Jake Early, who has been called by Uncle Sam, and Gerald Priddy, who expects a similar summons soon. . . . No wonder Joe McCarthy feels his Yankees can repeat, even without Charley Keller, Joe Gordon, and Chandler. . . . Unless there are further departures, the Yanks will get away in April with the following approximate lineup: Johnny Lindell, Bud Metheny, and Roy Weatherly, outfield, and George Stirnweiss, Bill Johnson, Frank Crosetti, and Nick Etten in the infield.

One of the comeback attempts which will be watched with interest in the Cleveland Plain Dealer's Golden Gloves tournament Jan. 27, 28, and Feb. 1 will be that of Tommy Keegan, who as Tommy Patton won the novice featherweight crown six years ago. . . . Tommy, who retired after scoring 10 additional amateur victories, is back now, still a featherweight, seeking an open title and a chance to battle in Chicago's Tournament of Champions. . . . He used the phony name the first time in an attempt to keep his folks in the dark, but the ruse failed and both his mother and father were at the ringside to cheer him on.

The Lost Bomber.

Did you read of the midnight raid last night,
The big one over France?
'Twas a big success, the papers said—
The Nazis hadn't a chance.

Fifty bombers had left the base
To fly thru the punishing flak.
"Great news!" This morning's headlines screamed,
For all except one came back.

Bill, next door, is a bombardier.
His wife has heard of the raid—
One plane lost—please, God, not that—
His letters were only delayed.

Joe, down the street, was a whiz at math,
Navigation was for him.
His mother and dad saw the headlines, too,
And was it great news for them?

A letter has come from overseas—
A heartening note from Jack.
He's piloting a bomber now;
Look! All except one came back.
Katherine Malatesta.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—The Chicago Blackhawks ended their six game losing streak and extended the New York Rangers' string of defeats to the same length tonight by defeating the National Hockey league's cellar dwellers, 5 to 2, before a crowd of 13,493.

Bill Mosienko set the pace for an unexciting performance by scoring three goals, two of them within a space of 32 seconds in the second period, as the Hawks built up a long lead and then just coasted in behind a tight defense.

Bentley Outstanding Performer

It was Doug Bentley, however, who was the outstanding performer for Chicago. He set up all three of Mosienko's goals, missed a couple himself by narrow margins and time after time spoiled Ranger efforts by intercepting their passes.

After the second Blackhawk goal, scored all alone by Johnny Gottselig, the Rangers never were in the game. They kept trying hard to whittle down the Chicago lead, but a strong defense led by Earl Seibert and ably backed by Goalie Mike Karakas, shut off most of their efforts.

Only One Penalty Called.

Hank D'Amore, called up from the Brooklyn Crescents, scored the first New York goal late in the second period and Bob Dill, rookie defenseman, made the other a few seconds after Cully Dahlstrom rang up the final Chicago tally.

Only one penalty was called during the entire game, D'Amore drawing a two minute assessment for slashing in the second period.

The Hawks' next game will be in Chicago against the Montreal Canadiens Sunday night.

OHIO STATE WILL OPEN ITS BIG 10 SLATE TONIGHT

Buckeyes Face Indiana; Three Other Games.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

While conference rivals will have an eye on the score in Columbus, O., tonight where Ohio State opens its Big Ten basketball season against Indiana, Purdue and Northwestern, two of the unbeaten leaders, hope to maintain their position at the top.

There scarcely is any doubt that the Wildcats will win their third game of the campaign since they meet Chicago in the Evanston High school gymnasium tonight and while the Maroons have broken their consecutive record of defeats in all games scheduled, they continue to add to their string of lickings in conference competition.

Purdue, with victories over Chicago and Indiana, opens a two game series tonight in Lafayette with Minnesota. Michigan plays at Wisconsin this evening to complete the four game conference program. The schedule tomorrow night is the same except that Illinois is Chicago's opponent in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

Coach Remembers Close Call.

Coach Dutch Lonborg will start Northwestern's varsity quintet which has overwhelmed Michigan and Wisconsin. The Wildcat coach still remembers the game on the same court two years ago when Chicago then was in its second season of conference play without a victory. That night the Maroons led Northwestern until the closing seconds when a long field goal by Ray Vincent gave the Wildcats a 47 to 46 triumph.

Northwestern, which currently is the favorite over Purdue and Iowa, other undefeated quintets, for the championship, apparently has the best team since it won the title more than a decade ago. Capt. Otto Graham no longer must do most of the scoring and consequently his passing and defensive play are more appreciated. George Felt, 6 foot 4 inch center, is invaluable under the back boards, and the other three regulars, Bernie Schadler, Jerry Carle, and Johnny Ward are excellent long distance shots.

Purdue Faces Minnesota.

The offering in Lafayette tonight is Purdue's speed against Minnesota's stout defense. Altho the Gophers lost two games last week to Iowa, both were closely contested and Minnesota will be the best conference opponent of the season for the Boilermakers.

Ohio State has made one change in its starting lineup since defeating Pittsburgh last week. Jack Dugger, an end on the football team, has replaced Rodney Caudill at forward. Caudill has started all previous contests. Capt. Don Grate is the other forward.

Wisconsin's series with Michigan quite likely will determine the Badgers' title hopes, since they have lost to Illinois and Northwestern. Their one victory was registered in the second game of the Illinois series at Champaign. Tom King leads the Michigan attack which won from Illinois last Saturday evening after a defeat in the opening game the previous night by Northwestern.

FT. CUSTER LOSES TO GREAT LAKES QUINTET, 63 TO 38

Reversing the usual procedure, Paul Armstrong last night was the scoring star instead of Herman Schaefer, as the Great Lakes basketball team defeated Fort Custer, 63 to 38, in the Great Lakes drill hall for its 13th victory in 15 games.

Schaefer was able to get only one basket as his teammate from Indiana university was sinking nine field goals and seven free throws for 25 points. Howard McCarty, former Wayne university player and the only ex-collegian in the Custer lineup, led the losers with 14 points.

FOUR FIGHTING SOLDIERS

ARMY BOYS SEEK GOLDEN GLOVES

Veterans to Fight on the Camp Grant Team.

BY FRANK MASTRO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 13.—Three boys well known to boxing fans were among the soldiers who this afternoon started the struggle in the U. S. O. gymnasium for positions on the team which will represent Camp Grant in the annual Golden Gloves tournament, opening in Chicago Jan. 31.

These are Charles Busalacchi, welterweight finalist in the Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium last March; Tim Dalton, who went to the semi-finals in the lightweight class in the big show, and Al Prislinger, 1943 Catholic Youth organization welterweight champion.

Each sparred two rounds of three minutes, as did other candidates for the squad, under the supervision of Sgt. Lou Woods and Lt. John Sutton, head coach and officer in charge, respectively, of the Camp Grant boxers. As soon as he returned to the post, Lt. Sutton gave a glowing account of the hard, fast workout to his superior officer, Lt. Col. Frank A. Bush, camp special services officer, whose interest in the fighters is paramount.

Holds Ross Trophy.

Busalacchi, 21 years old and former sand slinger in a war plant in West Allis, Wis., on the outskirts of his native Milwaukee, was chosen as recipient of the Barney Ross sportsmanship trophy after winning his quarter-final bout in the Tournament of Champions. Charley defeated Don Dickinson of Terre Haute, Ind., in his semi-final bout, but was stopped by Morris Corona, the Fort Worth, Tex., veteran for the championship in the final round.

Dalton, 1943 Chicago city Golden Gloves 135 titleholder, will be remembered for getting up off the floor to beat Clinton Hirata, Camp Grant's representative last year, in the quarter-finals. Tho he was eliminated by Chuck Hunter of Cleveland on a close decision in the finals, Tim gained a place on Chicago's intercity squad. He helped the Chicagoans deal New York its worst defeat in the history of the famous event by conquering Max Grothe, Manhattan's rugged lightweight. The score was 14 bouts to 2.

A C. Y. O. Boy.

Dalton also captured the C. Y. O. title in his class last November. Prislinger dethroned Sam Washington as 147 pound champion in that meet after one of the roughest battles of the evening. Al entered the army 24 hours later at Fort Sheridan, but was transferred to Camp Grant shortly thereafter. Camp Grant's Golden Gloves candidates include:

Tony Zavala, Chicago, 118; William Cockel, Chicago, and Gene Dul, Trenton, N. J., 126; Emmit O'Banion, Vince Pellegrini, and Tim Dalton, all of Chicago, and Dom D'Acquisto, Milwaukee, 135; Mach Wilt, Al Prislinger, Chicago, and Trinidad Inocensio, Mount Pleasant, Mich., 147; Jackie Myers, Portland, Me.; Fred Cortreras, Pomona, Cal.; Don Lapsley, Chicago; Charles Busalacchi, Milwaukee, and Charles Smith, 160, and Joe Chuckro, 175.

337 to Bid for Golden Gloves in Cleveland

Cleveland, O., Jan. 13 [Special].—Flyweight Mike Laquatra of the United States coast guard, 1943 champion, heads the field of 337 boys entered in the Plain Dealer's 16th annual Golden Gloves tournament in the Arena Jan. 27, 28, Feb. 1 and 4. Laquatra, only open division champion returning, has received approval from his commanding officers in New York and will defend his title during his furlough.

Three novice winners last winter have stepped up into the open class and one of them, Rudy Molinaro, a Cleveland Plain Dealer employe, looms as the most dangerous threat to Laquatra's bid for a second title.

Prep Star Is Threat.

The other former novices are Featherweight Walter Carroll and Light Heavyweight Murphy Lucas, basketball star at an east side high school.

In addition, the open group has Featherweight Tommy Patton who, in 1938, won the novice 126 pound championship.

Tommy was trained by Johnny Kilbane, former world featherweight champion, and he has never been defeated. He boxed infrequently after 1938 and has a record of 14 triumphs. During the summer he plays baseball in the top sandlot division and is in excellent condition.

Other Cities Send Teams.

The entire northeastern Ohio A. A. U. district will be represented in the fighting in the Arena. Qualifying trials were held in Akron and Youngstown. Other Ohio cities sending fighters include Lorain, Canton, Massillon, Niles, Warren, Poland, Medina, and Dorset.

An unusually large number of middleweights, light heavyweights, and heavyweights are entered. In the open division alone there are 40 boys in the three divisions.

FILE THOSE ENTRIES!

While it is impossible to set a definite date for closing entries for the 17th annual Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago, individual entries must be mailed several days

COCHRAN TAKES BILLIARD LEAD

Defeats Hoppe, 75 to 47, in Evening Match.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Willie Hoppe began reaching for that chalk yesterday afternoon and Welker Cochran got his Irish up last night. That was the story of the fourth day of the Chicago phase of the traveling exhibition battle the two masters are currently waging in the snug little enclosure at Bensinger's Recreation, 131 South Wabash avenue. As a result, Cochran now leads the local side of the duel, 550 points to 547, and for the entire series, which began in Kansas City and will be followed by stands in Detroit and New York City, the Californian now trails William by only 55 points, 892 to 947.

Every ivory connoisseur who ever has watched Hoppe in action is aware that when the old gentleman reaches for that nubbin of chalk before the balls on one shot have even stopped rolling, he's in stride. Thruout the first three days of the Chicago bout, William has had a peck of trouble with tenacious Cochran, who won five of the first eight blocks and went into the 3 p. m. opener yesterday with a Chicago margin of 400 to 398.

Hoppe Wins Two Blocks.

Hoppe hadn't won a single afternoon block until yesterday's matinee. Because he was two points in arrears of a perfect eight block aggregate of 400 points, he had to click off 52 billiards yesterday before Cochran scored 50 billiards. Not only did he deliver those 52, but restrained Welker to 42. This proved to be just a sort of rehearsal, for the 56 year old New Yorker found the combination in the second block at 6 p. m. and ran off with a 56 to 33 decision.

Came the evening session, and Cochran, Hoppe's most implacable challenger for more than a decade, indicated that he was riled by the fact that he trailed Willie by 25 points, and therefore had to shoot at a total of 75 before Willie could make his 50th point. While Welker

MIKE TOBIN OF ILLINOIS DIES AT 64; LONG ILL

Sports Publicity Director Since 1922.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 13 (AP).—Louis M. [Mike] Tobin, 64 years old, publicity director of the University of Illinois athletic department and widely known in the collegiate sports world, died tonight at his home here after a long illness.

A graduate of Illinois, Tobin at one time was editor of the Journal of the American Bankers' Association, but had been associated with the university's athletic department since 1922.

Tobin is survived by his widow and two children, Lt. [j. g.] James Tobin of the navy and Roger Gill Tobin.

He was stricken with a heart attack last fall while vacationing at Spring Brook, Wis. His left leg was amputated Sept. 1 because of a gangrenous condition which followed.

After nearly two months in Ashland [Wis.] General hospital he returned here where he entered McKinley hospital. He had been at his home for the last month.

Tobin had been a familiar campus figure since his undergraduate days at the turn of the century.

It was Tobin who first sounded the trumpet for a red haired Illini football hopeful from Wheaton, Ill., who later was to pack Memorial stadium on football Saturdays as the Galloping Ghost. Long before most persons ever had heard of this youth, Tobin was advising his sports writer friends to keep their eyes on Red Grange.

Developed Publicity Department.

Tobin joined the staff of the athletic association at the urging of his friend, the late George Huff, former director of athletics. He developed one of the first departments of athletic publicity at any university. One of his first undertakings was distribution of a weekly news sheet to the thousands of contributors who made possible the building of the 2 million dollar Memorial stadium which then was under construction.

His was among the first football data to reach the sports editors' desks at the start of a season. In the Illinois press box he saw that writers had accommodations and assistance needed for coverage. In March, 1940, a committee of state newspaper men halted proceedings at a state basketball tournament to give him an engraved watch.

Born in Danville, Ill., March 18, 1879, he was the son of James and Mary Gill Tobin and the grandson of Michael Gill, a Danville pioneer. He moved to Urbana with his parents in 1897 and was a member of the university class of 1901.

Leader in Welfare Work.

While in college he corresponded for newspapers and for several years afterward he was employed as editor of the journal of the American Bankers' association. For many years he was a leader in the Family Welfare society's work for the underprivileged. He also was chairman of the commission which drafted Champaign's zone ordinance, and until his death was secretary of the city planning commission. He also was a member of the university athletic board of control for many years prior to his appointment as publicity director.

He was author of several national magazine articles and collaborated with former Coach Robert Zuppke on numerous other stories.

RUFFIN TO MEET LARKIN TONIGHT IN 10 ROUND BOUT

PRO LEAGUE TO OPERATE WITH 11 TEAMS IN '44

Boston Added; Bids by Coast Cities Tabled.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The National Football league's first round of shadow boxing for the 1944 season came to a peaceful conclusion yesterday afternoon at the Blackstone hotel. As matters stood when the delegates made a rush for home-bound trains, the league will operate next fall as an 11-team unit, in contrast to the eight which took the field in 1943. In 1930 there were 11 teams in the league and back in 1926, 21 clubs participated.

The lineup of teams puts six in the east and five in the west, as follows: East—New York, Washington, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh; west—Bears, Cardinals, Green Bay, Detroit, Cleveland. Last season there were four teams in each group—New York, Washington, Phil-Pitt, Brooklyn in the east, and the Bears, Cards, Green Bay, and Detroit in the west.

Table Coast Applications.

Three franchise applications—from Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Buffalo—were tabled. Representatives of the two coast cities were given back their checks of $25,000, which must accompany franchise requests. However, the $25,000 guarantee plunked down by Sam Cordovano, spokesman for the Buffalo syndicate, remained in the league treasury. At the next league meeting, April 19, in Philadelphia, the Buffalo matter likely again will be considered, contingent on the war situation at the time.

The league officials and club owners agreed that professional football for the coast is somewhat in the future because of war conditions. It was pointed out that even if the European war shortly ends, the concentration of men and material in California for the big push against Japan would be so terrific that football in that sector would be out of the question.

Cordovano said that Buffalo, if granted a franchise in April, would be willing to operate, but only the finish of the war in Europe would make this possible.

Meet Again April 19.

Significantly, the league set only a starting date for its next huddle—April 19. At this meeting the schedule for 11 teams will be drawn and experience has convinced Commissioner Elmer Layden that labors on it cannot be measured in hours or days. An 11th team further complicates the schedule.

At the April meeting each team will draft 30 college players, a total of 330, if the 1943 pattern is followed. Last year's selection of 300 graduating collegians netted only 23 recruits, many of whom were in military service before the season closed.

It was the concensus of the delegates that any player whose class graduates before Labor day will be eligible for the draft and to compete in 1944. Official action will be taken on this at the Philadelphia conference.

Boston Gets Last Choice.

Under the league's rules, Boston will select last, or 11th, in the draft, altho there is a possibility the club owners will make a concession to the new member. The Chicago Cardinals, who failed to win a single game, will pick first. Their choice likely will be Pat Harder of Wisconsin and the marines. Boston would like to put the finger on Angelo Bertelli, a Massachusetts boy, who would be a big drawing card. Bertelli also is in the marines.

A slight revision was made in the not-so-old rule which prevents a team trading its two top drafted players until they have been with that team one year. It was changed to read that the players must participate with the team selecting them for one season. Thus football draftees who will not play until the wars' end must return to the club which drafted them and play one season.

SAN FRANCISCO GOLF TOURNEY OPENS TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 13 (AP).—After two masterful sub-par practice rounds, Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., is the favorite in the 72-hole, four-day $10,000 San Francisco Victory Open golf tournament starting tomorrow. The medal play event will end Monday.

Nelson's role as favorite placed him only a shade, however, ahead of his partner on a recent exhibition match tour to stimulate the sale of war bonds, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Philadelphia. McSpaden won the 72-hole Los Angeles open last Monday with a 278, ten under par.

Other contenders will be Jimmy Hines of New York, Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, and Sam Byrd, the former New York Yankees baseball player.

WHEATON DEALS CONCORDIA FIVE 54 TO 41 DEFEAT

The Wheaton college basketball team defeated Concordia of River Forest, 54 to 41, last night in Wheaton. Dave Paynter, center of the winning team, dominated the scoring activities with 12 baskets and five free throws for a total of 29 points. Nineteen of these were made in the second half after Wheaton had enjoyed a 31 to 23 advantage at the intermission.

Wheaton's next engagement will be against Herzl Junior college tomorrow night at Wheaton.

SHEBOYGAN LOSES, 51-36.

Sheboygan, Wis., Jan. 13 [Special].—The Fort Wayne [Ind.] Zollners defeated the Sheboygan Redskins for the fourth straight time this season by a 51 to 36 score.

Hoppe Yields Billiard Lead to Cochran

was assembling one cluster after another, the champion was finding few, if any, negoitable leaves. Willie went thru one almost unbelievable span of 26 innings, in which he scored a paltry two billiards.

Gets Extra Points.

Cochran's cue was functioning so smoothly by contrast that in the 35th and 42d innings, he commanded 26 point advantages. Welker finally concluded the block proper in the 43d frame with a 50 to 21 victory, the most decisive triumph of the entire match to date, surpassing the 50 to 23 trouncing Hoppe had handed him in one of the Kansas City blocks.

Then began the task of attempting to make up those extra 25 points by which he lagged at the outset of the evening. Hoppe also went to work on the assignment of making 50 before Welker could hit the 75 mark. But the former Iowa Irishman who learned his billiards in our town, kept control of the balls and finally reached the 75 with a finish of 3-1 in 72 innings.

Umpire Sears Recovers; Will Return to Game

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 13 (AP).—Umpire John [Ziggy] Sears of the National league has recovered from the serious illness which forced him out of baseball last August and kept him out of the world series. Now 30 pounds heavier than when he came home for treatment, Sears says he will be able to resume umpiring when the baseball season opens. He officiated in a basketball game this week.

337 Will Seek Golden Gloves in Cleveland

before the last preliminary physical examination which will be held in the C. Y. O. gymnasium Jan. 27. Exceptions to this rule will be made for soldiers and sailors.

Service men will be permitted to report either at the south side tournament Jan. 31 or at the north side tournament Feb. 2. They will be permitted to take their examinations at that time and begin competion.

Fight in Both Classes.

Other entries will be accepted for approximately the next 10 days. Both experienced and novice boxers will compete in the Chicago sectionals in St. Sabina gymnasium, 78th street and Racine avenue, and in the Loyola university gymnasium, Loyola avenue and Sheridan road. Sixteen sectional champions—eight novices and eight experienced boxers—will be crowned at these centers.

Chicago city titles will be decided in the finals in the Marigold Gardens on Feb. 14 and the eight Open division champions will represent Chicago in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium Feb. 28, 29, and March 1.

NORGE SKI CLUB STILL HOPES TO HOLD TOURNEY

Hope that the Norge Ski club will be able to conduct its tournament in Wrigley field on Jan. 23 and 30 as originally planned was expressed last night by Karl Nilsen, president of the organization, who announced new plans for constructing the controversial slide.

According to Nilsen, who denied the club ever had considered moving its Cary hill slide to Wrigley field, equipment has been rented, pending WPB approval, from a concern within two miles of the park which will make unnecessary the use of any new materials.

The club officials have been in almost constant session in their La Salle hotel headquarters and are to meet with WPB officials at 8:30 this morning when it is hoped approval for the slide will be forthcoming.

LANE TECH WINS OVERTIME GAME FROM LAKE VIEW

Lane Tech's seniors defeated Lake View, 37 to 32, in an overtime game in the north section yesterday on the Lane court. It was the first victory in two starts for Tech.

The score was tied, 6 to 6, in the first quarter, but Lake View led 11 to 10 at the half and 21 to 19 at the end of the third period. In the overtime Chuck Huebner put Lane out in front with a field goal and the score was tied by Forward Joe Parker of Lake View at 32 to 32. Then Bato Govedarica made two baskets and Huebner a free throw to assure Lane of victory. In the junior contest Lane beat the visitors, 28 to 27.

Schurz toppled Roosevelt, 30 to 28, in the junior division in an overtime. Pewee Shaps tied the score for the losers with seconds left to play on a field goal. Skip Stubenbach tossed in the winning basket in the extra period. Lineups:

BOWLARIUMS TIE MARIOS FOR 1ST IN PIN TOURNEY

The Bowlariums moved into a first place tie with Mario's Restaurants in the team division of the 27th annual Chicago Women's Bowling association tournament last night with a 2,858 series. The Marios took the lead Wednesday night and almost lost it as the Bowlariums staged a spectacular rally in their second and third games.

Other changes among the leaders found Charlotte O'Berle taking first in the singles with 639. In the team division Chicago Heights Recreation climbed into third place with 2,846, Park Manor fourth with 2,845, and Matt Igler's Casino dropped to fifth with 2,828. There were no changes in the doubles.

N. U., MICHIGAN SWIM TEAMS TO CLASH TONIGHT

Northwestern's swimming team will open its Big Ten conference season against Michigan in Patten gymnasium in Evanston tonight. The Wildcats lost two practice meets to Great Lakes, their only other appearances of the season. Tonight's meet is the first of a home and home series between the two schools.

Rabbit Season Doesn't End Today; It Closes Jan. 31

The Illinois rabbit hunting season will not close tomorrow as it did in January, 1943. Under the revised game code which was effective during the 1943-44 hunting season shooters may hunt cottontails thru Jan. 31, the final day of the season. The bag limit is ten and the possession limit 20.

Five States on Silver Skates Entry Roster

The concerted attack by out-of-town skating associations on the 27th Silver Skates Derbies tomorrow and Sunday will include representatives from Ohio, Missouri, and Wisconsin, and a team of five soldiers from Camp Hale, Colo. Because of the star-studded field it is likely that the men's senior Silver Skates championship will be won by a contestant from outside Chicago.

The Camp Hale team is composed of the following soldiers: Alex Goguen, John Simmons, Clarence Goguen, Art Ballentine, and Eugene Labelle.

Al Hamilton, representative of the Ohio Skating association, will bring 15 skaters to Chicago for the Derbies. The team is entered in all age classes except the boys' midget derby. Bob Syvertsen, on furlough from the marine corps, will skate for the association in the men's senior derby.

Bernice Melewski of the West Allis, Wis., Skating club is one of the outstanding contestants in the girls' senior event. It was incorrectly reported earlier that she was ineligible because of a victory in this age class. Miss Melewski won the girls' intermediate derby in 1942 and may skate, of course, as a senior.

OPA'S 3½ CENT ERROR DIVERTS BIG CORN STOCK

Many Monett Sales Termed Illegal.

Chicago grain brokers estimated yesterday that 5 to 10 million bushels of cash grain had been diverted to southwestern Missouri points in the last two weeks because the office of price administration had set an erroneously high ceiling of $1.19½ a bushel for grain delivered at Monett, Mo.

That normally quiet market has been flooded with grain that otherwise would have been shipped to Chicago or Peoria, where the OPA ceiling is only $1.16.

While Monett became the temporary corn capital of the country, Chicago brokers who could not obtain enough corn to supply their customers discovered thru close scrutiny of OPA regulations that Monett and nearby towns were given an advantage of as much as 5 cents a bushel over other markets.

Says Most Sales Are Illegal.

An OPA spokesman in Washington, D. C., said that apparently most of the corn sales at Monett were illegal under present ceiling regulations, because most of the grain was not delivered there, but merely routed thru the community so the seller could claim technical Monett delivery and take advantage of the high ceiling.

The agency emphasized it was not charging "bad faith" in the dealings, explaining that the situation apparently resulted from a misunderstanding of a verbal ruling given over the telephone.

Chicago grain men discovered that OPA rules permit the shipment of corn to many California points for as much as 4½ cents more per bushel than can be obtained for the grain elsewhere. The 5 to 10 million bushels which went to the Monett area in the last two weeks had been bought in Iowa and Nebraska for shipment thru the Kansas City gateway.

Price Amendments Drawn Up.

The federal price agency was reported to have drawn up amendments that will prevent further large scale purchases on the basis of the Monett and California ceiling prices, but when they will be put into effect was not disclosed.

Springfield, Mo., was in a similar situation under previous OPA regulations, but the subsequent amendments removing this market's advantage failed to change the status of Monett.

Liquidation developed in the grain markets yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat and rye declined about 2 cents a bushel from Wednesday's close before short covering and commission house buying brought about a rally. Wheat sold at a new low since Jan. 4 and closed 1 to 1¾ cents lower. Rye was 1⅜ to 1¾ cents lower. Oats lost ⅝ to ¾ cent and barley was ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower.

Less Support Is Apparent.

Reports that large amounts of cash wheat were being sold by farmers in the northwest and southwest and that one railroad was sending 825 empty freight cars into northwestern Iowa, southeastern South Dakota, and southern Minnesota to load grain had wide influence on sentiment. Support was much less in evidence than recently, altho the government was said to be in the market for more flour. At the low price May wheat was 2¾ cents below the ceiling on futures.

Talk of increased imports of rye from Canada at a time when there is little demand for the domestic grain now in storage resulted in selling of rye futures. Oats and barley weakened in sympathy with other grains.

Country elevator operators were estimated to have sold 200,000 bushels of cash corn for deferred shipment from the interior.

Report Grain Car Diversion Irks Farmers

Farmers thruout the northwest were reported by Chicago railroad officials yesterday as incensed over the daily diversion of 200 freight cars to Canada to move Canadian grain to the United States at a time when Americans can't get cars to move their own grain. Operations at nearly 500 grain elevators in the northwest were reported at a standstill because they are filled and can neither ship grain nor receive more from the farmers.

One railroad executive said he received reports from the area that only about 25 per cent of the spring wheat harvested last year had been moved. Spring wheat is harvested in the late summer and early fall.

Tells Farmer Position.

"Altho there is no real emergency," the executive said, "the situation is not good because the farmers don't like to see their own grain blocked while American cars are used to haul Canadian grain."

Railroad men reported a shortage in grain carrying box cars. Ordinary box cars, in which miscellaneous merchandise is carried, cannot be used for grain. Grain cars must have interiors tight enough to prevent leakage and which can be cleaned properly.

Normal Handling Curbed.

Ordinarily, it was said, spring grain was moved as soon as possible after harvesting, but the shortage of suitable equipment had delayed the normal movement.

Sen. Reed [R., Kas.] has criticized the diversion of the 200 cars to Canada and has announced an investigation is under way by a senate interstate commerce subcommittee.

URGE RETAILER UNIT TO SELL U. S. SURPLUSES

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Proposing that retailers organize a separate corporation to dispose of government surplus merchandise, Lew Hahn, general manager of the National Retail Drygoods association, said today that if any of this merchandise can be released now it can be sold as a hedge against inflation.

Hahn told the 33d annual convention of his organization that government surplus merchandise has been estimated at as high as 75 billion dollars.

He proposed that this surplus be divided into four parts: The first to be retained for future military use; the second given to the Red Cross for use in future disasters; the third distributed to the destitute peoples of the world, and the fourth distributed thru established retail trade channels to American consumers.

GENERAL ELECTRIC'S ORDER CANCELLATION TOTAL IS 450 MILLION

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP).—General Electric company reported today that more than 450 million dollars of its orders had been canceled during 1943 and that orders received during the last three months were 76 per cent under those of the corresponding quarter of 1942. The reductions in new orders, however, left the company with a large backlog.

"The amount of unfilled orders on hand and assured business pending at the close of the year 1943 was equivalent to approximately a year's output at current production rates and prices," said Gerard Swope, president.

Illustrating the cutbacks in the armament program, General Electric's statement showed that for all of last year orders received amounted to $1,360,643,000, or 32 per cent less than the volume received in 1942. For the first three months of 1943 orders received were up 41 per cent from 1942; in the second quarter orders were 8 per cent under a year earlier; for the third quarter, 45 per cent down, and for the fourth, 76 per cent off.

DU PONT ANNOUNCES NEW PLASTIC, USABLE IN TOOTHPASTE TUBES

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 13 (AP).—A new plastic—polythene—adaptable to the manufacture of collapsible toothpaste tubes, adhesives, piping, and a variety of other products, was announced today by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc.

Developed in five years of experimentation on a process which came originally from Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., the plastic is being manufactured in commercial quantities but is available only by specific allocation for war purposes, du Pont said.

"Supplies of polythene heretofore available have gone into production of items urgently needed by the armed services, where this new plastic has adequately demonstrated its advantages as a covering for electric wiring and cable," the company said.

Hog Arrivals Dip, but Many Are Held Over

Hog receipts at the Chicago stock yards decreased yesterday and the congestion was eased, altho 12,000 head, mostly "government weights," were unsold at the close of trading. A brisk demand for stock below 200 pounds sent those weights 15 to 25 cents higher. Steady prices were paid for all other classes.

Prices averaged 5 cents above the lowest level since March, 1942, at $13.20, and compared with $14.60 a year ago.

Cattle prices were generally weaker with steers, yearlings, and heifers steady to 25 cents lower. Steady prices were paid for beef cows, canners, cutters, and calves. Bulls were weaker.

Lambs again were in good demand and were strong to 10 cents higher. Packers' costs were the highest since last June.

COMPLAIN OF PRICES

Complaints that office of price administration live hog price differentials give the direct buyers an advantage over those who buy in open markets were made yesterday at a meeting of OPA officials and 100 hog producers, dealers, and packers in the Morrison hotel.

Charles M. Elkinton, price executive, food price division, OPA, who called the meeting, replied to the complaints that the regulations are flexible and subject to change if sufficient need is shown.

Elkinton explained he had called the meeting to iron out the "bugs" in MPR 469, the live hog price regulation. He had issued a general invitation to producers, dealers, and packers to come in and give their suggestions in order that hogs would flow to the markets in normal volume.

CIO STEEL UNION OUSTS OFFICERS AFTER WALKOUT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 13 (AP).—In one of the few actions of the kind, the international office of the CIO United Steel Workers of America today suspended seven officers of local 1163 in connection with a "wildcat" walkout last week involving 2,400 employes of the Robertshaw Thermostat company.

William Hart, district director, said the action came after a hearing by the union into details of the walkout at the nearby Scottdale and Youngwood plants of the company over demands that a supervisor be dismissed.

Liquid Carbonic Reports an Increase in Business

Liquid Carbonic corporation's first quarter business is running ahead of last year's and its consumer goods operations and war orders for gases are "holding up well," W. K. McIntosh, chairman, told stockholders at the annual meeting in Chicago yesterday.

Stocks Mostly Lower; Some Favorites Gain

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Scattered strength among rails and specialties appeared in today's stock market altho the leaders in general continued to give ground moderately.

Individual situations brought bids for favorites toward the last. Reluctance in most departments was attributed to the desire of customers to keep slates fairly clean pending action of congress on taxes, the approaching war loan drive and clarification of the domestic political situation. Much attention was given the President's budget message but it failed to spur speculative or investment operations noticeably.

The Associated Press 60 stock average declined 0.2 of a point at 50.3. Blocks of 10,000 to 15,000 shares of United Gas Improvement, off ⅛ at 2⅝, helped put volume at 677,989 shares, compared with 705,021 yesterday.

RAIL BONDS ACTIVE.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—The bond market leaned heavily on a small group of railroad issues to keep it balanced today as a high degree of selectivity continued to govern the buying and selling operations of traders.

The Missouri Pacific and its affiliates and subsidiaries received much more attention from buyers than did such recent leaders on the upside as loans of the Rock Island and North Western. The obligations of the parent company were traded heavily and ended with gains of ⅛ to 1¾ points. Those of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico moved up ¼ to 5 and those of the International Great Northern added ⅛ to 2.

Seaboard All-Florida 6s wilted 8½ points on sale of 50 bonds but other obligations of the road were steady.

Trading again was active with sales at $16,029,900 against $17,403,400 yesterday.

CHICAGO LEADERS STEADY.

Prices declined fractionally in quiet trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, but the volume leaders were steady. Peabody Coal, with a turnover of 3,500 shares, led in activity, closing unchanged. New highs for a year or longer were recorded for Central and South West Utilities prior lien on a 4 point gain, and for Raytheon Manufacturing, which rose 1⅝.

CHICAGO CANDY MAKER WINS IN OPA PRICE SUIT

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 13 (AP).—A federal court jury today returned a verdict for Mars, Inc., Chicago candy manufacturer, in a $1,235,000 damage suit filed by the office of price administration. It was alleged the company had reduced the weight of its candy bars without reducing the price and thus had violated price ceilings.

Jerome Walsh, OPA attorney, told Judge John Caskie Collet the OPA would move to have the verdict set aside on the ground it was contrary to the only competent evidence in the case.

The OPA alleged Mars violated the price ceilings for five months during 1942.

BELL SAVINGS' ASSETS HIGHER; LOAN TOTAL UP

Assets of the Bell Savings and Loan association increased $5,574,837 during 1943 to $30,370,665 as of Dec. 31, the annual report disclosed yesterday. Outstanding shares increased more than 5 million dollars to $25,593,704.

Real estate loans made during the year were second highest in the association's history at $7,919,648. The funds were advanced mainly for the purchase of homes, but the association also financed construction of 220 houses.

The year's net income was $856,845, against $824,519 during 1942.

People and Events

Harold D. Smith, director of the United States bureau of the budget and coördinator of federal post-war planning activities, will head a list of prominent speakers at the Chicago conference of the American Road Builders' association which opens Feb. 1 in the Palmer House, Charles M. Upham, director, announced yesterday.

H. C. Timberlake, statistician of the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis, has been appointed to the newly created post of economist for Northwest Airlines.

Robert T. Colwell, Daniel Danker Jr., O'Neill Ryan Jr., and Morton V. Wieland have been added to the board of directors of the J. Walter Thompson company.

CITY'S HOTELS CROWDED; SEEK OUTSIDE SPACE

2 Big Conventions Bring New Jam.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago hotels will be so crowded with guests next week that Gary and Aurora are being called on to care for the overflow, Lewis B. Ermeling, secretary-treasurer of the Greater Chicago Hotel association, said yesterday. Furniture dealers already are beginning to arrive from all parts of the country to attend the annual furniture market which opens next Monday for 10 days.

Another big convention, that of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association, is scheduled next week and 1,500 rooms have been reserved for it in the Stevens hotel.

Drake and Blackstone Filled.

Arnold S. Kirkeby, operator of the Drake and Blackstone hotels, said not a room is available at either and efforts to obtain space in other hotels have been unavailing.

Some other managers, however, pessimistically predicted 1944 will be a thin year when compared with the record breaking 1943 and said that the peak of hotel business has been passed.

Ernest Byfield, of the Hotel Sherman, said that increased wages will slice a chunk off 1944 net profits, food and liquor costs are soaring, and war time travel is reduced.

Cites Stevens' History.

"I expect net profits in 1944 may be half of 1943's, which were a record since the 1920's," he said. "They began to slip when the Stevens was opened in 1927 and 3,000 rooms put on the market. Now they'll begin to decrease again as the Stevens gets back on a 100 per cent basis. I think the peak in Chicago's big hotel business has been passed."

Kirkeby, on the other hand, was optimistic. He predicted a good business for 1944. Ermeling said the outlook was good for the next few months. Neither he nor Kirkeby believed Chicago had passed the peak in the hotel business.

WFA POSTPONES ENRICHMENT OF BAKERY GOODS

The war food administration announced yesterday that enrichment of bakery products other than white bread has been postponed from Jan. 16 to May 1 because of a shortage of niacin, a vitamin of the B-complex.

White bread has been enriched with vitamins and minerals for nearly two years and recently WFA ordered bakers to enrich yeast raised products and doughnuts.

Niacin, formerly nicotinic acid, is known as the pellagra preventing vitamin. It is found in liver, kidneys, wheat germ, and to a lesser degree in other foodstuffs. WFA said it believed enough of the vitamin would be available by May 1 to cover the needs of the baking industry.

24 HOUR DELAY IS MADE IN RAIL WAGE HEARINGS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—A hearing on the wage claims of 15 railroad nonoperating unions, scheduled before the third emergency board created since their dispute began more than a year ago, was postponed today for 24 hours at the request of the unions.

It was indefinite, however, whether the unions would make an unconditional presentation of their case, which would imply an agreement to abide by the board's recommendation. The unions have been unable to obtain an interpretation of the scope of the authority given to the third board.

Freight Flight to West Coast to Start Monday

The United Air Lines announced yesterday an additional freight schedule from Chicago to San Francisco will go into effect Monday. Planes will leave Chicago at 11:30 p. m., arriving in San Francisco at 12:43 p. m. the following day. Eastbound planes will leave San Francisco at 11:15 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 2:09 p. m.

NOTICE TO BONDHOLDERS AND DEBENTURE HOLDERS OF DETROIT & CANADA TUNNEL COMPANY

TO—All Holders of First Mortgage 6% Sinking Fund Bonds and Twenty (20) Year 6½% Convertible Sinking Fund Gold Debentures, both dated May 1, 1928, of Detroit & Canada Tunnel Company, including the Holders of any Certificates of Deposit of any Depositary for the above, who have not heretofore exchanged such old securities for new securities of Detroit & Canada Tunnel Corporation.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the final decree entered in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, on February 6, 1939, in proceedings for reorganization of the above company, ordered that holders of old securities described above must surrender same to Union Guardian Trust Company of Detroit, Michigan, now Detroit Trust Company, as Agent, for exchange on or before the close of business February 7, 1944, in order to participate in the distribution of new securities of Detroit & Canada Tunnel Corporation issued under the plan of reorganization.

Said Final Decree further ordered said Union Guardian Trust Company, now Detroit Trust Company, Agent, at the close of business on February 7, 1944, to cancel and return to said Detroit & Canada Tunnel Corporation all of the new securities theretofore deposited with it for distribution which have not at said date been so distributed.

It is urged that any holders of the above old securities or Certificates of Deposit therefor forward them to the Detroit Trust Company, 201 West Fort Street, Detroit 31, Michigan, on or before the above date (February 7, 1944) in exchange for the new securities.

Newsprint Stockpile Scheme Stirs Widespread Opposition

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—The American Newspaper Publishers association today reported that opposition to the war production board's newsprint stockpile plan is "general and universal."

The statement was made as the newspaper industry advisory committee of the WPB prepared to meet in Washington tomorrow with stockpiling of paper as the chief topic for discussion.

The proposal to put newsprint in warehouses, instead of using it as it became available from Canada, followed an announcement that the dominion's paper prospects had improved above the 182,000 tons monthly on which the WPB had based present use restrictions.

Scheme Assailed as Unwise.

Four major regional publisher groups have branded the scheme impractical and unwise. Urging its abandonment, they have proposed that the 200,000 tons monthly which Canada has allocated newspapers in the United States be used currently.

In addition to receiving formal protests from associations in New York, Chicago, San Francisco-Oakland, and the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association, the ANPA said publishers in Baltimore, Detroit, St. Louis, and other cities had objected.

Harold Boeschenstein, WPB's forest products bureau director, said last week that present curtailment orders affecting the first three months of 1944 could not be relaxed.

That leaves American newspapers operating with an average of 76 per cent of the paper they required to supply readers in 1941.

Predict Shortage

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—A deficiency of more than 800,000 cords of pulpwood for making paper and paperboard in the first three months this year was forecast today by the war production board. At the same time WPB announced that 1944 pulpwood output would have to exceed 1943 production by at least 1 million cords to provide for waterproof paper, kraft board, and other packaging materials needed to ship munitions, food, and medical supplies overseas.

La Salle Bank Profits Rise to $12.33 a Share

Laurance Armour, chairman of the La Salle National bank, reported yesterday that the bank's 1943 net earnings were $148,500, equal to $12.33 a share, against $87,800 and $7.25 a share in 1942. Surplus of the bank was increased to $400,000, from $140,000 at the end of 1942, giving the bank combined capital and surplus of $1,000,000. All retiring directors were reëlected.

Two promotions in personnel were announced at the annual meeting of Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank directors. Duane Swift, cashier since 1934, was named vice president, and L. K. Schlipper, heretofore assistant vice president, was appointed cashier.

Bank's Deposits Increase.

M. B. Karman, Amalgamated's president, reported a growth in deposits during 1943 from $13,935,446 to $17,851,746. The board approved the transfer of $200,000 from undivided profits to surplus, giving the bank a capital structure of $1,000,000—$400,000 in capital and $600,000 surplus.

The Pullman Trust and Savings bank promoted Albert E. Price from cashier to second vice president and named Leslie E. Roberts cashier. Arthur W. Hauser and Edwin C. Spanier were appointed assistant cashiers, and Joseph M. Long, assistant secretary.

Eckhart Is Director.

Percy D. Eckhart was selected to replace the late Col. William Nelson Pelouze as a director of the Harris Safe Deposit company.

Lyman M. Drake Jr. was elected director of the Wilmette State bank at the annual stockholders' meeting. He fills the vacancy caused by the death of his father.

Buyers of Stevens Hotel Get $3,150,000 Mortgage

County records yesterday disclosed that $3,150,000 of the $5,251,000 paid the army for the Stevens hotel, was obtained thru a mortgage for $3,150,000, 10 years, at 4 per cent, negotiated thru the First National Bank of Chicago, trustee, by the Avenue Hotel corporation.

MERGERS TO AVOID TAX BELIEVED LIKELY TO FAIL COURT TEST

Mergers undertaken by prosperous companies with inactive or virtually defunct businesses for the purpose of federal tax avoidance and having no other substantial business advantage are likely to fail in the courts as a tax saving device, Maurice Austin of New York warned in an address last night before the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants in the La Salle hotel. Austin is professor of law in the Brooklyn law school, St. Lawrence university.

"One of the outstanding current phenomena is the fact that high excess profits tax rates have created a market for defunct and inactive corporations of little asset value but which have high invested capital or base period earnings experience," he said. "Virtually worthless corporations with prior year losses and unused excess profits credits or substantial current losses have also acquired a market value."

KEEP BASIC PLAN IN MAN POWER, M'NUTT ADVISES

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 13 (AP).—No national service law "would be sensible" if it changed the basic man power program now in effect, Paul V. McNutt, man power chairman, said tonight.

In a speech before the Louisville management-labor committee of the war man power commission, McNutt said he could not give detailed provisions of national service legislation, requested by President Roosevelt Monday, because "congress will have to give the final answer."

But he named principles which he said should underlie any bill. They were: Man power is a problem of community organization; management and labor should coöperate to aid administration of any man power law; the main problem is to administer the power wisely; the law should be democratically administered; it should recognize obligation toward the persons and their families involved; a law should not be used to cloak inequity, injustice, or incompetence.

WPB BANS ANY WIDE CIVILIAN GOODS OUTPUT

Reaffirms Stringent Steel Conservation.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The war production board tonight issued a policy statement preventing any large scale early resumption of civilian goods production. The statement accompanied an unexpected WPB decision to stand pat on its drastic steel conservation order which forbids the use of iron and steel in 646 common civilian goods items.

J. A. Krug.

The WPB steel division had recommended outright revocation of the order. The board's decision, which rejected even a compromise solution, was reached after an allday meeting of WPB's committee on clearance of orders, and was issued by J. A. Krug, vice chairman for operations.

Military Officials Oppose.

Army and navy officials are known to have opposed revocation, holding that the bars on civilian production should not be lowered until the military situation clarifies. Many WPB officials also are understood to share this opinion.

Altho the use of steel in nonessential items will continue under ban, the committee said that steel would soon be released to improve the quality of essential civilian goods being made from substitute materials.

No Shortage of Steel.

The policy statement explained that there is no steel shortage. Recently the steel industry has curtailed operations for lack of orders.

However, it was explained that relaxation of the order restricting steel uses in banned civilian goods would contribute indirectly to shortages of other war materials. Coal, petroleum, lumber for crating, packaging paper, and transportation are all short of war requirements, the committee said, and expanded production of steel civilian goods would absorb additional quantities of these scarce commodities.

Carnegie-Illinois Sets Output Record in 1943

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation made a new production record in 1943 with an output of 22,743,000 tons of steel ingots—about 25 per cent of the national production—the company disclosed yesterday. Plants in the Chicago district, including Gary and South works, contributed substantially to the record, it was said.

NAVY OFFICER'S TAX.

A navy officer who owed $200 for 1942 income tax paid $50 of the amount on March 15, 1943. Because of the extra $1,500 exemption his 1943 tax is zero. Must he pay the remaining 75 per cent of the 1942 tax? R. B.

Answer: It depends on the size and nature of the officer's 1942 income. If his income was $3,000 or less, or if it was all "earned" income and did not exceed $14,000, he owes no more on the 1942 tax and is entitled to a refund of the $50 already paid.

Taxpayers generally must add to their 1943 tax any amount by which it is exceeded by the 1942 tax. In effect, the larger 1942 tax is substituted for the 1943 tax, including victory tax.

An exception is made for persons in active military or naval service at any time during 1942 or 1943. Such persons, if their 1942 tax is larger than that for 1943, are privileged to recompute the 1942 tax, eliminating earned net income.

Earned income consists of wages, salary, or other compensation for personal service, including military or naval pay, and it is earned "net" income after deducting allowable expenses such as union dues or the cost of memberships in professional societies.

The maximum amount recognized as earned net income is $14,000, but all income up to $3,000, regardless of source, is considered earned.

If, after eliminating earned net income, the 1942 tax still is larger than that for 1943, the excess must be added to the 1943 tax.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 [AP].—Today's sales of cotton textiles consisted of small fill-in purchases of medical gauze and dribbling amounts of print cloths and sheetings with high priority ratings. Mill offerings continued restricted because of hopes for an upward readjustment in price ceilings. New business in woolens was held to minor quantities caused by a seasonal slackening in retail business.

Rayon mills were occupied with the WPB order establishing an export quota on goods. The order requires that each producer manufacturing more than 25,000 yards per week must accept and fill exports orders aggregating 4 per cent of the total yardage produced, less military business in each calendar quarter.

OFFER DRAWINGS OF CARTOONISTS TO BOND BUYERS

Work of 3 Tribune Men Prizes.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

It's Chicago Tribune day at Treasury center, 72 West Adams street, today. Three Tribune cartoonists—Carl Ed, Chester Gould, and Stanley Link—will be on hand as guests on W-G-N's Bondwagon program at 1:15 p. m. Original cartoons will go to bond purchasers. Songstress Mary Jane Dodd and Del Courtney's orchestra, heard nightly on W-G-N from the Blackhawk, will be on this special show.

Joe Kelly, who broadcasts over W-G-N at 7:30 a. m. weekdays and emcees the Quiz Kids' show and National Barn Dance, is full of Hollywood stories these days. He recently returned from the coast where he and his hayloft associates made a picture titled the National Barn Dance. Joe was just a little surprised that real cows, horses, harness, buggies, and wagons were used on the set. That's further than Walter Wade, impresario of the barn dance, goes when he puts the bath night broadcast on at the 8th Street theater here. Robert Benchley plays the role of Wade in the movie version.

Altho only 67 of the 150 youngsters who have appeared on the Quiz Kids' show have been girls, the distaff side will prevail for the first time Sunday. Actress Joan Shephard, 11, of "Tomorrow the World," will appear along with Marian Brown, 11, and Cora Patterson, 14. The boys: Harve Fischman and Richard Williams, regulars.

Studio notes: Quentin Reynolds becomes M. C. of Victory Is Your Business at 12:30 p. m. Sunday, effective Jan. 16, on W-G-N, replacing Lowell Thomas. Mrs. Viola Heilig, organizer of the American Bataan Clan of Maywood will be interviewed. . . . John D. M. Hamilton, formerly chairman of the Republican national committee, will speak over WBBM-CBS at 10:45 p. m. tomorrow in reply to the remarks of Gov. William Wills of Vermont last week. . . . Maybelle Prindaville, actress of Author's Playhouse, is the femcee at the College Inn Canteen. . . . Joan Benny, daughter of the Jack Bennys, is just out of the Cedars of Lebanon hospital in Los Angeles. Tonsils.

Lauritz Melchior will left his Wagnerian voice in Sinatra swoon-croon fashion at Duffy's bistro next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. His selection: "Leave Us Face It—We're in Love." . . . Ann Thomas, who plays "Casey" in "Abie's Irish Rose," is wearing a diamond on the third finger, left hand, placed there by Lt. Robert Hutchings, U. S. navy. . . . Claudia Morgan of "We Love and Learn," who was seriously ill, is recovering, thanks to penicillin. Helen Claire is substituting. . . . Raymond Clapper is somewhere in the South Pacific. Henry Gladstone has taken over his W-G-N-Mutual news periods.

Chicagoland in color—farms and fields and fences in their glowing spring and autumnal colors—now highlights THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S photographic exhibit in the Public Service office in Tribune Tower. Ten pastoral studies taken by THE TRIBUNE color studio were hung yesterday among the 233 news and feature pictures taken in 1943.

The color photographs show country lanes and skies, tulip beds and wild flower nooks, blossoming fruit trees and rustic fences. With accurate artistry, the camera has captured the delicate pinks and reds, violets and yellows, greens and browns of the Chicagoland countryside.

The exhibit, which opened on New Year's day, will continue thru Sunday.

SCHEME TO PACK FCC IN VIOLATION OF LAW CHARGED

Senate Probe of F. D. R. Maneuver Demanded.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—An inquiry was demanded today by Sen. Moore [R., Okla.] into an apparent scheme to pack the federal communications commission with New Deal partisans in violation of the law forbidding the appointment of more than four members of one political party to the seven man commission.

Election year control of the radio waves was believed to be involved with White House plans directed at placing Chairman James L. Fly in unquestioned control of the body which, according to evidence before the house committee investigating the FCC, has terrorized the radio industry.

President Roosevelt yesterday sent up the nomination of Ewell K. Jett, chief engineer of the FCC and a protege of Chairman Fly, to fill the vacancy left last July 1 when the term of George Henry Payne, a Republican, expired.

Republican's Name Withdrawn.

With four Democrats serving on the commission, the appointment customarily would go to a Republican. Mr. Roosevelt, in fact, sent up Payne's name last July for reappointment but withdrew it two days later after a hurried visit to the White House by Chairman Fly.

Fly was said to have told the President Payne had furnished information to the FCC investigation committee and Roosevelt is credited with the remark that "the only to do with a leaking pipe is to rip it out and get a new one." He left the place vacant, however, for more than six months before submitting Jett's name yesterday to the senate for confirmation.

Sen. Moore said he was informed that Jett would not claim he was a Republican. The nominee for the seven year term is a native of Maryland, a retired navy officer, who is now serving as chairman of the interdepartmental radio advisory committee and also chairman of the coördinating committee of the board of war communications.

Loyal to Fly.

While some mystery existed as to Jett's exact political status, there was none concerning his subservience to Chairman Fly. Testimony before the FCC investigating committee revealed him as unswerving in his obedience to the chairman's commands.

"Jett's nomination would appear to be in direct violation of the FCC act which specifies that not more than four members of a political party shall be appointed to the commission," said Moore, a member of the interstate commerce committee to which the Jett nomination was referred. "I am informed of a movement to push this nomination thru without hearings and I shall certainly demand open hearings into Jett's eligibility for the post.

"It would be extremely dangerous to permit one man as chairman to dominate such a vital agency with an overwhelming majority of rubber stamps."

Two Republicans Back Fly.

There are now two nominal Republicans on the commission, Norman S. Case and Ray C. Wakefield, but they have followed Chairman Fly's lead in recent years. The only dissenting voice raised against the FCC's methods has been that of T. A. M. Craven, a Democrat, whose term expires June 30, and who has said he would not accept reappointment in the unlikely event that President Roosevelt offered it to him.

Jett's confirmation and appointment of another Fly selection to fill Craven's post would also, it was noted, present difficulties in 1943 to an incoming Republican President in the selection of a chairman who must be picked from the commission's membership under the law. He would have seven Fly-dominated members from whom to choose.

FCC NOT TO BAR NEWSPAPERS AS RADIO OWNERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The federal communications commission voted unanimously tonight against any general rule discriminating against newspapers in acquiring radio stations, but said it would "not permit concentration of control in the hands of the few to the exclusion of the many who may be equally well qualified."

The decision was generally interpreted as meaning that while newspaper ownership is no bar, this factor would be given consideration in the event the commission found two applicants for a station to be equally well qualified.

Ending a long deadlock within the commission over its report, the commission decided "in the light of the record and of the grave legal and policy questions involved" not to adopt any general stand on the matter.

GRAND DUCHESS SENDS CHARITY PARTY REGRETS

The Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg, in a message received here yesterday, expressed regret that she will be unable to attend the 33d Division War Veterans association Luxembourg relief party Jan. 29 in the Morrison hotel. Leon Schaus, secretary-general of the Luxembourg government, in a letter to Fred A. Gilson, chancellor of the Luxembourg consulate in Chicago and co-chairman for the charity affair, advised from Montreal that he will attend. Harold G. Springston, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, said advance indications are that the party will attract an attendance of 1,500.

Ohio Naval Trainee Wins Scholarship at U. of C.

A one year scholarship to the University of Chicago, for use after the war, was awarded last night to Ralph Mathias Wagner of Holgate, O., at graduation exercises for radio men who completed a 19 week course in the naval training school at the university. The scholarship, valued at $300, is the 15th such award granted by the university to high ranking seamen.

OUR FUTURE CAN BE YOUR FUTURE!
ZENITH RADIO OFFERS YOU AN OPPORTUNITY TO BUILD A SECURE PEACE-TIME FUTURE!
Radionics is an industry with unlimited possibilities! You'll have an opportunity to train in vital war production and build for a secure peace-time future. We need men who are capable of becoming radio technicians. The Radionics Industry will need more trained men for broadly expanded peace-time production. GET YOUR TRAINING NOW—PREPARE YOURSELF FOR AN IMPORTANT POST-WAR POSITION.
EXPERIENCE
IS NOT ESSENTIAL!
We are interested in men who have foresight and initiative . . . men who will be potential leaders in the Radionics Industry. We can offer you immediate employment in assembly work, mechanical operations, stock, or packing. Job training for these occupations will be at a minimum—while you are working and producing, you will be eligible to enroll in Zenith's own Radio Theory Course and be trained in the technical phase of our business. Time is an important factor . . . don't delay—JOIN US TODAY.
